Dominican To Go Co-Ed

By MARY LEYDECKER

Faced with modern day pressures, Dominican College of San Rafael, which has provided a liberal arts education to women for 80 years, is going co-ed.

Sister Samuel Conlan, president of the small college which sits on 100 idyllic acres in the heart of San Rafael, made the announcement today at a gathering of faculty and students.

The board of trustees had approved the change at a meeting last week.

The announcement was not a surprise to most of her listeners, since the question of whether young men would be admitted as undergraduates has been "topic A" on the peaceful campus for months.

The decision to take a new direction at Dominican — which will bring male undergraduates to the school in the fall — was taken only after "a great deal of discussion and thought" and was made for several reasons, according to Sister Samuel.

First, frankly, was financial.

Because of rising costs, it is not economical to continue running the college for the number of students now there, 717, of which 392 are undergraduates, sister Samuel said.

"I view 1,200 as the optimum number of students for the campus," Sister Samuel said. She feels such an enrollment can be accommodated without causing any crowding and with few additions to present facilities.

Small classes, a hallmark of Dominican, will still be possible, and Sister Samuel feels that some of the classes even have been too small.

By opening the campus to young men, Sister Samuel and the other faculty at Dominican

Albrecht Wins Time For Probe

Marin supervisors today put off discussion of a recommendation that Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer for almost 17 years, be fired while she has a chance to investigate charges against two of her subordinates.

She indicated that she would have a report within two weeks and the supervisors decided to put the matter back on their agenda one week after the report is filed.

Most of the supervisors deplored the fact that County Administrator Alan Bruce had recommended publicly that Dr. Albrecht be fired for ineptness.

"I know I will be criticized for going about this publicly," Bruce said today, "but my only answer is that I felt it is a public matter."

Rookie Novato Officer Nails Attackers With His Shotgun

Pair Seen Beating Gas Station Man

By DAVID DIETZ

A rookie Novato policeman interrupted an apparent robbery attempt at an Ignacio service station early today, then halted the would-be bandits' getaway car with three well-placed shotgun blasts.

The suspects, two brothers from Oakland, fell from their bullet-riddled car after it followed a careening path from the Standard service station at 8510 Redwood Highway.

The shotgun blasts fired by 25-year-old Patrolman John L. Tyson, a policeman only a year, had smashed the passenger window of the compact and riddled the passenger door with 23 holes.

The attendant and the suspects were taken to Novato General Hospital.

Hospital attendants later reported that Stutfield was in good condition. Sam Earl Bouttie was treated for minor bruises and taken to Marin County Jail. Anthony Bouttie was transferred to Marin General Hospital for removal of a shotgun pellet above his right eye, and was to be taken to jail later today.

Both brothers were booked by sheriff's deputies on suspicion of armed robbery and assault

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Pro-SST Billing

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Nixon administration, claiming the Dick Cavett show helped defeat the supersonic transport bill in the House when SST opponents appeared as guests, asked for and received Monday night a chance to present its viewpoint.

A spokesman for the Cavett show said executive producor John Gilroy received a telephone call from an aide to White House communications director Herbert G. Klein Friday complaining about the guests and suggesting an administration spokesman appear on the show.

The call came the day after the House voted against further government funds for the SST. A crucial vote on the plane is expected in the Senate Wednesday.

"They suggested—and when the White House suggests it's more than just a suggestion—that we book (SST project manager William) Magruder on the show."

Dogged Defense

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson is the victim of politics and publicity and "is entitled to his life" because money is being made out of the Tate-LaBianca murder trial, his lawyer insisted Monday at the end of his final argument.

Irving Kanarek told the penalty phase jury that Manson was being made the scapegoat for murders in which he played no part, and he asked the panel to spare Manson from death because the truth might finally come out.

The burly defense attorney stuck doggedly to the insistence that Manson was innocent despite the fact the very same jury has found him guilty of seven first degree murders and a charge of conspiracy to murder.

Vienna Arms Talks

VIENNA (UPI)—The Vienna round of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) went into its second week today and officials said both sides were still "reviewing their positions."

The Soviet and American teams met for 85 minutes —55 in formal session and 30 in informal conversation —at the Soviet embassy and set their next session for Friday at the U.S. Embassy.

The officials said neither has laid any new proposals or ideas on the table in the three sessions since the Vienna round —the fourth so far --opened March 15.

Blacks-Nixon Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In a long-delayed meeting scheduled for Thursday at the White House, 12 black congressmen will bring the problems facing 25 million black Americans directly to President Nixon.

The date for the meeting between Nixon and the House Black Caucus —an informal organization of all 12 Black House Members —was announced Monday by White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler. The caucus had sought such a session with Nixon for nearly one year in an announced effort to make the administration more aware of black concerns.

New Premier

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Brian Faulkner, a moderate, defeated hardline William Craig today in a Unionist Party vote and became prime minister of Northern Ireland. He told newsmen his main aim would be to restore law and order in the province torn by extremist violence.

Faulkner, 50, succeeds James Chichester-Clark, who resigned Saturday under pressure by Protestant conservatives demanding a tougher policy against the province's Roman Catholic militants and the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA). He received his formal seal of office shortly after the election.

Suez Canal Quiet

By United Press International

Egyptian government sources said today military and political leaders were in the midst of conferences to prepare for possible resumption of hostilities with Israel. Military sources in Israel said the Egyptian meetings were part of Cairo's war of nerves.

"All is quiet along the (Suez) Canal itself," a military source in Tel Aviv said. "But the Egyptians are keeping up their war of nerves. These are obviously aimed at putting some muscle behind the pressure from the Soviet Union and the Egyptians to force an Israeli withdrawal."

Mars 'Life' Seen

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Organic compounds probably are being formed on the surface of Mars and there is a good chance a primitive form of life will be found on the planet, three scientists reported Monday.

"This is the most favorable indication for a possible Martian biological evolution that we have had in the last five years," said Dr. Norman H. Horowitz, biologist at the California Institute of Technology.

Horowitz and his collaborators, Drs. Jerry S. Hubbard and James P. Hardy, created the compounds in a laboratory under simulated Martian conditions. The compounds, formaldehyde, acetaldehyde and glycolic, are similar to those from which life springs on earth.

Argentine Army Ousts President

BUENOS AIRES (UPI —The Argentine armed forces overthrew President Roberto M. Levingston in a bloodless coup and set up a three-man military junta today to rule until further notice.

A communique from army headquarters shortly after midnight said "the commanders-in-chief of the armed forces have decided to fire Gen. Levingston in his functions as president of the republic. We have decided to assume political power in the nation until we fulfill the process of the Argentine revolution."

Levingston, 51, quietly quit the presidential office into which he was projected nine months ago by the same three-man junta. He walked out of the frosted pink government house at 3:25 a.m. and shook hands with about a dozen reporters.

"Good luck," he said, then got into an automobile and drove to his official home three miles away. He has several days to pack up and move out.

Levingston's ouster came on a power play that failed.

On Monday he met with the junta that put him in power in June, 1970, after they overthrew President Juan Carlos Ongainia. Afterwards, he announced by a statement read over the radio that he had fired Lt. Gen. Alejandro Lanusse, the popular commander-in-chief of the army and chairman of the junta because he had failed to take necessary action against strikers that caused millions of dollars of damage in Cordoba during the past 10 days.

ROBERTO LEVINGSTON

But the other two members of the Junta, air force Gen. Carlos Alberto Rey and navy Adm. Pedro Gnavi, refused to back the move and the army also backed Lanusse.

The result was that instead of ousting Lanusse, Levingston turned out the loser.

Sir Hughe Follows His Celebrated Valet's Death

LONDON (UPI) —Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, the British diplomat whose trust in his valet made "Cicero" one of Nazi Germany's most prolific spies, is dead.

Sir Hughe died Sunday at his home in Barham, near Canterbury, five days short of his 85th birthday and five months after the death of Cicero.

In a distinguished, 39-year diplomatic career, he probably will be remembered chiefly for seven months of the five years he served as Britain's ambassador to Turkey. From October, 1943, until April, 1944, Sir Hughe's valet, Albanian Namwas Elyasa Bazna, regularly microfilmed top secret documents from the British embassy safe and sold them to the German embassy.

Bazna's boss, German Ambassador Franz von Papen, code-named the spy Cicero, after the celebrated Roman orator, for the "eloquence" of the documents Bazna produced.

According to the book "Operation Cicero," by an attache that had served under Von Papen, the documents included secret decisions of the Allied summit conferences in Casablanca, Moscow, Cairo and Tehran, and perhaps even for the Normandy invasion.

Actually, the Third Reich probably benefitted very little from Cicero's masterly work, partly because Cicero seemed too good to be true, partly because of a feud between its foreign ministers Joachim von Ribbentrop and Gestapo chief Ernst Kaltenbrunner.

According to the book, Cicero lost out, as well: all but $48,000 of the $720,000 the Nazis paid Bazna was counterfeit.

Bazna, who had taken refuge in South America after the war, turned up in West Germany a few years ago. He said he was penniless and demanded Bonn make good for the phoney money, but the Germans turned a deaf ear.

Dismissal Pending

Supt. Anthony G. Bacich of the Kentfield School District said yesterday his report March 9 that a teacher had been dismissed by the district board was in error. He said dismissal action is still pending a board decision and that the closed session March 8 was merely to hear a report that he would recommend the firing.

Southern Span Bill To Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill to require legislative permission to build the southern crossing bridge over San Francisco Bay was laid on the desk of Gov. Ronald Reagan today.

The Assembly Monday gave final legislative approval to the measure by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, when it concurred 57-2 to a minor Senate amendment and sent the bill to the governor.

Last week the governor said he has "an open mind" on the issue, although spokesmen for the administration opposed the measure during its legislative hearings.

The state Toll Bridge Authority, whose members are appointed by the governor, last month cleared the last administrative obstacle preventing construction of the controversial $300 million span.

Conservationists oppose the bridge on grounds it will encourage continued reliance on the automobile for transportation at the expense of the nearly completed Bay Area Rapid Transit System. They also fear for the bay's ecology when another bridge is built.

Avalanche Cuts Off Alpine Town

Snowplows had just cleared the road to the ski resort of Foppolo, 4,921 feet in the Alps, when a new avalanche thundered down Monday, sealing it off again. It had been isolated by previous snowslides since Friday.

The new avalanche barely missed the last of a score of cars which left Foppolo Monday.

Nixon Is Guardedly Optimistic On Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, declaring that the full importance of the Laos invasion will not be known for some time, said the campaign shows the South Vietnamese can fight very well and have "passed a milestone" in the capability to take over the fighting.

Nixon, in an easy, relaxed hour-long interview with ABC-TV commentator Howard K. Smith, predicted the Laos operation would enable him to continue withdrawing U.S. forces at the current rate of 12,500 a month.

The Laos operation, Nixon said, "cannot be judged a great success" but it "cannot be judged a failure." He said the campaign could be assessed only on a long range basis, and that would not be known for some time.

He said it now may be possible for him to announce accelerated withdrawals and his next announcement may display "the end of the tunnel," a phrase often used during the Johnson administration.

"For six weeks the South Vietnamese have disrupted the enemy supply lines," he said. "For six weeks they've tied down some of the enemy's best divisions, and for six weeks, we have seen, too, that the South Vietnamese have been able to handle themselves quite well under very, very difficult circumstances."

Smith asked Nixon if the Communists will be able to repair their trials and pipelines before the rainy season begins in about a month.

"They can never gain back the time," Nixon said.

The interview in the White House library was devoted mainly to Nixon's guardedly optimistic assessment of the Laos operation. But the President did speak about 1972.

Nixon, who was widely written off after his 1962 defeat for the California governorship and his lost bid for the presidency two years earlier, said he made no decisions about 1972.

And he volunteered —without prompting by Smith —that he had not decided who "may be the man who runs for vice president." Some liberal Republicans are demanding that Nixon dump Vice President Spiro T. Agnew from the ticket.

But as to whether he would voluntarily become a one-term president, Nixon told Smith:

"The idea of what you call 'voluntary retirement,' I would suggest, is quite premature where I am concerned and I would say that anybody who reads my life would perhaps take that kind of story with a grain of salt."

Nixon steadfastly ruled out any deadline for complete withdrawal —which Democrats in Congress are demanding. He contended it would "torpedo" that little hope remains for a negotiated settlement and enable the Communists to adjust their military tactics accordingly.

The South Vietnamese, he said, had shown in Laos their "capability of hacking it," and "if the United States now were to throw in the towel and come home and the Communists took over South Vietnam, then all over Southeast Asia, all over the Pacific, in the Mideast, in Europe, in the world would suffer a blow ... would suffer a blow from which it might not recover."

Little Robert Van Pelt is a bit younger than our average depositor — but he's as important to us as our very largest account. So when "Gus" and his mother came into our Bell Savings office, Mrs. Lila Haberman, our Savings Counselor, told "Gus" that with a regular 5% Passbook Account at Bell Savings he would earn interest every day, on every penny he invested, and since no minimum deposit is required, his money would be handy when he needed it.

Well, Robert Van Pelt—"Gus" to his friends—age five is now a proud Bell Saver and we're just as proud to have him here at Bell Savings. Wouldn't you like to have your savings at the place where we say, and mean it, "At Bell Savings You Get 100% of Our Interest."

Take a Boeing home to Seattle.

As a matter of fact, you can take any one of three Boeings home to Seattle. The first United Flight leaves Oakland at 7:15 in the morning. The next at 1:30 p.m. And the evening flight takes off at 7:00. That's three times easy to Seattle, particularly if you live in San Rafael and the North Bay. Because Oakland International is your closest major airport. Just a bridge and a freeway from home. No cities to navigate. No Battle of the Bayshore. And plenty of parking just across the street from the terminal. Oh, and those last two Boeings streak home non-stop. Ready? Plans For Religious Center Are Approved

A religious group called Subud (pronounced soo-bood) will be allowed to operate a religious center at Star Hall just outside San Anselmo, at 100 Sacramento Avenue.

Ralph D. Cairns, deputy county zoning administrator, yesterday approved a use permit for the group on condition that the building will not be rented out to other organizations, and that 54 offstreet parking spaces will be marked off.

About 20 residents of San Anselmo attended the hearing in fear that followers of Subud might be a bongo-drumming, drug-oriented youth group.

Kieran C. Manjarrez of Mill Valley, house chairman for Subud, sought to allay the fears. "Drugs are contrary to the practice of Subud," he said.

He said religious services involve no bells, drums, or methodical chants. The singing of hymns would be about the most noise that would emanate from services, said Manjarrez.

He explained that Subud, which has about 65 local followers, is a contraction of Susila Buddi Dharma, which means "right living according to God's will."

For the past two years, Manjarrez said, his group has been meeting at the Community Congregational Church in Tiburon. Frank Evans, minister of the church, wrote a letter commending the group and reporting its quiet devotion to religious pursuits.

In other action, Cairns granted Paul Tanner the right to divide his land at 516 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley, into two building sites. The two parcels would be slightly smaller than the required 10,000 square feet.

3 Coffees For Reed Candidate Marin Mc Leod

Other committee members are Jean Eberle, Jeanne Price, Horton and Joyce Hinshaw, David and Mary Lou Kilmer, Dorothy Simmons, and Charles B. and Mary Wilson.

A series of three coffees has been scheduled for Mrs. McLeod's candidacy. Dates, times and places are: Thursday at 8 p.m., the Charles E. Wilson home, 215 Round Hill Road, Tiburon; Friday at 10 a.m., the Horton Hinshaw home, 15 Tara Hill Road, Tiburon, and April 1 at 8 p.m., the Thomas Price home, 7 West Shore Road, Belvedere.

Persons interested in attending the coffees are asked to call Mrs. Wilson for more information.

Preserving North Ridge Lands To Be Discussed

Whether three cities and the county can work together to preserve from 500 to 1,600 acres of undeveloped land along the North Ridge in Central Marin will be discussed tomorrow by officials of the four governing bodies.

Meeting at 8 p.m. at the Corte Madera Town Hall, councilmen from Larkspur, Mill Valley and Corte Madera will meet with county supervisors to decide that question.

City staffs have been meeting for two months with the county park and recreation department, Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst said, and have developed various alternate means of acquiring the private land which will be outlined at tomorrow's meeting.

Bathurst said the area proposed for preservation has not been defined precisely, thus no purchase figures are known.

Another unknown, he continued, is the availability of federal "open space" grants which might apply to the project.

If tomorrow's meeting proves successful, another would be set in about 60 days, Bathurst said, and discussion of the acquisition also would begin at the planning commission level of the involved agencies.

Merritt College Re-Opens Calmly

OAKLAND (UPI) — Merritt College reopened peacefully for the beginning of final exams Monday after being closed for a week by student disturbances.

The 9,000-student junior college in downtown Oakland was shut down March 15 after 150 students took over four offices in the administration building. They fled two days later when police moved onto the campus.

The students were protesting plans to shut down the campus on Oakland's flatlands and move Merritt to a new $15 million facility in the hills on April 5.

The Peralta Junior College District, which operates the college, agreed last Friday to keep the present site open with limited enrollment after the move.

Restaurant Loses $433 To Thief

Someone broke into the Tijuana Taco restaurant, 930 Seventh Street, Novato, early Sunday and took $433 in cash, Novato police reported yesterday.

Officers said the burglary occurred between 2:30 and 4 a.m. after someone broke the drive-in service window with a rock. The cash was taken from a cabinet in the office.

Bid Calling Delay Won On Tiburon Bike Path

Acting Tiburon Mayor Albert H. Sennett last night won a three-week postponement on calling of bids to turn the recently acquired Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way into a useable bicycle and pedestrian pathway.

The move will delay construction of the pathway two months — and possibly a year, according to Councilman Branwell D. Fanning who opposed the delay.

Sennett declared the three-week delay, after the council, with Mayor Denis T. Rice absent, split 2-2 on a motion by Fanning to call for bids immediately. M. Carlisle Becker joined Fanning in opposing the delay and Anne L. Ellinwood sided with Sennett.

Sennett proposed the delay in order to allow further investigation of funding possibilities, including a chance that 50 per cent of the approximate $64,000 cost of the project could be acquired from the federal government.

Other possibilities include participation by the City of Belvedere and Reed School District and private contributions, Sennett said.

Sennett said he hoped to obtain a letter of intent from federal Housing and Urban Development officials at a meeting Friday which would commit federal funds to the path.

But Fanning said that even if HUD promised funds, legislation under which they would be available is not effective until July, and with the end of the school year, more bicycle traffic and winter coming, "you're talking about a one year delay."

The Tiburon City Council Also:

LANE — Passed a resolution closing lower Racoon Lane to vehicles leaving an auto access strip for one property owner, and directed the city staff to prepare a resolution for its next meeting to improve upper Racoon Lane at abutting property owners' expense.

PLANNER — Commended Planning Director Wayne E. Moody, who has resigned, and named him an honorary citizen of Tiburon.

ZONING — Rezoned two parcels of property above Reed School from RO-2 (single family dwelling per one-half acre) to RO-2-C, which allows cluster development of the same overall density. The rezoning carried a condition that the property owner agree to designate a portion of the property for public park and recreational use.

BUILDING — Approved a precise plan for an office building at 72-80 Main Street. The plan was revised after council objections to its height at the last meeting.

REVIEW — Directed its planning and parks and recreation commissions to study establishing areas of design review for single family residences and duplexes.

DESIGN — Authorized hiring Brown/Heldt Associates of San Francisco as design consultants for the Paradise Drive Walkway for a $2,000 fee.

COORDINATOR — Went on record in favor of the county establishing the position of criminal justice coordinator.

DISASTER — Approved a county disaster procedure as outlined in a letter from Louis H. Baar, chairman of the board of supervisors, but suggested more precise plans be developed.

TIDELANDS — Referred to its land development committee a request for city reaction to a proposal to sell a 14-acre underwater parcel adjacent to Salt Works Canal. Owners of the parcel said that a Jewish congregation known as Shalom Ba-Olam wished to purchase the parcel for $7,500 an acre for use as a "recreational retreat." The council dismissed the plan as ridiculous, as the parcel could not be filled, developed or used, and Deputy City Atty. Richard Breimer reported that the congregation is not a religious group, but a privately owned corporation.

HISTORIAN — At the suggestion of councilman Ellinwood, created a position of city historian, postponed filling it, and referred to the Landmarks Society, for its suggestions, a proposal for establishments of some form of city landmarks committee.

Sharp Earthquake

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)— An earthquake believed centered in the Arctic Ocean jiggled the Berkeley seismograph and registered 6 1-4 early today at 1:36 a.m. PST.

The shooting occurred shortly after 1:30 a.m. Tyson told sheriff's investigators (the station is in the unincorporated area) that he had just finished helping a group of young motorists in distress outside Nave Lanes nearby when the Boutties' vehicle passed at high speed, headed toward the station.

From his hospital bed, Stutfield said the brothers drove into the station and ordered the car's gas tank filled. Stutfield said Earl Bouttie walked over to the station office and while the attendant was busy under the car's hood, Anthony came around the side of the car and struck him on the left side of the head, knocking him unconscious.

"The next thing I heard was the shotgun blasts," Stutfield told officers.

Tyson said he followed the Boutties' car a few moments after it passed him and pulled into the station to find the brothers pummelling Stutfield.

"They were beating on the attendant severely," Tyson said.

The officer swung into action, grabbing the shotgun from the patrol car front seat and calling for the men to halt.

"They decided they were going to run and they started to split," the officer said. Tyson again called for the suspects to halt, then fired once.

The car bounced onto a divider in the road, but was backed off and driven toward Highway 101. "I fired once more but they still didn't stop," Tyson said, "so I fired once more and that stopped them."

The auto, its right front tire shot flat, rolled to a halt, straddling the street about 100 feet from the station. A kitchen knife later was found on the rear seat, although apparently it was not used in the attack.

One of the young motorists assisted by Tyson before the shooting, Michael Casteen of 23 Monte Vista Avenue, Novato, watched the gunfire then ran to assist the fallen Stutfield.

Of the officer's actions, he said, "I never saw a policeman work so fast."

Officers said the brothers either ignored or didn't see a sign posted near the service station's pumps that cautioned motorists the all-night station handled no cash for change after 10 p.m. The policy was instituted to thwart robberies.

Civic Center Art Display

Sixty works of art by members of the Marin Society of Artists are on display on the first and third floors of the administration wing at the Marin Civic Center.

Lotte McWatters, exhibit chairman for the Marin Museum Association, said the exhibit will continue through April 16.

Pair Nabbed By Drug Agents On LSD Suspicion

Two men were arrested about 10 p.m. yesterday by Marin County drug agents outside a San Rafael motel on suspicion of selling LSD.

Sheldon Rambert, 21, of no known address, and Jack Rubin, 46, of 318 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, were held at Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Agents said the arrests outside the Villa Rafael Motel in the 1700 block of Lincoln Avenue, were the result of a months-long investigation by undercover agents.

About 26,000 tabs of suspected LSD were confiscated, agents said.

The two used a motel room as a meeting place, according to drug agents.

House Approves Voting Age Of 18

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House stamped final congressional approval today on a constitutional amendment to let 18-year-olds vote in all elections, possibly as early as 1972.

If approved by the legislatures of three-fourths (38) of the states, it will become the 26th amendment to the nation's basic set of laws, overriding state laws that still set 21 as the minimum voting age for state and local elections.

Voting by 18-year-olds already is assured in next year's presidential and congressional elections under a law passed by Congress in 1970. The Supreme Court ruled last December, that Congress exceeded its authority in seeking in the same law to lower the minimum age to 18 for governor, mayor and other state and local elections.

The new Congress, in the first major legislation to pass this session, moved quickly to remedy the situation, which could result in an estimated $20 million cost for the states to keep separate books on registration and voting by teenagers.

Chief backers of the amendment expressed hope of getting ratification in time for 18-year-olds to vote in all—or most—elections next year.

The last three constitutional amendments have been ratified in an average of 15 months.

Only Georgia, Alaska and Kentucky now give the state and local vote to 18 year olds, and it seemed unlikely to Congress that many others would change their laws (and in some cases, constitutions) before next year. The prospect was for dual registration and voting with attending confusion and extra cost.

A constitutional amendment does not need presidential approval, so that House passage by at least a two-thirds majority ends federal action on the proposal. It is transmitted to the states —47 of which have legislatures in session this year —by the General Services Administration. The amendment must be approved by three-fourths of the states —38 —to become operative.

In Sacramento, legislation giving 18-year-old Californians the vote advanced in the Assembly today but a youth-oriented bill seeking a court test of the Indochina War was killed.

The 18-year-old voter proposal went to the floor after the constitutional amendments committee turned back a Republican-sponsored effort to amend it with what the author called potentially fatal changes.

1876 Notes Of Explorer Discovered

TRUCKEE, Calif. (UPI)—An inquisitive snowmobiler reported today he found a small Army Corps of Engineers paper dated 1876 in a metal canister under a rock atop 9,500-foot Rifle Peak.

Bill Byrne, 36, a property manager, said he found the canister Sunday while snowmobiling with two friends. The slip of paper is two by five inches in size.

It reads: "explorations and surveys west of 100th meridian. Station No. 12, Party No. 2, California Division, executive officer Lt. M. Macomb, topographical assistant Frank Carpenter, meteorological assistant Alfred Dubois. En route from ——around Lake Tahoe, Nov. 7, 1876. Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army."

Byrne said there was a note on the back of the paper written by L. Kipps, Reno, Nev., who said he found the canister on Aug. 22, 1937, and retraced the writing in ink because it was faded.

Byrne said he would send the paper to the University of Nevada for analysis.

Drivers Sentenced

Four persons were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Peter Allan Smith last Thursday for drunken driving.

Earl Love Sherrod, 24, of Skaggs Island Navy Base, Sonoma County, arrested March 14 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for one year and fined $225.

Gerald Norman Kramer, 31, of 10 St. Judge Road, Mill Valley, arrested March 14 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for one year and fined $225.

George Edward Sands, 45, of 11 Ruben Court, Novato, arrested March 14 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for one year and fined $175.

Richard Lester Lawery, 36, of Clipper Yacht Harbor, Sausalito, arrested Feb. 27 Sausalito, was placed on probation for two years, fined $250 and ordered to jail for 10 days.

Pedestrian's Condition Good

A 71-year-old San Rafael woman was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital after being hit by a pick-up truck Saturday, hospital officials reported.

Yvonne Hollingworth of 5 Golden Hinde Avenue said she was walking to her daughter's truck parked in the Long's Drug Store parking area in Northgate when she was struck by a pick-up truck as it backed out of a parking space, according to San Rafael police.

Police said Mrs. Hollingworth told them she was assisted by the truck driver and helped into her daughter's truck. She failed, however, to get the drivers name or address, officers said.

To Eye Traffic

The Sausalito City Council will study the problem of traffic congestion in the city and review traffic and parking studies at a special meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

Labor Backs Alioto In Look Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Despite some minor objections by secretary George Johns, the San Francisco Labor Council has approved a resolution backing Mayor Joseph Alioto and condemning "political persecution" against him.

The resolution was offered Monday night by San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21 and condemned the release of "unverified confidential information" concerning the mayor by public officials.

Alioto, currently suing Look Magazine for $12.5 million over a story linking him to the Mafia, has said five federal law enforcement agencies leaked unverified confidential information about him to the magazine.

John recommended the resolution be referred to the council's executive committee to "explore."

"I think Joe Alioto was involved in the dumping we took with regard to the city employes," Johns said. "At this moment I'm mad at Joe Alioto."

Johns had previously criticized Alioto for characterizing a 4 per cent pay raise given 15,000 miscellaneous city employes as "generous."

The Typographical Union has been on strike against the San Rafael Independent-Journal for more than a year. When a group of labor leaders recently were sentenced to jail for contempt of court involving the strike, Alioto personally chauffered one of them to San Rafael and appeared at a rally where they started serving their terms.

Leon Olson, Local 21 president, who was one of the labor leaders found in contempt, told Johns Monday night the city salary dispute was not involved in the resolution and Johns was missing the point.

He said Alioto was being subjected to "political persecution (and) doesn't have it coming to him."

Take-Out Food Tax Due Study

The San Anselmo City Council, always on the watch for means to fatten city coffers, will study tonight at 8 o'clock at city hall a Sausalito ordinance that provides for taxing of take-out foods.

The ordinance, which has been in force in Sausalito for about a year, reportedly has raised about $20,000 for that city.

The council also will consider revising an agreement with the City of Ross for maintenance of common intersections, curbs and sidewalks.

Danger To Ships Gets ABAG Eye

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Appointment of a "special task force" to recommend how to reduce navigation hazards has been announced by the Association of Bay Area Governments and the Marin Exchange of the San Francisco Bay Region.

The group of public and maritime officials, named the Regional Organization for Shipping and the Environment (ROSE), will have 60 days to complete its work. The group's formation was triggered by the Jan. 18 oil spill in the bay caused by the collision of two tankers.

The group's study will include harbor operations, routes, speeds and related navigational factors, pending state and federal proposals affecting maritime traffic, and electronic aids to navigation.

Carberry Rejects Jail Criticism

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco County Sheriff Matthew Carberry responded to criticism of one of his jails by the State Board of Corrections Friday by calling the facility "one of the safest jails in America."

The board's report had charged lax security and other "serious deficiencies" at County Jail No. 2 in San Bruno.

BOARD

Bruce explained that the board had asked him three weeks ago to find out "if there is a VD epidemic" in Marin and that his investigation had led him to believe that there are "what could be mildly described as personnel problems" in the county health department.

Not only did he not find a venereal disease epidemic in the county, Bruce said, but he charged that statistics provided by the county's VD clinic staff were unreliable and that "questionable practices" were being used there.

He also accused Natalie K. Posner, a part-time health educator, of taking pay from Marin and Contra Costa counties for the same time periods.

Bruce blasted, although not by name, Philippa Denning-Kemp, investigator at the VD clinic, for "dominating the clinic and described her in his report as a "confidence woman" who had been disciplined in the past for falsifying expense accounts.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told supervisors today that they could hear charges against Dr.Albrecht publicly but Mrs. Posner and Miss Denning-Kemp as civil servants have a right to a hearing before the county personnel board.

To complicate the matter further, he said, Dr. Albrecht is the only person who can fire the two employees."

Although Dr. Albrecht's attorney, former Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., said that Bruce's making the charges publicly, represented "administrative tyranny at its worst," he asked that her hearing be public.

He said, "there is no other recourse," since the charges had been published in the media.

A. Leonard Bjorklund, attorney for Mrs. Posner, said that "in view of the fact that a county official wants the district attorney to investigate" Mrs. Posner's alleged fraud, he wanted a closed session. Miss Denning-Kemp asked the whole matter be put over until her attorney returned from Los Angeles.

Pot Suspect Is Booked

San Rafael police said they stopped William Michael Purtell of 111 Buena Vista Avenue after he failed to stop at a red light and found that he lacked driver and vehicle identification and had a bag of suspected marijuana in his pocket.

Purtell was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Cotati Doctor Files For Petaluma Race

Dr. Fred A. Groverman, a Cotati veterinarian, filed nomination papers yesterday for election to the Petaluma Hospital District board on June 8.

Dr. Groverman, 400 Ormsby Lane, operates the Cotati Veterinary Hospital. He became the first to file for election to the board that operates Hillcrest Hospital. The terms of Albert P. Behrens Sr. and Jack Garrison will be up for election. Filing closes on April 1.

Haggard Takes Top Country Music Awards

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Merle Haggard was named top male vocalist and entertainer of the year and the song "For the Good Times" took three major honors Monday night at the sixty annual awards of the Academy of Country and Western Music.

Haggard, who won five awards last year including top entertainer, had received seven nominations to lead the field in the 23 categories of competition voted on by the academy's 1,500 members.

Top female vocalist of the year was Lynn Anderson and the top vocal group was the Kimberlys.

Touring band of the year was Haggard's Strangers and top television personality was Johnny Cash.

OBITUARIES

Richard Oller Jr. Dies At 50

Richard Harley Oller Jr. of Belvedere died at his home yesterday after a long illness. He was 50.

A native of Philadelphia, Oller served during World War II as an officer in the Air Force in the Pacific. He first came to Marin 22 years ago, but returned to the New York area for a period of 10 years during which time he was associated with several market research firms.

Four years ago, he and his family returned to Marin, residing at 7 Oak Avenue in Belvedere.

He is survived by his wife, Jean J. Oller of Belvedere, two daughters, Carolyn and Elizabeth Oller of Belvedere; his mother, Mrs. Richard H. Oller of Philadelphia, and two sisters, Mrs. Spencer Wright of Philadelphia and Mrs. Robert Durden of Durham, N.C.

Private family services will be held tomorrow in Marin.

Memorial contributions to the American Heart Association are preferred.

MRS. SOLDATE

Harriet P. Soldate, 87, a lifelong Petaluma resident, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Soldate was the widow of William Soldate and was a member of the Petaluma Grange, Golden Age Club and St. Mary's Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church.

She is survived by two sons, Lauren Soldate of Salinas and Earl Soldate of Petaluma; two daughters, Willeen Tucker and Elva Williams of Petaluma; three sisters, Dora Hayes of Sacramento, Verna Strittmatter of Sausalito and Edna Hill of San Rafael; a brother, Allen Nauert of Inverness; 12 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma, followed by private inurnment at Cypress Hill Memorial Park. Contributions may be made to St. John's Episcopal Church, Petaluma.

MRS. FRANCIS

Elizabeth Loretta Francis, 68, of 269 Calle De La Selva, Loma Verde, was discovered dead at her home yesterday morning, apparently of natural causes, according to Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig.

Coleen Cochran, a roomer, had seen Mrs. Francis alive at about 10 p.m. Sunday, and next saw her lying on her bedroom floor at about 9:30 a.m. yesterday, Craig reported.

Mrs. Francis had been dead "shortly after midnight," he said.

As Mrs. Francis suffered a hemorrhage, it appeared to be a natural death, Craig said, but since several Nembutal capsules were near the body, there will be a check into the possibility of accidental death resulting from a combination of alcohol and pills, Craig said. An autopsy is pending.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

EMILY MIDDLETON

Emily Anne Middleton of Tiburon died yesterday after a fall in a local convalescent hospital, apparently of natural causes, according to the Marin County Coroner's office. She was 93.

A native of Canada, Mrs. Middleton had lived in California approximately 70 years and resided at 99 Barbaree Way, Tiburon. She was a homemaker.

MRS. WILEY

Margaret D. Wiley of 33 Manzanita Road, Fairfax, died today at a San Francisco hospital. She was the wife of Army Lt. Col. Paul C. Wiley.

A native of Portland, Maine, Mrs. Wiley is also survived by a daughter, Catharine F. Eikenberry; a brother, Charles Seyford; a sister, Florence Knowles, and four grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. A Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Raphael's Church.

RITA FRASIER

Mrs. Rita V. Frasier, a longtime resident of Petaluma who died Saturday, was incorrectly identified in yesterday's Independent-Journal as Ruth Frasier.

Her sister, Merle O. Adams of Petaluma, also was misidentified as a brother.

SARAH CURRAN

Mass for Mrs. Sarah Curran, sister of Margaret Wall of San rafael, will be sung at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Leo's Church, Oakland.

Mrs. Curran, of Oakland, died Sunday after a long illness at Providence Hospital, Oakland. A native of Kentucky, she was the widow of the late Francis A. Curran, a former letter carrier in San Francisco.

She was a past president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the National Association of Letter Carriers of San Francisco.

In addition to her sister, Mrs. Curran is survived by a daughter, Sister Charleen Curran, CSJ, of Pasadena; a son, Francis J. Curran Jr. of Buena Park; and four grandchildren.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at the John Cox Piedmont Memorial Chapel, Oakland. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

FANCIES.

BY MINA.

When the dim twilight shadows
Flung round us a veil,
And the song of the night-birds
Swell out on the gale;

When the stars,—far more bright
Than the gems in a crown—
And the goddess of Night
Send their radiance down;

When all Nature's beauties,
Are softened by gloom,
And the roses are known
Only by their perfume;

Then, strange dreamy fancies
Flit by on the breeze,
And the wind as it sighs
Thro' the tall forest trees,

Whispers tales of a home
In a far sunny land,
Where Sorrow and Love,
Never walk hand in hand.

Ah! such dreams how they haunt us,
How they fling 'round the heart,
Their strange, weird spells,
With a sorcerer's art.

For the "Journal."

A Chapter of Occult History.

A very curious, if not extraordinary case, has recently come to light, and is now engaging the attention of the courts in Great Britain. We condense the facts, and present the principal points to our readers. The title of the suit is "Byers vs The Attorney General." To the American reader it can be important only as a gem in English History, probably suppressed intentionally by the historians of that country, and because it lifts a corner of the veil that conceals the pool of royal prodigacy which characterized the period in which the events occurred. The facts are as follows:

Lavina Janette Horton Byers, 'such is the fair plaintiff's name,' filed her petition in the Court of Ordinary, claiming to be Princess of Cumberland, and Duchess of Lancaster, as the granddaughter and lineal representative in the female line of his royal highness, Henry Frederick Duke of Cumberland, who died intestate in the year 1790.—It appears that on the 4th day of March, 1767, his Royal Highness Henry Frederick Duke of Cumberland, the brother of George the Third, was married at the house of Lord Archer in London, to Olive, the daughter of the Rev. Dr. James Wilmot, who was at the time highly honored in court. This lady, Olive, was the daughter of a private marriage contracted by Dr. Wilmot with a Polish princess, daughter of Stanislaus, King of Poland. Miss Wilmot having found favor in the eyes of the Duke of Cumberland, he offered his hand and was accepted. The ceremony was performed by the lady's father, Dr. Wilmot, and was attended by King George the Third, the celebrated Earl of Chatham (William Pitt,) the Earl of Warwick, and Lord Archer, in whose house the marriage took place. The certificate of this marriage as produced in court, duly attested, reads as follows:

"I hereby certify that I married Henry Frederick Duke of Cumberland, to Olive Wilmot, March 4, 1767, such marriage having been duly solemnized according to the rites and ceremonies of the Church of England. (Signed) J. Wilmot, (Signed) "George R.
"Chatham.
"I witnessed such marriage,
(Signed)
"Warwick."

On the 2nd day of October 1771, four years after his marriage with Olive Wilmot, the Duke of Cumberland, his first wife being still alive, contracted a marriage with Lady Anne Horton, daughter of the Earl of Carthampton. This last marriage was never recognized by the King, nor was she ever received at court.

On the 3d day of April 1772, Olive, the lawful wife of the Duke of Cumberland, was delivered at Warwick of a female child, who was also named Olive. The certificate of the birth of this child as appeared in proof is as follows:

"Olive, the daughter of Henry "Frederick, Duke of Cumberland, and "Olive, his lawful wife, born April 3, "1772, at Warwick.
"J. Wilmot,
"Robert Wilmot.
(Signed) "I. Dunning,
"Chatham."

This child was baptized privately as the offspring of the Duke of Cumberland, and was declared by the Earl of Warwick; but was afterwards re-baptized by directions of the King, so that she might pass as the child of Robert Wilmot. Mr. Dunning, afterwards created Lord Ashburton, wrote in relation to the matter thus:

"I declare the Duke of Cumberland's "marriage with Olive Wilmot to be "legal, by command of the King."—His majesty also made a provision of £500 a year for the infant daughter of the marriage, "until a more suitable "provision could be made for her."—The King afterwards issued the following:

"George R.—We declare the birth "of Olive, the infant of the Duke of "Cumberland, by Olive his Duchess, "to be legitimate, who is condemned to "privacy by the act of bigamy committed by her royal father.
(Signed) "Chatham.
"Dunning,
(Signed) "Warwick,
"J. Wilmot."

The marriage of the Duke was kept secret, and the child, Olive, passed as the child of Mr. Robert Wilmot, and resided with her grand-father, Dr. Wilmot, at "Barton on the Heath," until her marriage with one John Thomas Serres in 1792. She remained ignorant of her royal birth until 1815, when the secret was revealed to her by the Earl of Warwick.

The proofs further shew that George the Third in his will bequeaths,—"to Olive, our brother of Cumberland's "daughter, the sum of £15,000, consisting of her and her heirs and successors "to pay the same privately, to our said "niece, for her use, as a recompense "for the misfortunes she may have "known through her father."

Lord Warwick made the Duke of Kent acquainted with the facts, who afterwards recognized Mrs. Serres as his cousin. His Royal Higness when on his death bed, wrote thus:

"Should I not recover, I recommend my dear cousin Olive to my "wife, who will, for my sake, love and "serve her until she recovers her loyal "rights. I solemnly recommend my "daughter to revere the Princess Olive "of Cumberland for my sake.
"Edward."

And again—

"If this paper meets my dear Alexandrina's eye, my dear cousin Olive "will present it, whom my daughter "will, for my sake, I hope, love and "serve, should I depart this life.
"Edward."

The petitioner, Lavina, J. H. Reyes claims as the eldest surviving daughter of this Mr. Serres, and Olive, called Wilmot, but as it really appears, the Duchess of Cumberland and Lancaster; and seeks to recover the revenues, on account of her mother and herself to the amount of £100,644, and also £108,320, as a bequest from the royal family of England.

Serres, the father of the petitioner was marine draughtsman to George the Third, to the Admiralty, and to the then Duke of Clarence—he was also employed under Nelson at Copenhagen and Trafalgar.

It appears further in the case that her father and mother seperated in 1803—that she lived with her mother until her marriage. Certificates of the marriage of her mother with Serres, and of herself with Byres were also exhibited. The parents of the claimant seperated, and her own husband abandoned her more than twenty years ago, leaving six children, whom she has creditably supported ever since.

There are many other minor details corroborative of the main facts which are interesting, but which we must omit for want of space. Suffice it to say, that the court before which the case is pending, has clearly intimated the right of the petitioner to the claims which she has advanced; and little remains but to pronounce judgment in her favor. Is not this the romance of History?

☞The Austin Intelligencer, has been permitted to publish the following extract from a letter written by General Houston to an old friend, which defines his position thus;

"You say it is reported that I am for secession. Ask those who say so to point to a word of mine authorizing the statement. I have declared myself in favor of peace, of harmony, of compromise, in order to obtain a fair expression of the will of the people. Dangerous as may be the precedent inaugurated by the Convention, before the majesty of the law, which recognizes its power to submit the question of disunion to the people, I yield in the same spirit that actuated Andrew Jackson in paying the fine arbitrarily imposed on him at New Orleans. I am determined that those who would overthrow law shall learn no lesson from me. I still believe that secession will bring ruin and civil war. Yet if the people will, I can bear it with them. I would fain not be declared an alien from my native home in old Virginia, to the scenes of my early toils and triumphs in noble Tennessee. I would not, of my own choice, give up the banner beneath which I have fought; the Constitution which I have revered, or the Union which I have loved and cherished as the glorious priceless heritage bequeathed me by my fathers.

Sixty-seven years of freedom, the recollections of past triumphs and sufferings, the memories of heroes whom I have seen and known, and whose venerated shades would haunt my footsteps were I to falter now, may perhaps have made me too devoted to the Constitution and the Union, but be it so. Did I believe that liberty and the rights of the South demanded the sacrifice, I would not hesitate. I believe that less concession than was necessary to frame the Constitution will now preserve it.

Thus believing, I cannot vote for secession. I have hesitated to say any thing on this topic, because I desire the people to act for themselves. My views are on record. Yet it is perhaps but right that my friends should know that the charge that I am for secession is false. If I err in hodling on still to the skirts of my venerated old mother, Virginia, and the foster-mother which matured me from boyhood, glorious Tennessee, my countrymen will forgive me, as they have forgiven me for many other things I have done. I am willing even to be called a submissionist for their sake."

☞The Charlestown Mercury advises the immediate importation of a couple of millions of Africans, whom it calls "cannibals" into South Carolina. But isn't there some danger that so many cannibals might some morning eat up for breakfast all the white folks in that little State—and then start off to Florida for their dinner?

It is a curious physiological fact that enthusiastic lady skaters have remarkably small feet, and declare long skirts to be always in the way!

Artemus Ward says "the world continues to revolve round on her own axle trees once in 24 hours, subject to the Constitution of the United States."

They love the least who let men know their love.

Marin's First Newspaper Started 110 Years Ago

One hundred and ten years ago toady, Marin's first newspaper was pressed out by a handful of settlers in the dining room of the San Rafael Hotel.

"To the people of the county of Marin this paper is most respectfully dedicated . . .," it began.

No one is really sure how many issues of the Marin County Journal were produced that day or how long it took, but the fleging weekly prospered and eventually became what is today the Independent-Journal.

The newspaper and the county both have come a long way since Printer Jerome Barney founded the Journal in the dingy hotel room, March 23, 1861.

Today, the I-J runs off some 44,000 issues daily on its 250-ton Hoe Colormatic press which has a top speed of 70,000 issues an hour.

Editors and reporters furnish Marin and Southen Sonoma subscribers with complete county coverage, and United Press International provides worldwide news minutes after its happening.

Barney's Journal survived 87 years of fierce newspaper rivalry in the county outliving three rival weeklies which sprang up in Marin in the last 20 years of the 19th Century — The Tocsin, San Rafael Sun and Evening Journal. All three slipped quietly out of existence.

But another weekly — the San Rafael Independent — started at the turn of the century and survived to become the Journal's biggest rival.

By 1927 the Independent was publishing daily while the Journal continued as a weekly until 1948 when for a brief stint it appeared as a morning daily.

Financial difficulties, beset the Journal in the post - World War II years, caused primarily by the skyrocketing price of paper and lead.

California Newspapers Inc., owners of the San Rafael Independent since 1937, purchased the financilly troubled Journal, on Nov. 30, 1948.

Under the leadership of publisher the late Roy Brown and co-owners the late Justus Craemer, California Newspaper's board chairman, the I-J grew to match county's post war expansion.

At the time of the merger, Marin's population stood at 85,000.. Combined circulation of both papers was 13,000.

Marin's and the I-J's growth were triggered by three factors — first came the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge in 1937, followed by an influx during World War II of residents brought to the county by Marinship and Hamilton Air Force Base.

Finally, the general population increase in California in the last 20 years has been shared by Marin.

A new multi-million dollar plant has been built around the converted ice house at Julia and B streets that was the office and shop of the San Rafael Independent.

Both Brown and Craemer died in the spring of 1966, shortly after completion of the new plant. Their sons, Wishard A. Brown and Jack C. Craemer, now fill their positions as a publisher and co-publisher.

Deliveries Of Farmer John Pork Stopped

In response to charges that Farmer John brand pork products may be unhealthy, Clover Diary Products, which serves Marin, has stopped delivering Farmer John Bacon.

Clover's Marin manager, Winslow W. Ledson, said the bacon deliveries were stopped last week after a workmen's compensation medical examiner charged that 23 persons who worked in the Clougherty Packing Co. in Vernon, Los Angeles County, were afflicted with brucellosis, a fever that results from contact with infected animals.

The disease could also be transmitted to housewives and other consumers, Dr. Ruben Merliss of Los Angeles said.

Three Youths Hurt In Mishap

Three San Rafael youths were taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital Saturday after their car hit a parked auto on Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

According to police, Rebecca S. Kesler, 17, who was driving the 1965 white and blue Chevrolet Malibu, struck a car parked at 845 Las Gallinas Avenue at 2:39 p.m., pushing the vehicle 41 feet along a sidewalk.

Rebecca and her two sisters, Jennifer and Leslie, who were passengers in the car, were treated for cuts and bruises at Kaiser and released.

Wachsman Horse Permit Before Planners Again

The San Rafael Planning Commission faces a controversial decision at its 7:30 meeting tonight: whether to unlock the stable doors of Edward K. Wachsman.

Wachsman, former Marin County planning commissioner, has filed an appeal with the planners, hoping to get a permit to keep an Arabian horse and a Shetland pony at his home at 50 Palm Avenue, San Rafael.

It's been six months — the time limit required by city regulations before an appeal can be filed — since the city council reversed a planning commission decision to grant Wachsman the permit.

The matter came before the council when some of Wachsman's neighbors appealed the planners decision to grant the permit.

The horse and pony have been in the news since 1968 in a series of battles between Wachsman and his neighbors and Wachsman and the city.

The commission, which meets at city hall, will also take up various subdivision, use permits and architectural approvals.

Innocent Plea To Drug Charges

A trail was set for the week of June 1.

A bench warrant is still out for a codefendant, Steven Charles Barrett, 37, of no known address, who failed to appear for a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court in February.

Novato's School Budget May Mean Pay Freeze

The Novato Unified School District board last night adopted a preliminary budget for next year of $9,914,017 that could mean a freeze in salary for many employees.

The tentative fiscal 1971-72 budget is $29,595 less than the $9,943,702 spending program submitted to the board on Feb. 16 and $113,593 less than the current one of $10,027,700.

In adopting the budget, pending action on a final spending program later this spring, the board froze all classified employee wages at the current level and all certificated employees to current salary steps. Teachers still could advance by class, that is, if they obtained credits, but not by steps, said Supt. James G. Bunker.

The district has a six-class and 12-step pay scale for certificated employees.

The vote on the budget was 5-0, with trustee William Schneeflock absent.

By freezing salaries, Bunker estimated the district would save $141,488 — or $131,112 in teacher salaries and other small wage amounts.

Transportation also was cut by $4,116 and capital outlay by $5,000.

The slashed funds then were added, however, to reserves, increasing the sum from $10,076 in the original budget to $164,900 in the adopted tentative budget.

Board President Dan H. Barber still felt, however, the reserve level was long.

"We can accept this budget now and change it later in May and June when we have a better idea of our income and enrollment for next year," said trustee Marett B. Boissevain.

To save costs further, Liz Mertel, candidate for the board of the April 20 election, suggested the district check into charter bus systems in Santa Barbara and La Canada under which students are charged for school transportation.

The board asked Bunker to check all districts in the state in which charter buses are used.

"If John Q. Public has to shell out money for school busing, there will be a lot of children walking to school" said trustee Carolyn Crabtree.

Boissevain observed that it was costing the district $23 per student per year for transportation. And he called it "cheap transportation."

John Enders, president of the Novato Teachers Association, passed out a mimeographed statement of teachers views of the freeze at the close of the meeting. It said the freeze would "result in inequities," but also recognized that Novato and other California districts were having financial difficulties.

In other action last night, the board accepted the resignation of teacher Michael Quinn, now on leave from San Marin High School.

Man Pleads In LSD Drug Case

Robert Earl Marriott, 23, of San Geronimo, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of possessing marijuana for sale and possessing LSD and cocaine.

Trial was set for the week of May 24.

The marijuana and LSD charges stem from a drug raid on a San Geronimo residence Nov. 27, and the cocaine charge is in connection with his allegedly having the drug in his possession when he was booked on traffic warrants at Marin County Jail April 13.

Souza Backers

Robert Hinshaw of Tiburon and Robert S. Imel of Belvedere have been appointed co-chairmen of the campaign to re-elect Leo Souza to the Reed School District board.

WHY WE THINK FEDERAL EMPLOYEES WILL BE BETTER OFF WITHOUT PAYCHECKS.

If you work for the government, then you probably already know about the new pay system available to employees of most federal agencies.

Basically, it works like this:

Where's your pay?

Where it should be. In a bank.

Every payday, your net earnings can be automatically deposited by your employer to a Security Pacific Bank checking account, at any branch you choose.

IT'S NO FUN WAITING IN LINE AT A BANK. EVEN A SECURITY PACIFIC BANK.

Now you don't have to.

While other people spend half their lunch hour making a deposit, you can spend half your lunch hour eating your lunch.

And have half a lunch hour left over.

IF YOU'VE NEVER HAD A PAYCHECK LOST OR STOLEN, NOW YOU NEVER WILL.

You think it'll never happen to you.

Now you know it'll never happen to you.

By eliminating the paycheck, you eliminate any worry of loss or theft.

YOU WAKE UP ONE MORNING, AND YOU'VE GOT MONEY IN THE BANK.

You don't even have to think about it. Because on payday, your pay is in your checking account, ready for you to use.

Even if you're on vacation, away on business, or home ill, if you're supposed to get paid that day, you get paid that day.

Automatically.

To take advantage of this new system, fill out form #1189 (available from your department head) and bring it to any branch of Security Pacific Bank.

Or, you can fill in the information below and bring it to any branch of Security Pacific Bank where we'll type out form #1189 for you.

After that, it's like money in the bank.

I WOULD LIKE TO HAVE MY NET EARNINGS AUTOMATICALLY DEPOSITED TO A SECURITY PACIFIC BANK CHECKING ACCOUNT:

County Health Officer Deserves Fair Treatment

County Administrator Alan Bruce has proposed that Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht be fired as Marin County health officer for inept management and "apparent fraud."

The county administrator, who usually asks for a closed meeting with the board of supervisors to discuss the smallest personnel matter, called for Dr. Albrecht's removal in a public announcement.

Dr. Albrecht, a sincere, dedicated public servant whose employment as county health officer began well before there was any such thing in Marin as a county administrator, deserves better treatment than this.

She may be an inept administrator. There may be reasons why she should be replaced. But before the county administrator or anyone else starts howling for her head, a thorough investigation should be made. And it should be made by someone other than the county administrator.

THE CHARGES BRUCE leveled against Dr. Albrecht do not in themselves sound devastating — especially when they come from Alan Bruce.

The "apparent fraud" consists of these two allegations: That she employed Natalie K. Posner, part-time Marin County health educator, on full time while Mrs. Posner also was drawing part-time pay from Contra Costa County, and that the Cass Agency of El Cerrito, engaged to help publicize Marin's rubella innoculation drive, is operated by Mrs. Posner's daughter and son-in-law.

Records in the two counties show that Mrs. Posner drew pay from both which sometimes added up to more than 17 hours a day during the rubella campaign. It appears that someone got gypped here. But whether it was Marin or Contra Costa has not been established.

Dr. Albrecht says Mrs. Posner worked full time for her. If so, it would seem that Contra Costa should take action against Mrs. Posner — not Marin against Dr. Albrecht.

COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR Bruce sees the double payment as fraud. However, he did not see it as fraud when he tried to have Dr. Clyde Miller paid his full salary as county mental health director during the month that he was suspended from duties as punishment. He did not see it as fraud when he tried to have Dr. Miller paid for eight days by which he exceeded an already-extended vacation. He was blocked on those two attempts by Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

County Administrator Bruce describes employment of the Cass Agency, owned by Mrs. Posner's daughter and son-in-law, as nepotism. He finds this so inexcusable that he makes it a reason for firing the county health officer from the job she has held for 17 years.

HOWEVER, BRUCE MADE no suggestion that he be fired when his wife, Constance, was employed by the county as a psychiatric social worker (under Dr. Miller) at $683 per month for five months in 1965; nor when his son, David, worked as a county fireman during the summers of 1965 and 1966 at $14.48 per day. Nepotism, it seems, is not always a cause for firing.

The county administrator also charges that Dr. Albrecht has inflated reports of the amount of venereal disease in Marin. There are many who would take the opposite view: that her reports have failed to reflect the spread of such disease in the county, and that she waited too long to alert the board of supervisors to the situation.

Incidentally, the reason that Mrs. Posner is only a part-time employee of Marin County, while also drawing pay from Contra Costa, is that County Administrator Bruce vetoed Dr. Albrecht's request for a fulltime health educator — in spite of a 1969 grand jury report urging the necessity for such a position.

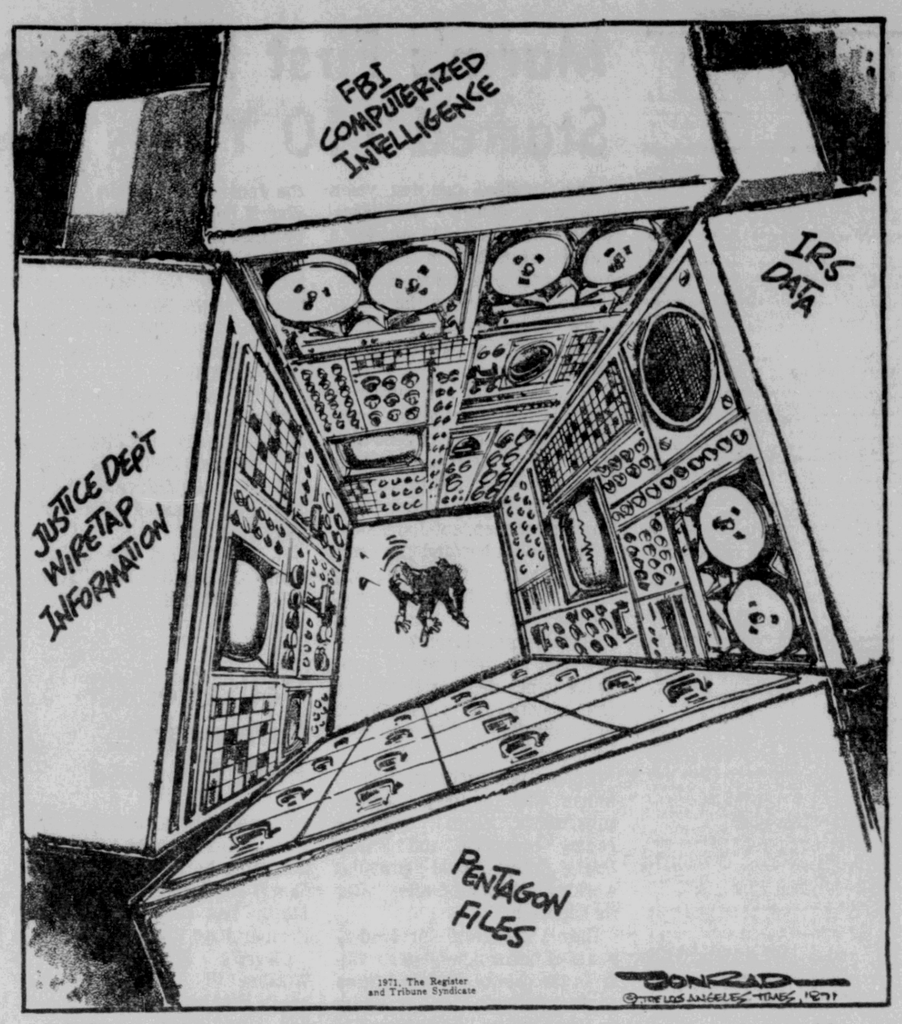
We agree. Firing of a department head who has demonstrated conscientiousness and devotion over a 17-year period, on the basis of flimsy charges would also be inimical to the public interest.

Let us have a thorough investigation of the county health department. But let it be done by a disinterested party, and let it be done with consideration for the department head involved — consideration notably lacking in Bruce's handling.



"Self-discipline on the part of the executive branch will provide an answer to virtually all of the legitimate complaints against excesses of information gathering . . . This is a recorded message . . ."

Cats Are Cleaner Than Some People

Couldn't agree with you more, Supervisor Peter Arrigoni, as to bringing Hank (the cat) in out of the rain. Like you, I've never heard of anyone getting food poisoning from having a cat around. In fact I know some cats that are a lot cleaner looking than some people now a day. For instance: my two. They thoroughly wash before and after each meal, keep their hair smooth and respectably groomed and maintain impeccable toilet habits. From some of the sights I see around the county; give me Hank anytime.

Need For Cycling And Recycling

In this ecology-minded era, it is very encouraging to see the increased amount of cycling done in our county ("tri", "bi", etc., as well as "re").

Your wonderful articles on recycling are a great service to us all and prompt me to ask if you could provide a similar article on rules of the road for the other cycle enthusiasts as well as motorists. Every day there are cyclists on the right side of the street, on the left side of the street and at times even in the middle of the street. One has only to read your paper to note the accidents involving cyclists with cars, cyclists with other cyclists, cyclists with pedestrians, etc. So for all of us, please help?

Malpractice Suits Not Merely Greed

Mr. Jerry Nault's letter published March 13 under the caption "'Sue The Doctor' Practice Costly" naively places the spiraling costs of medical care on what he considers unreasonable people in the community of unsatiable greed aided and abetted by irresponsible shysters resulting in unwarranted judgments. It is clear that anyone who makes such generalizations is lacking in any facts of specific cases.

Had Mr. Nault made any research into malpractice suits he would feel otherwise . . .

The medical profession is not immune from the legal principle that one is responsible for his actions. It is not that people are getting more unwarranted judgments but rather that those victimized by professional incompetents are fortunately surviving, often through the efforts of reputable and responsible physicians, and asserting their rights to recover damages as partial indemnification for their losses.

Furry Creatures Find A Champion

In the past month or so, Supervisor (Peter R.) Arrigoni has been stumping the Bay Area for a cause known as "the furry creatures." First were the furry birds of Bolinas Lagoon after the unfortunate oil spill in February. Supervisor Arrigoni actually participated in that cleanup campaign (risking tetanus), and should be commended for his leadership.

More recently, he has taken his crusade into the territory of San Francisco, and has invited the squirrels and raccoons in the Golden Gate Park to Marin County, much to the delight of San Francisco supervisors. At his instigation (though risking the hazard of rabies) Marin County will arrange to transport here whatever is left, if any, of the poor furry creatures so that they will have a safer home. A warm and kind gesture, indeed.

And, just today, at the risk of violating the Public Health Code, which was written to protect people from animal-carried diseases, he has announced that he is taking full responsibility to allow Hank, the furry feline of Fairfax, to remain inside Harry's Market away from the rain. An admirable act.

If Supervisor Arrigoni is campaigning for his second term, I hope he won't forget us "furry" people!

Waldie Takes Slap At His Critics

Once again, I am moved to respond to a personal attack on me and other opponents of the Peripheral Canal and the California Water Project by the California Water Resources Association, an organization representing the water contractors of the state and located in Southern California.

A recent letter to editors of California newspapers suggests that my opposition to the Peripheral Canal and the State Water Project as now proposed is based on "faulty reasoning" and would, in fact, mean that I advocate taking water from "new babies."

I find that this caliber of criticism from the California Water Resources Association is typical of the hysteria gripping the water contractors and their good friends the Southern California land developers.

During the course of the past 11 years in which I have opposed the State Water Project, and the Peripheral Canal, I have met and debated the issues involved with many men whom I respect and admire. The level of discussion has for the most part been high and the resultant information, pro and con, has been helpful in giving the public a full disclosure and a better understanding of the Water Project, the Peripheral Canal and the environmental impact on the Bay-Delta System.

The California Water Resources Association has done nothing to dignify that debate. I would hope that responsible advocates of the water project would take steps to repudiate the level of personal vitriol issuing from the CWRA or else withdraw their monetary support from this group.

Candidate Airs His Platform

I send the following remarks to you with full knowledge that they will not appear in your newspaper.

As you are possibly aware, I am one of two candidates for election as mayor in San Rafael. While my opponent continues to demonstrate his total lack of concern for this city and its growing problems, I am forced to wage my campaign without substantial funds and without any real notice from your paper. I realize that editorially you may support Mr. (C. Paul) Bettini, but I seriously doubt that such support reflects the attitudes of a majority of your readers.

The issues I am rasing in this campaign are vital to our common future, whatever approaches to solutions we may individually favor. I am asking the voters whether they feel that our city can survive the continued "government by in-group" we now have, considering that our population is growing fast and that we now have only part-time administration by our elected officials and a part-time approach to the problems of a rising crime rate, drug abuse, urbanization, and corruption in city government.

This is a most critical election. If San Rafael continues its course toward uncontrolled expansion we will soon be living in the kind of urban area most of us live here to avoid: crowded conditions, traffic jams, crime, pollution. The people are more sophisticated than Mr. Bettini apparently believes: they will not sit still for more of the same, when more of the same will clearly ruin the beauty and serenity we want in our community.

TEACHER TENURE LAW

How To Weed Incompetents? Question Embroils Legislators

By ARTHUR YOUNGBERG
California News Alliance

The idea is so simple: an orderly way to dismiss an incompetent employee. In business, government, wherever there are workers and bosses, most organizations have a practical system for discharging an employee who doesn't do the job.

Teachers are different, though. The normal management-employee relationship is distorted by fierce faculty determination for academic freedom; for a legal right not to be fired for arbitrary, capricious or political reasons.

The name of that legal right is "tenure." It has deep roots in the educational system. In California this year tenure is the center of a new public concern over the problems of education.

CHANGES IN TENURE law that will affect teacher dismissals are before the state Legislature now and more bills will be filed by the April 2 deadline.

Under California's education law a teacher has the right to demand a superior court trial when faced with dismissal for cause. School districts and the teacher then face a costly, time-consuming legal process.

A hearing officer would replace the superior court in most tenure law modifications before the legislature this year. Both school districts and teacher organizations support the third party hearing officer concept; but there is a strong conflict over who will make the final determination.

The state Board of Education has recommended giving the hearing officer final authority. Teacher groups concur. The California School Boards Association disagrees.

A tenure reform bill by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Encinitas, proposes a three-person competence panel in addition to the hearing office. School boards would make the final decision only if the panel and the hearing officer disagree.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Import Quota Bill Consigned To Ash Heap By Nixon Action

WASHINGTON — There will be no trade bill out of this Congress. That is the blunt warning delivered by blunt-spoken Rep. Wilbur D. Mills to all and sundry from the White House on down. As chairman of the ways and means committee which initiates trade and tariff legislation, Mills knows what he is talking about.

To say that everybody is unhappy over President Nixon's action in slapping down a voluntary Japanese quota on textiles imported to this country is the height of understatement. No. 1 on the list is Mills himself, who acted as unofficial intermediary for representatives of the Japanese textile industry.

The quota the Japanese agreed to was not so advantageous as the president had hoped to obtain. But since the White House got nowhere with efforts to bridge the gap between the American textile industry and the Japanese, Mills figured he was doing a good turn.

MILLS IS CONVINCED that every effort the White House made fell short. One reason was that the American Textile Manufacturers Institute had been given a veto. With the Nixon 1968 pledge of protection of textiles uppermost, they were not satisfied with any limit the Japanese would accept.

So now with the President's slap-down of the Mills agreement, they have nothing. Total imports of textiles from 1965 through 1970 increased, according to the figures put together by the ways and means staff, by 143 per cent. The increase in 1970 over '68 was 34 per cent, of which Japan accounted for 28.

Under agreement that had Mills' blessing, 1970 was to be the base with an increase limited to five per cent each year for three years. Considering the steep escalation over the past five years, this was considered a fair break.

LAST YEAR the White House persuaded the ways and means chairman to put through a trade bill. It provided quotas not only for textiles but also for shoes, along with a provision known as the "Byrnes basket" after Rep. John W. Byrnes, the ranking Republican on the committee. By a complicated formula the Byrnes basket provided for quotas applied when imports reached a certain level on a wide range of commodities. It could be invoked, according to a study made by the tariff commission, against television, radio and other electronic devices, sewing machines, various electrical gadgets, and perhaps autos.

The bill died in the Senate toward the end of the session. It had caused widespread concern in western Europe with the threat that a trade war would almost certainly follow the imposition of quotas.

"A LIBERAL trade policy . . . is indispensable to our domestic economic health and to a successful U.S. foreign policy," the President said in his state of the world report. ". . . Liberal trade policies are fundamental to our relations with the industrialized nations of Europe, Japan and Canada, our major trading partners . . . Our economic relations with these countries are inseparable from our political and military relations; they are a crucial element in our partnership."

What relevance those words have to the drive to impose a textile quota is hard to see. There has been a lot of speculation about why the President slammed the door with such obvious resentment, one explanation being a revival of the southern strategy. Since the deed is done, it doesn't matter. The president is mad, the Japanese are mad, Mills is mad, the textile manufacturers are mad — and if anyone has been left out it is surely an accident.

Peron's Return Appears Possible In Argentina

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When the Argentine military ousted Juan D. Peron in 1955 it was to abolish dictatorship and restore democracy. Today, after a decade and a half of intermittent military rule interspersed with unstable civilian governments, mounting violence, including political kidnapings and murder, and the rise of a Marxist government in Chile, there is a growing wonder whether Peronism was so bad after all.

Even among the military there are those who would not oppose his return, a thing unthinkable less than a year ago.

PERON CODDLED those he called "the shirtless ones" and even though he and the top echelon among his supporters milked the Argentine treasury of an estimated $700 million, he left behind a reservoir of affection that today continues to control about one-third of the Argentine vote.

At the root of Argentina's problem is an economy which has not kept pace with the expectations of the ethnically European population. To keep up with the standard of living which Argentinians have learned to expect, many work two and three jobs.

But in the big provincial cities outside Buenos Aires, the capital, these jobs are not always obtainable.

IT WAS IN JUNE, 1966, that Lt. Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, dissatisfied with the efforts of an elected civilian government to restore economic stability, took over the government in a bloodless coup. In June, four years later, for similar reasons, and because Ongania had become known as anti-labor, he also was deposed and another army general put in his place.

This was Brig. Gen. Roberto Marcelo Levingston, the man Argentinians ironically call "the unknown soldier."

Ongania had halted inflation and, on the surface at least, given the country a healty economy. But it had been accomplished through rigid suppression of political and trade-union activities, including a freeze on wages and prices.

Under Levingston a new tactic was attempted.

A LITTLE INFLATION, it was decided, wouldn't hurt. Wages were increased and there was a vague promise of free elections in "four or five years."

In Cordoba this week it led to the second general strike of 1971, to looting and burning and to one rioter dead and dozens injured.

With exceptions already noted, most Argentine military men oppose Peron's return, and with good reason since they could become the objects of his revenge should he return to power. But more than they fear Peron, they fear imported communism.

Petalumans Get Chance To Give Views On Future Of City

Petalumans have become a vocal lot in recent years when it comes to telling the city council what it's been doing wrong and what can be done to improve the city. Now residents can put their thoughts into writing and collectively, perhaps, their views will carry more weight.

All residents should receive a questionnaire on the future of Petaluma thorugh the mail today or tomorrow. Some, no doubt, will consider it junk mail and heave it out immediately, but it's hoped others will take a few minutes to think seriously about what they want the future of their city to be and to fill out the form and return it.

The 12 questions have largely been answered at city council meetings in the past year. Most of the opinions have been voiced by East side residents who feel they've been short-changed by the city with crowded schools, a lack of parks, traffic congestion, and generally thoughtless planning.

Either the city council hasn't been truly listening in the past or there's a great deal of doubt tht the opinions heard have been widely shared.

IT CAN BE SAFELY assumed that responses will be heaviest from the critical East-side, but it will be interesting to see if Westsiders perhaps share the same views in regards to the preservation of open space around the city and control over the ultimate size.

Opinions on industrial growth may show the widest divergence between the two sections of town. While the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce has been working hard but unsuccessfully to lure industry, residents have been equally insistent that the council be choosy about what types of industries are permitted. The city staff and council look first at the sewerage requirements of the prospective industry, but residents seem to be looking at the overall environmental effect the industry will have.

The questionnaire may show that Petalumans are willing to pay higher taxes to keep undesirable industry out. Few industries are located in East Petaluma, but residents still complain. The least desirable appear to be the Royal Tallow and Soap Co., which sometimes emits foul odors, and the congested auto wrecking yards on Hopper Street.

THE RESULTS of the survey may only substantiate what the council has been hearing for these many months; but perhaps when the opinion results are presented in black and white, the views will carry greater weight.

Petalumans are tired of seeing expensive reports get shelved to gather dust and the evaluation of opinion forms may well become the council's bible for some time to come.

State Welfare Roll Jumps By 50,000

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Another 48,873 Californians joined the welfare and Medi-Cal rolls last month, swelling the statewide caseload to 2.45 million, the Department of Social Welfare said yesterday.

The department reported nearly 4,000 men were added to the massive Aid to Families with Dependent Children program (AFDC) in February.

In its monthly caseload report, the department said there were 2,451,387 Californians on welfare and eligible for Medi-Cal last month compared with 2,402,553 for the previous month.

Men who joined the AFDC rolls totaled 70,161 last month, compared with 66,189 in January.

The Department of Human Resources Development reported, meantime, that between 6,500 and 7,000 persons each week are using up their unemployment insurance benefits. A worker can receive unemployment insurance for a maximum 39 weeks.

In February, there were 2,177,775 persons receiving state cash grants compared with 2,130,807 in January. At the same time last year, the total was 1,708,190.

Medi-Cal, the state's health care program for the poor, recorded a slight increase in the number of beneficiaries. Medi-Cal has been operating under Reagan administration imposed cost-cutting regulations since December.

In February there were 168,201 Medi-Cal recipierts, an increase of 400 over January. One year ago, they numbered 217,326.

The department said there were 105,411 recipients who received county general relief last month compared with 103,145 in January. They totaled 70,545 in February 1970.

There were 1.61 million persons receiving AFDC cash grants last month; 323,069 receiving aid to the aged; 14,015 receiving aid to the blind; 187,809 receiving aid to the disabled.

County general relief recipients totaled 105,411.

Survey Begun To Gauge Need For Tiburon Crossing

The City of Tiburon and the Reed School District have begun gathering data which they hope will demonstrate the need for pedestrian crossings of busy Tiburon Boulevard.

Jan Whitescarver, a member of the school district's facility and transportation committee, said questionnaires have been sent to parents of each district student.

The questionnaires ask how many children presently walk to school along the former Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, which the city plans to turn into a paved pathway; what the hours of greatest use are; and how many plan to use the path once it is paved.

Results of the questionnaire, Mrs. Whitescarver said, will be used to convince the state Division of Highways that safe pedestrian crossings of Tiburon Boulevard are needed.

Times Sure Are A-Changin' —Even Banks Have Gone Bananas

WASHINGTON — If everybody in the country is becoming schizophrenic, they're entitled to it. Even the banks have gone bananas.

Just a few months ago, because of the tight money situation, it was impossible to get a loan from a bank. In order to attract deposits, they were offering everything from hot water bottles to color television sets if people would just leave their savings in for 90 days.

You can imagine my surprise then, when I turned on the radio the other day and heard a commerical for my bank which said that anyone borrowing more than $500 would get a free fondue cooking set.

I couldn't believe it, so I rushed down to the bank to see my friend Stokesbury, who is a vice president.

"STOKESBURY," I SAID, "what is this about you offering a fondue cooking set if someone borrows $500 or more?"

"It's true," Stokesbury said. "If you don't want a fondue cooking set, we'll give you a wooden salad bowl with an oxboned butter knife."

"But I was here three months ago, pleading with you for a loan of $500 and you threw me out," I said.

"I hope you're not the kind of person who holds a grudge," Stokesbury said. "Here's $500, and to show you there are no hard feelings, I'll loan you another $10,000 at the prime interest rate."

"No dice," I said. "As a matter of fact, I'm thinking of making a deposit."

"OH, NO," cried Stokesbury, "don't make a deposit. Everybody is making deposits. We need people to BORROW money, not to save it."

"I don't understand what's happened in just three months to turn you around," I said.

Stokesbury held his head in his hands. "It's fear. People are afraid of being thrown out of work. If Kellerman on Chestnut Street loses his job, everybody else on Chestnut Street suddenly becomes frightened and says, 'Let's put the money in the bank. We could be next.' No one wants to get into debt any more. How can we have a thriving economy if people SAVE, SAVE, SAVE, SAVE?"

"I'M VERY SYMPATHETIC to your problem, Stokesbury," I said, "And I wish I could help you out by borrowing money, but my wife says we should put something aside for a rainy day."

"You could be dead by the time it rains," Stokesbury shouted at me. "Listen, suppose I make you a token loan of $200, payable at your convenience, and I throw in a washer and dryer. Would you go for it?"

"I don't know."

"What do you want, my blood?" Stokesbury cried. "I haven't made a loan in a week. Help me!" He was down on his knees. "Please, hlep me."

"ALL RIGHT," I said. I'll borrow the $200 but we want the washer, dryer and the fondue cooking set."

"It's yours," said Stokesbury, shoving the $200 in my pocket.

After he helped me load the washer, dryer and fondue set into the car, he grabbed my hand warmly and said, "I'll never forget this."

I turned away so I couldn't cry.

Laos News Lid Irks Journalists

CHICAGO (UPI)—A committee of Sigma Delta Chi, the national professional journalistic society, has criticized the U.S. government for "excessively prolonged" news restrictions on the Allied invasion of Laos.

The SDX Freedom of Information Committee made the criticism in a statement released Sunday.

The committee said, though news blackouts may have been necessary, it became "ridiculous" when the restrictions were extended after foreign news agencies, incuding those in North Vietnam and Communist China, had reported the operation.

Balk Over Consumer Warranties

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon's consumer adviser said today the administration agrees basically with a Senate bill designed to make product warranties more honest, but would prefer that the government not set warranty standards.

Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer, the White House consumer affairs adviser, said in testimony to a Senate Consumers subcommittee the Senate bill, in effect, would set standards that might not be adequate for all products.

The administration has proposed a bill that among other things would require a manufacturer to spell out in simple language what a warranty covered.

The Senate bill went a step further, however, to define warranties as "full" or "partial." A full warranty would meet minimum federal standards as yet not spelled out.

Mrs. Knauer said the administration would prefer to allow the consumer to make a choice between warranties for each individual product.

"We should aim primarily for a close matching of consumer need and buyer offer," she said. "A chrome-plated power can opener with a 'full' warranty for five years will not suit all tastes."

"If the FTC disclosure rules are successful in giving consumers a good, clear understanding of what they are getting in warranty protection, they can as a group be expected to choose from a variety of warranty protections."

The proposed warranty legislation also would limit the use of the terms "warranty" or "guarantee" when the manufacturer actually is saying only what the warranty will not cover; would require language to warn consumers when a manufacturer does not honor implied warranties; and the Federal Trade Commission would have the authority to require additional disclosures in warranties.

Petaluma Mayor Is In Washington, D.C.

Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam left Saturday for a week-long trip to Washington, D.C., to attend a conference and seek federal funds for local projects.

Mrs. Putnam is attending the fifth annual Congressional-City Conference at the Washington Hilton Hotel and also plans to meet with state representatives and governmental agencies about getting funds for dredging of the Petaluma River and construction of a new library.

Stop worrying about tax money. Use Moneycheck.

Today's taxes can give anyone a headache: there is Federal tax, property tax and State tax. But when you have to worry about where the money is going to come from, it can make things worse.

So put your head at ease. Apply for The Bank of California's Moneycheck.

Moneycheck lets you write a tax loan, or any other loan, without having to go through all the red tape usually associated with getting a loan.

Here's how it works: When your Moneycheck account is opened, we set aside a certain amount of money for you. This money (anywhere from $500 to $5,000) is yours to use; however you want, whenever you want, simply by writing a check.

If you write a check for more than your balance, we'll automatically deposit money (up to your available credit) to cover it.

When you use Moneycheck, you'll be billed on a convenient monthly basis along with your regular checking account statement.

Come in to any Bank of California branch and pick up a Moneycheck application. And you'll always have money in the bank.

Dominican College Will Go Coeducational In The Fall

hope they will kill two birds with one stone.

They cite a nationwide trend which is causing Dominican and other women's colleges to lose many highly qualified women students to coeducational institutions.

So by opening the school to boys, they hope to attract not only young men but also more of the best-qualified young women.

The final reason for the decision was that Dominican officials feel there is a need in Marin County for a four-year coeducational college. There is none now.

(The only other schools of higher learning are College of Marin, a two-year institution, and two theological seminaries.)

"Even a private college has a public trust," Sister Samuel said, and we want to serve Marin County."

The change is planned as a gradual step-by-step transformation. Young men will be admitted only as day students in the fall, but if this works out well, a male residence will be found and resident students admitted.

The number of men to be admitted in the fall has not been fixed, "and we don't intend to set one," Sister Samuel said. "We have no idea of how many applications we'll receive."

She smilingly said, "We don't intend to offer any enticements to the boys," explaining that the young men will have to meet the same academic standards as the women and compete on the same basis for scholarships.

She expects that male applicants will be looking for the same type of education that women who attend the college find — primarily liberal arts with a strong emphasis on humanities and arts.

The one stumbling block that has come up in all discussions of making the college coed is physical education.

"We do not expect to field a Rose Bowl team next year," Sister Samuel said. She added, however, that recreational programs for young men will be planned and that Forest Meadows provides an ideal spot for sports.

"We probably will encourage activities in nearby facilities — such as hiking at Point Reyes," she said.

Interestingly, it has been the women students at Dominican who have been most reluctant to admit men undergraduates.

SISTER SAMUEL CONLAN

It isn't that they don't like men and that they don't strongly bemoan the lack of social life at Dominican — the scarcity of dates has become more pronounced since neighboring St. Mary's College, University of San Francisco and Santa Clara have gone coed.

"You can imagine what kind of boys will come here," a senior said at lunch last week when asked why she objected.

Men on campus will not be a complete novelty — Dominican has many male professors and men have been admitted as graduate students for some time. There is one undergraduate male student — a young man in the music department which opened its doors to men last fall.

The graduate students and the professors are "mostly married," one young woman pointed out, so that eligible young men sitting next to the girls in classes will be a change.

Sister Samuel summed up the need for a change by describing the typical reaction of alumnae who are asked of the proposal.

"Oh, you wouldn't do that!" was the usual response of women graduates of the college, Sister Samuel said.

"My next question to them was something like, 'Susie, don't you have a daughter about ready for college? Where is she going?' "

"The response was always a gulp followed by something like, 'Oh, she's going to a co-ed school.' "

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Bills providing unemployment and disability insurance to state workers and others not covered by the benefits were introduced Monday by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco.

MIDWAY'S BOOMS

Those Rumbles? Navy Was Just Showing Off

The Navy has shamefacedly owned up to being responsible for the mysterious loud rumbling booms which frightened West Marin residents Saturday afternoon.

The noise was caused by a demonstration of weapons aboard the Midway, an aircraft carrier, which was out on a "dependents' day cruise," according to Lt. James Jacobsen of the 12th Naval District public information office.

During the cruise the ship's guns were fired and practice bombs dropped in a display for the wives and children of crew members, Lieutenant Jacobsen explained.

"The Midway was 40 miles off the coast — we don't know why the noise was so loud," he added.

The booms sounded "like a piano being moved overhead without coasters," said a Marin birdwatcher who spotted the ship through his binoculars about an hour after the rumblings.

Clerin A. Zumwalt, naturalist at the Audubon Canyon Ranch in Bolinas, said he thought the Midway was "this side of the Farallones" when he saw it.

"She's out at sea now; so you can't holler at her," Lieutenant Jacobsen concluded about the noisy ship.

Strong Quake Hits Norwegian Island

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI)—A comparatively strong earthquake on the Norwegian island of Jan Mayen north of Iceland was recorded today by the Seismological Institute here.

Prof. Markus Baath of the Uppsala Institute said the recording could indicate an eruption of the Beerenberg volcano which has been expected by Norwegian geologists.

The quake occurred at 4:27 a.m. EST and was measured at 5.7 on the Richter scale.

Nine Given Pay Hikes By Board

The Lagunitas School District board last night granted a pay raise averaging 4 per cent to the district's nine non-teaching employees.

Supt. Joseph Amato said some employees were given larger raises than others in order to make the salary schedule more uniform. The raises which average 4 per cent are retroactive to July, he said.

Cost to the district will be about $1,800, Amato said.

The board also voted to pay time-and-a-half for overtime as required by the state education code, Amato said.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

SUBSTITUTES — Granted a raise from $26 to $28 per day to substitute teachers retroactive to March 1.

PLAY AREA — Added a 1,300-square-foot play area to the lease of the art center so that the lot may be sublet to a group of parents for a pre-school area.

INSERVICE TRAINING — Decided to set up April 14 and May 5 sessions at which teachers may discuss school issues in depth.

SCIENCE PROGRAM — Learned that the cost of adding science equipment approved last month will be almost $1,100 with the federal government paying half.

CONSULTANT — Decided to ask the state for the use of a science professor from the University of California for five days to instruct teachers in the use of new science equipment.

UNIFICATION — Voted to oppose a unification plan that would separate the three schools of the Tamalpais High School District.

TAM PLAN — Urged the Tamalpais High School District to delay action on its reorganization plan so that its effects and merits can be catalogued.

Farmers Protest Low Market Prices

BRUSSELS (UPI) —Tens of thousands of European farmers marched through downtown Brussels today to protest low Common Market farm prices. Some of them went on a rampage and hurled eggs and potatoes at shops, tore up street car lines and overturned and set fire to private cars.

RAGU SPAGHETTI SAUCE

"America's Tastiest" Spaghetti Sauce

Sausalitan Nearly 60 Years

By MABELLE SPECKMANN

Mrs. Mary Mancebo, who became 83 on March 7, remembers Sausalito as a near wilderness. This was in the area off Bridgeway behind where the old American Distillery used to stand before it was destroyed to make way for the planned Whiskey Springs Apartments.

MRS. MARY MANCEBO was right in fashion with her plumed hat not long after she came to Sausalito as a bride. She has lived in her present home for 54 years.

One of just three houses in a square mile radius when she moved into it as a bride almost 60 years ago, her little home now overlooks this rubble-strewn site and the industrialized shoreline of Richardson Bay.

Not only the presently common deer and raccoons, but many other wild animals used to roam the area, she remembers.

"Coyotes used to howl at night on those ridges," she said, pointing to the hills above the town," and they used to come down after the chickens.

"Our only transportation was the trains, ferry boats and our Ford car that was probably one of the early model Ts."

"We used to have so many happy times," she sighs. "The Native Daughters had such wonderful parades. We used to march in places as far away as Oakland.

"In those days people helped each other. I used to do a lot of cooking, sewing and washing for people when there was need. Today there are too many people, and the town is mostly for tourists. It's going to end up by driving out all the business people."

Mrs. Mancebo has lived alone in her little house — she keeps it spotlessly clean despite the infirmities of old age — since her husband died in 1951. George Mancebo had his own fruit business in the city, near the Ferry Building.

They had two children. A daughter died when she was five years old, and Fred Mancebo, who worked at the distillery plant until it was closed, lives next door with his wife and commutes 100 miles daily to his job with the American Distilling Co. in Union City, near Fremont.

Each of Fred's daughters, Mrs. Terry Horner of Novato and Mrs. Vincent Brown of Fremont, has three children who make Mrs. Mancebo a proud great grandmother.

Though she hasn't left her home much in the last 10 years, she still does some baking for the Star of the Sea Church affairs, but mostly she sews, embroiders and watches television.

"I love those cowboy movies," she laughs. And she still does a little work in what used to be a lush garden. She is especially proud of a 30-year-old rosebush that is strong and healthy and blooms regularly.

"It's a Roosevelt," she explained," but my favorite flowers are my violets."

Primrose Tea's Tradition Lives

By MOLLY MARIN

Signs will guide the way to the annual Inverness Garden Club Primrose Tea to be held on March 31 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Riley on Silver Hills Road, just beyond Point Reyes Station.

DEBRA CAROLE Gotelli of San Rafael and Allen Frank Wilcox of Novato, who were married on New Year's Eve in Reno, Nev., repeated the vows March 14 in a ceremony at Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Veneita.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gotelli of San Rafael, and Allen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Wilcox of Novato. Debra is a senior at San Rafael High School, and Allen is employed by Caron Plumbing in San Rafael, where the couple live.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents. Sharon Beach of Sebastopol was the maid of honor, and James Wilburn of Novato served as best man. Debra is the sister of Dennis Gotelli of San Rafael, and her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Egidio Lambretti of San Rafael and Mrs. Ida Magnus of Greenbrae.

Allen is the brother of Mrs. Lloyd Luguire of Twain Harte. Mrs. Milton Luxich and Mrs. John Carder of Santa Rosa. Mrs. Evangaline Green of Novato is his grandmother.

JACQUELINE WEXLER, president of Hunter College in New York, has called for understanding of youths' attitude toward the older generation, stating that "when highly placed officials can refer to students as 'garbage' and 'bums,' it is machine-gun flak mowing down a generation."

(UPI Telephoto)

COLLEGE PRESIDENT REACTS

Appalled At Potshots Against Youth

President of New York's Hunter College, Jacqueline Wexler, has termed Mrs. Martha Mitchell's harsh criticism of the academic society "the kind of random firing of a sniper gone amok."

Mrs. Wexler, writing in the current issue of McCall's magazine, said she was "appalled at the number of so-called responsible public officials and otherwise sober citizens whose verbal barrage against young people as a whole, against students and intellectuals as a class, against the entire college community has reached frightening proportions.

"When a cabinet wife can be quoted as saying 'The academic society is responsible for all our troubles in the country . . . They don't know what's going on. They don't have a right to talk,' we are getting the kind of random firing of a sniper gone amok," Mrs. Wexler said.

Mrs. Wexler, a former nun and former president of Webster College in suburban St. Louis, was appointed president of Hunter in 1970. Her calm handling of a student insurrection at Hunter just a month later won praise from police and academic authorities alike.

In her article she called for an understanding of youths' attitude toward the older generation and added:

"When highly placed officials can refer to students as 'garbage' and 'bums,' it is machine-gun flak mowing down a generation.

"WHEN CANDIDATES for political office can be accused, mind you, accused of 'being soft' on students because their campaign oratory does not bristle with hostility toward the young, then we are witnessing a symbolic re-enactment of the murders at Kent State and Jackson State."

MARTHA MITCHELL'S criticism of the academic society has caused Hunter College president and former nun Jacqueline Wexler to term Mrs. Mitchell's remarks "the kind of random firing of a sniper gone amok." Mrs. Mitchell, above, is the wife of the U.S. Attorney General.

(UPI Telephoto)

"For the fear and hatred of children, the cry of 'put these kids in their place,' is making it almost impossible for college administrators to work," she said. "And, on another level, it will estrange us all from our sons and daughters."

Mrs. Wexler stressed that "what we want from our children, what we need from them, and what we may ask of them is not obedience but something I call reverence.

"I TELL young people that reverence is the capacity to accept their fathers' limitations, peculiarities, absurdities . . . each generation can revise and sift, reject most if they will, accept some if they can—but they need to be reverent rather than to renounce.

"There would be something wrong, something signifying stagnation and despair, if the young usually agreed with us, and something wrong, signifying irresponsibility and abdication, if we usually agreed with them," she wrote. "But if we can talk or even shout across the gap, the process of orderly change will be served. It's when we start shouting into the crowd that we have failed."

Rita Hayworth's Love Goddess Look Comes Back In Paris Show

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) —The Rita Hayworth look! Yes, Paris couturiers have trudged their way back to the 1940s for inspiration which means that hair and makeup styles of the same era also are revived.

The look perhaps is best exemplified by Miss Hayworth, Hollywood's "Love Goddess" who in her heyday had every woman sighing for long waving hair, bright red lips and a figure that helped captivate movie audiences and husbands including Orson Welles and the late Ali Khan.

SO MAYBE the designers have been watching the late, late television shows. For the "new" Paris hair and cosmetics shows also feature long red fingernails, that lip rouging a dark red spilling over the upper lip, heavily rouged cheeks and long and very curly hair with a just-out-of-bed look.

To show what's "new," the Union of French Hair Stylists staged a show recently to unveil its 1971 creations, dubbed the "1971 angel," an updated version of the 1939 "angel."

NOW THAT brings up Betty Grable, and if you haven't seen an old film starring Grable, the hair style consists of long frizzy or bubble curls in a halo around the head with a sleek, flat crown like a tiny skull cap.

Twelve models in variations of the "angel" paraded before the assembled news media. Grable's "angel" was totally blonde, but the revival is hair colored in two different tones, Some of the mannequins had dark blonde curls frizzed around their heads while the flat crown was a paler blonde.

In the couturier shows earlier this season, designer Yves St. Laurent went totally back to the 1940s, with clothes that had some of his critics really sharpening their vocabularies.

World War II styles, padded shoulders and all, were shown with mannequins wearing bright makeup and long curly hair, also in two tones. One girl

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She's Running Away Because No Matter What She's In Trouble

DEAR HELEN:
I am in the process of running away from home because no matter what I do I get in trouble.

I split four times before for other reasons. What can I do? — RUNAWAY

DEAR RUNAWAY:
If you comunicate as little to your parents as you did to me, it's no wonder they don't understand or sympathize.

How do you get in trouble? What are the other reasons? Elucidate before you split, and maybe this trip won't be necessary. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
I have this girl who is okay for laughs, but not exactly what I'd like to live with all my life. To illustrate: she thinks Laos is some kind of crawling bug. She's not much better on the housekeeping end either. Doing my laundry the other day she wanted to spin-dry a towel, so she turned to "R" for "wring." And insisted the machine was crazy when she got rinse water.

Now she's got this dumb idea we're engaged. I'm 22, and have a bachelor apartment. She is still in school, though it hasn't helped her mentality any. How do you get a beautiful but brainless female to see that marriage is not what I have in mind? Without getting rid of her entirely? — NOT THAT SERIOUS

DEAR NOT:
Your brainless bombshell may be smarter than you think. "Marriage was not what I had in mind" are famous last words for many an ex-bachelor who couldn't quite make the final break.

Remember, I warned you. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
I am popular in school. All my friends are always visiting each other, but I live in an awful old ugly house. The furniture is shabby too. I'm ashamed, so none of my friends are invited over.

I know you'll say if they're true friends it won't matter, but they have beautiful homes, and I don't want their pity.

Another thing is boy friends. They want to come and visit me but I always have an excuse. I'm too young to date (my folks say), but when I start, how can I keep guys from knowing about my house? Also my father drinks and I never know how he'll act.

How can I stay in my crowd and keep my home life secret? — N.A.

DEAR N.:
If you accept your house and family life as things over which you have no control, your friends will do likewise. But if you try to hide what most already know, they'll see you as a snob...Or else they'll gradually agree with your opinion about your "inferiority."

It's tough, not having the advantages other kids enjoy, but only "shameful" if you make it so. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain-trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

GUESTS TODAY at a luncheon hosted by Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffmire at their Fairfax home were Messrs. and Mmes. Lewis Hart of Sebastopol and Clement F. Souder of San Mateo and Cmdr. (ret.) and Mrs. Clarence Dyer of Lafayette.

All of the men are 1916 graduates of Cornell University, who according to Mr. Hoffmire, keep young by acting like perenniel sophomores.

The couples are all planning to attend the 55th year reunion of the graduation class June 3 through 13 in Ithaca, N.Y. More than 250 members of the class, which originally number 1,700, are planning to attend.

ON THE AGENDA

Boutique And Food Items To Be Sold At Marin Foundation Auction

The fifth annual auction will be held by the Marin Foundation, Friends of Arequipa on Saturday at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

In addition to the auction to begin at noon, boutique and food booths will be open at 10:30 a.m. Auction items may be previewed at that time.

Among the many auction items will be donations of household and miscellaneous articles by the Peter Behrs' from their former Mill Valley home, a large ornate Spanish wrought iron chandelier from the Adolph Sutro mansion in San Francisco and two hand-painted wood decorator panels from the old Glade Room of the St. Francis Hotel.

The Marin Foundation volunteer organization has nine active units throughout Marin County working to help raise money and personally assist in supporting the Marin Foundation group homes for adolescents.

Mrs. Everett Griffin is auction chairman, assisted by Mrs. Aflred Silva. Other chairmen are Mmes. Alvin Haag, donations; Arlo Bentson, props; William Misakian, Acacia Unit; C. D. Ringchop, Baywood Unit; James Clark, Driftwood Unit, Ed Cala, Green Oaks Unit; J. J. PRINCESS GRACE of Monaco, accompanied by her daughter Princess Caroline, caught an airplane from London to their home in Monaco after attending a home exhibition in the English capital. The Monacan monarch is wearing a midi length fur coat and boots, and her daughter's tailored pant suit is double breasted. (UPI Cablephoto)

Being a princess means you can jet off to London to attend a home exhibition and maybe get a few ideas for redecorating the castle then on home to Monaco, as Princess Grace and her daughter Princess Caroline did last week and make news doing it.

It also means, if you are the eldest daughter of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II, and an Olympic riding star says about you, "We are obviously more than casual acquaintances," it makes news around the world as Princess Anne is finding out.

The British riding star, who is 32, is, however, denying a Belgian magazine report that he and the princess are romantically involved, according to UPI. Meade and Anne, a keen horsewoman ride together at Ascot and meet often at horse show competitions around the country. Their last public, social meeting was at a private party in London a few months ago.

Anne is being sent on an extended world tour, and rumor is the trip is to forget Meade, but both he and Buckingham Palace spokesmen deny that the queen and her daughter have disagreed over the friendship and say that is not the trip's purpose.

You don't have to do much to make news if you are a princess. — J. L.

ROYAL RUMORS fly again in London. Although 32-year-old Richard Meade has denied a Belgian magazine report that he and Britain's Princess Anne are romantically involved, the British riding star says they are more than just casual friends. He and Buckingham Palace both deny Anne has "fallen out" with her mother, Queen Elizabeth II, over their friendship and that she is being sent on an extended world tour to forget him. Both are shown in 1970 photos from UPI files.

OLIVIER BORELE, spokesman for the hair stylists, conceded that the new coifs were designed to help business of the 60 member-hairdressers from 36 countries including the United States.

The long straight "hippie" hair currently popular is on the way out because too many girls needed nothing more than a shower and a brush to fix their own, he explained. With the "angel," a woman must go to the beauty salon for a permanent, two tone color and complicated cut of three different lengths.

Cosmeticians also have been watching the old movies. Several companies based in France have decreed that cheeks be rouged lightly, lips painted sharp red with a pointed "bow" for the upper lip. Eyebrows have been just about plucked out of existence, and eye makeup is quieter to provide balance for the red lips.

Paris insists on long pointed nails in wild red colors. The name for this trend—"vamp hands."

Confidence From Course For Deaf

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD

She had learned that even in a silent world, an awkward girl can be transformed into a graceful and polished young woman.

Thirty girls, all with hearing disabilities, spend two hours each week at a charm school. Most of the subjects such as posture, grooming, weight, makeup and wardrobe, are designed to smooth off the rough edges of any other teenage girl. The rest are geared to give these handicapped youngsters confidence in themselves and in their future.

THE CLASS draws girls from eight public schools in Honolulu, including a community college. It was organized by Gail Sykes, auditory specialist for the deaf and hard of hearing at McKinley High School.

Miss Sykes and two instructors at the Sears Roebuck Charm School, which provides the 10-weeks course free, work together in the sessions. Miss Sykes came up with the idea for the classes when a student asked her if there were any place she could learn about modeling.

All of the girls, who range in age from 13 to 20, read lip movements to some extent but Miss Sykes intervenes and explains in sign language when communication of a point is difficult.

Because the girls cannot hear themselves walk, many tend to drag their feet or shuffle. And because they have so little concept of sound, their speech falters and is not always easily understood, Miss Sykes said.

"WE TEACH them how to walk gracefully and project personality through speech," said Miss Sykes. "Some of the girls hardly ever said a word before the course but are talking frequently now.

"For most, it is not until they're teen-agers that the full meaning of deafness hits. They become painfully aware that their handicap keeps them from participating as fully as other youngsters."

One frequent question is whether the girls should tell their dates they are deaf, and if so when.

"We advise them to tell their dates soon, to prevent unncessary embarassment later," said Miss Sykes.

"One thing about deafness ... it's an invisible handicap. You can't see if someone is deaf unless you see the hearing aid."

THE INSTRUCTORS, both professional models, are Rhonda Adams and Candace Ishikawa, but neither had had any experience in teaching charm courses to the deaf.

"This class gets to you more than any other classes," said Miss Adams, "because you see that they care."

Teaching is not easy, however. The instructors said they have to enunciate carefully and Miss Sykes goes over the lessons beforehand with the instructors trying to substitute for difficult words ones the girls will be able to lip read.

Miss Sykes finds the course "tremendously worthwhile." Not only are the girls' steps progressively surer on the charm school runway, but the carryover shows in regular school.

"I notice them sitting and walking like models," said Miss Sykes. "Their confidence and self-esteem have soared."

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

Mrs. Joseph Niell, Parent, Palo Alto, Ca.: Joe had two and a half sessions and the change is absolutely incredible. He has moved to a top reading group, he always gets 100 in his spelling tests, and can handle his social studies assignments which require reading with ease and confidence. But the best change of all is that he now enjoys reading. He even bought two books with his own money.

Mrs. William Weir, Parent, Novato, Ca.: Brad's attitude toward learning has greatly improved as a result of your program. He seems to respond favorably to the individual attention that is your specialty.

To improve your child's reading skills — enroll your child in the Sullivan Reading Center. It's not too late to improve your child's reading performance during this school year.

Your child will have individualized instruction and supervision.

Groups are limited to five students.

Your child will improve at his own rate of understanding.

The Sullivan Reading program has taught over 5,000,000 children to read in schools throughout the United States.

Plan Calls For King's Closing

Another plan for use of school facilities next year —the fourth to date — was tossed into the Sausalito School District's facilities pot last night by board chairman Nathaniel Johnson.

With some apparent reluctance, the board agreed the plan, which calls for kindergarten through fifth grades at Manzanita School in Marin City and grades six through eight at Bayside in Sausalito, should be studied by the administration.

The proposal is the only one made so far which would close Martin Luther King School, the district's largest facility. Other possibilities being studied include all grades in existing classrooms at King and all grades at King, with five portable classrooms added to accommodate the students. Another plan would leave kindergarten at Manzanita or Bayside next year and put the remaining grades at King, with all students at King by 1972.

In addition, Johnson called for a master plan for the district, with "a two or three-year goal that all the communities (served by the district) can identify with."

He stressed the need for a flexible educational program using instruction innovations such as team teaching, on location instruction, individualized programming and computer instruction. He also suggested an approach now being tried in several communities: hiring a firm which takes over operation of the district and makes a money-back guarantee to bring all youngsters up to national standards.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said the district should seriously question the continued use of King, from both educational and financial aspects. He said King's construction makes the school "rigid in terms of an educational program" the many small classrooms at King "hamper many modern approaches to education."

The superintendent went on to say that King, built in 1948, presents "serious maintenance problems which are growing more and more serious as we move along. For example, according to Lindberg, "some of the wood is beginning to rot."

Johnson said his plan could be financed from the sale of the King and Central School properties. He suggested that parents in the district could help — with some expert supervision — to move the portable classrooms which would have to be moved. "This joint effort could bring about an area of unity and cooperation," he added.

Wallace K. Shepherd, director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, said both groups would help implement the plan and that the Department of Housing and Urban Development might be persuaded to provide some funds for the project.

"I don't see Mr. Johnson's plan making it possible for us to cut the budget," trustee Delta Christ said, "and we need very much to cut the budget in the Sausalito School District.

Trustee Robert A. Thompson said it would cost the district $480,000 to replace King on today's market and estimated the entire plan "would involve over three-quarters of a million dollars." He added: "To whom you are going to sell the King site remains a mystery, since the land is zoned for a school."

The proposal, and particularly the idea of a master plan, was endorsed by Trustee Jerry L. Whitcomb. "I'd like to think the Sausalito School District has some kind of future," he said. Whitcomb also told the board members he thought the board would be "sadly disappointed if we think putting all the kids at Martin Luther King School is going to be educationally sound."

JOINS DIALOGUE — Dr. Davis Willis, professor of church history and theology at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, is participating this week in a second of a series of international discussions on Christian unity with Roman Catholic theologians in Cartigny, Switzerland. Dr. Willis is a member of the Reformed (Presbyterian and Congregational) delegation.

Jean Murphy To Give Recital At San Domenico

Soprano Jean Murphy will present a public recital tomorrow as the next program in the San Domenico Music department's alumnae concert series.

The recital will take place at 8 p.m. in the music pavilion on the San Domenico campus in Sleepy Hollow.

Miss Murphy will sing songs by Purcell, Haydn, Bellini, Brahms and Copland. She will be accompanied at the piano by Alden Gilchrist.

The young soprano holds Bachelor of Arts and Master of Music degrees from Dominican College and has studied at the Pius XII Institute in Florence, Italy.

A member of the Adolph Baller Chamber Ensemble and the Dominican College opera workshop, she has appeared in their performances and as soloist with the Winifred Baker chorale. She has also sung at the Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco and in concerts throughout the Bay Area.

Employees Vote To Join Union Branch

The Mill Valley City Council appeared taken aback last night to learn that city employees have voted to join a branch of the AFL-CIO, the first city employee group in Marin to do so.

Councilmen seemed surprised when Victor C. Thuesen, representing the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) informed them that city employees, excluding police and firemen, had voted overwhelmingly on Thursday to join the AFL-CIO unit.

Contract negotiations in the past have been with the Mill Valley Employees Association, which was not affiliated with any national organization.

Thuesen predicted that within five years all city employees in Marin will belong to the union. He said employees in several other Marin cities were close to joining the labor group, but declined to discuss specifics.

Thuesen's first two requests on behalf of the employees — for the union to be recognized by the council as the official bargaining agent and for a meeting with City Mgr. William H. Cunningham — were rebuffed by the council, at least temporarily.

Councilmen said formal recognition should await a conference with City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, who did not attend last night's adjourned session. They also asked Thuesen to submit his request for a meeting in writing, which he said he would do immediately.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke asked Thuesen if selection of the union has been done according to the Mill Valley Employees Association's bylaws. "I want to know why this was accomplished in secret, without telling anyone," he said.

It was done properly, Thuesen said. Ballots were mailed to all employees and police and firemen decided not to join the organization. Of the nonsafety employees, an "overwhelming majority" voted for the union, he said.

Thuesen later declined to disclose the vote, saying it was "an internal matter."

The new organization, representing 41 employees, will be known as the Mill Valley Employees Association, AFSCME.

After the meeting, the labor organizer and a group of city employees gathered outside the city council chambers and discussed possible goals in contract negotiations this year.

Thuesen said the workers are considering asking for a $100 per month across-the-board pay raise for all employees, inclusion of dependents under the health insurance plan, a dental plan, overtime pay or compensatory time for time worked beyond 40 hours per week, and for Mill Valley to join the State Retirement Plan.

Asked whether last year's stormy negotiations between employees and Cunningham prompted affiliation with the union, one woman employee said, "They (the negotiations) weren't nearly stormy enough. All the council did was say, 'we don't have any money. Here, take 35 cents and divide it up.' "

The council, meanwhile, adjourned to closed session to discuss employee negotiations with Cunningham. Mayor George E. Wickham said the closed meeting had been scheduled before the council learned of the employees's vote.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

ELECTION — Moved the date for a $1.8 million capital improvements bond issue from June 22 to June 29 to coincide with a $16.9 million College of Marin bond issue which college trustees may decide on April 1 to put on the ballot to finance north campus construction and other improvements.

SUBDIVISION — Accepted a list of improvements which securities of America will undertake as part of a 156-unit apartment project on Shelter Ridge.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Corte Madera Town Hall to meet with Corte Madera and Larkspur city councilmen on preserving open space on the North Ridge. The next regular meeting will be April 5 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

New Atomic Plants Get PUC Query

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Consumer advocate William M. Bennett Monday asked the State Public Utilities Commission to hold public hearings aimed at halting construction of nuclear power plants on the California coastline.

Bennett said the object of his complaint was to stop such construction until a thorough study has been made of earthquake danger to such atomic energy plants.

He said he also felt there was not enough evidence yet collected as to whether discharges from such plants were safe or unsafe. His complaint mentioned air, land and water contamination as well as thermal pollution "and its effect on the delicate ecological balance of our coastal regions."

In addition, Bennett said, the people of California should be consulted as to whether they want to give up more of their coastline "which is mostly gone now."

The complaint quoted ownership figures for the state coastline as private 660.3 miles; public, 353.5 miles; federal 58.9 miles, for a total of 1,072.7 miles.

The complaint was filed by Consumers Arise Now, an association of law students at Hastings College, and named Pacific Gas & Electric Co. as interested parties. It asked the PUC to set a hearing date within 30 days.

Ross Teachers Ask For Hike In Salary, Benefits

Teachers in the Ross School District last night asked the board for a 7.3 per cent pay scale increase plus improved medical and dental benefits for the 1971-72 school year.

Supt. Thomas A. Anderson said the Ross School District Teachers' Association requested that beginning teachers' salaries be raised from $6,800 to $7,300 a year and that the pay ceiling be pushed up from $13,736 to $14,746.

The district's 27 teachers also asked for a dental insurance plan that would cost the district about $1,295 a year and a paid medical insurance plan for retired teachers, Anderson said.

To instruct Anderson on negotiating these demands with the teachers the board set an adjourned meeting for March 31 at 7:45 p.m., the superintendent said. The board will also take up agenda items not reached last night, Anderson said.

The Ross School District board also:

TAM PLAN — Decided the district would be interested in being included in the planning if the controversial Tamalpais High School District reorganization plan is passed.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of a teacher, Janet Barr, who gave no reason for leaving, Andeson said.

INTELLIGENCE — Heard a report from Dr. Rick Sheviakov, the school psychologist, that pupils in grades five to eight scored 79 per cent above what was expected on an achievement test and that pupils in grades three and six had average IQs of 111 and 112.

Malnutrition

MANILA (UPI)—Nearly half of Manila's elementary school pupils are classed as "severely undernourished." A health department survey showed 43 per cent weighed less than two-thirds of the normal weight for their ages. Nearly all the others were undernourished to some degree.

Lyon Will Remain Until Term Expires

Trustee Robert R. Lyon will remain on the Sausalito School District Board until his present term expires June 30 and will not resign from the board this month to move to Hawaii.

Lyon was scheduled to leave Sausalito to open an office for his firm in Hawaii. But he said the company, which administers insurance programs for large corporations, decided opportunities were "too limited" to warrant the expansion. He is employed as Northern California manager for Employers Self-Insurance Service in San Francisco.

He was elected to the board in September to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of James E. Muldoon. His seat, and that of Delta Christ, will be up for election April 20, but the newly-elected trustees will not be seated until July 1.

Lyon told the board last night he decided not to run next month for a full term because of the prospect of the Hawaiian job.

Benefit Concert By Earl Hines

Earl 'Fatha' Hines, a jazz pianist for 40 years, will perform three concerts Thursday through Saturday aboard the historic sailing ship Balclutha berthed at Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco.

The concerts, which will benefit the San Francisco Maritime Museum Association, will begin at 9 p.m. and continue to 1 a.m.

The Sausalito School District Board Also:

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of three teachers: Barbara Hendrickson, kindergarten teacher; Florence G. Rains, who is retiring at the end of this year after 26 years in the district, and Earline Murray, who is moving to Palo Alto.

COUNTY SHARE — Passed a resolution asking the county of Marin for in lieu tax assistance to help the district educate the 170 students who attend district schools from public housing in Marin City since that housing provides no tax revenue.

MEETING — Because the superintendent and chairman will be gone April 12, scheduled the board's next regular meeting for Thursday, April 15. Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg will be in Menlo Park that day as part of a five-man accreditation committee evaluation instruction program at Menlo School, a private school that is part of Menlo College.

CLOSED SESSION — Met in closed session for about one-half hour to discuss charges against an employee, but took no action after the meeting.

APPRAISALS — Asked Lindberg to obtain appraisals of the district's four school sites and of excess equipment which the district may wish to sell.

BUDGET — Asked Lindberg to prepare a preliminary budget for 1971-72 which shows the relative costs of the four proposals for facilities use next year and call a budget session when the studies have been completed.

SALARIES — Turned down a request from the Sausalito District Teachers Association Credentialed Employees Council for a 3 per cent increase in the district's salary schedules for teachers. Council chairman James T. Toliver Jr. pointed out the board has tentatively approved an 11.3 per cent increase in principals' salary schedules and a 15 per cent increase for the superintendent's salary.

COMPLAINT — Heard Dee Schilling object to a proposal by trustee Robert A. Thompson that persons disrupting board meetings be arrested as midemeanants. Mrs. Schilling said the board's riding "roughshod over the dignity and desires of the majority of the district's parents and children" was more disruptive and obscene than action or profanity on the part of persons attending board meetings.

Fight Against All War Toys

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman John L. Burton has resumed his war against toys relating to war.

The San Francisco Democrat Monday proposed a bill requiring that such toys as well as those depicting violence and death be labeled: "May be harmful to children."

Burton said that, since he first introduced the bill in 1967, some toy makers have "made a concerted effort" to curb war and violent toys.

"I am convinced that toys which make war, death and violence attractive to youngsters can only have an adverse effect on the sense of values they will develop," he said.

Water Panel Due Big Trees Lease

The Marin Municipal Water District board will reconsider its revocation of a lease to the Big Trees hunting camp at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the district office in Corte Madera.

The board cancelled a five-year lease for the camp in November, but decided to reconsider in February after two members of the camp charged the water district broke faith.

Also set for discussion is a proposal to change fishing fees to $1 per car instead of a flat $5 for a license.

Use of the former corporation yard at Second Street and Grand Avenue in San Rafael and the sale of bonds to pay for construction this year also are set for discussion.

Freeway Policy

PATRIOTISM OR PRANK

Karyn Stone, a tenth grader at Terra Linda High School, studies chemistry on the American flag. The sudden appearance of the flag on 13 benches in the school amphitheater Monday left school officials wondering who did it and why. Whether the art work will remain along with the more conventional Old Glory on the flagpole had not been decided today.

Bedroom Fire Kills Man, 79

Neighbors called in alarms at 6:01 a.m. and fire department spokesmen said flames were pouring from the window of the front bedroom as they arrived.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said Weightman, who had lived in the home for one month, had apparently been smoking in bed. His body was found on the bedroom floor. Johansen said Weightman had been suffering from emphysema, but that the cause of death was not yet known.

Officials said fire damage was confined to the bedroom area, but that smoke damage was extensive throughout the house. The home is owned by Weightman's daughter, Dorothy, 281 King Road, Petaluma.

Tam Board Told Staff Changes Not Negotiable

The Tamalpais High School District board, meeting in closed session with its legal counsel, last night was told that some parts of the district's reorganization plan "may be" negotiable but not that part dealing with staff changes.

Edward Neumeier, administrative assistant, said today the board's closed session came in response to a letter from the teachers' organizations stating the plan legally was subject to negotiation.

Neumeier said Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel, told the board "staff reorganization is not negotiable but it may be that some other aspects of the plan are."

The closed session followed a request from Philip H. Pease, president of the Tamalpais District Teachers' Association, that the board discuss the plan under the "meet and confer" provisions of the state's Winton Act which governs school negotiations.

Pease said today he told the board if it continued with its position that the plan was not negotiable the matter may wind up in court.

He said board president David D. Ring said the board's position was that it was not legally necessary for it to negotiate the plan with teachers.

Since the plan was unveiled to the public March 1, the board's negotiating team has met with teachers three times, Neumeier said. However, parties only have been discussing whether the plan is negotiable, he said.

Teachers maintain they have a right to participate in developing the reorganization plan. That right, they claim, is outlined in the education Democracy Document adopted as policy by the board in negotiations last year.

Those sections of the plan subject to negotiation deal mainly with the method to be used in developing new programs and how the plan should be carried out, Neumeier said.

He added that the reorganization proposal already includes teacher participation in such planning.

However, how the superintendent juggles his own staff, including the school principals, is not a matter to be considered by the teachers, he said.

30 Days' Jail For Bad Check

David Lyle Boese, 22, of Larkspur, was sentenced to 30 days in Marin County Jail yesterday for passing a bad check.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court also ordered Boese to pay $738 restitution and placed him on probation for three years.

Boese earlier had admitted that he wrote a bad check for $354 to the Ross Automotive Service on Sept. 12, 1969.

The other $384 restitution ordered by Judge Gardiner was for bad checks for which no charges were filed against Boese.

Restitution Of $20,000 Is Ordered

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—A Ross resident, who pleaded guilty to embezzling $20,000 from a San Francisco millionaire's accounts, has been given a suspended federal prison sentence and ordered to make restitution.

Thomas Michael Murphy, 61, of 1 Camino Bueno, was sentenced yesterday by Federal District Court Judge George B. Harris. In addition to the suspended three-year sentence and an order to begin making restitution within six months, Murphy was placed on five years' probation.

Murphy was indicted by a federal grand jury last Dec. 9 on two counts of embezzling nearly $27,000 from the savings accounts of Norva Boas of San Francisco during 1967 and 1969, while he was an assistant cashier in a San Fancisco branch of the Wells Fargo bank. Murphy was a veteran of 42 years with the bank.

Change In Rohnert Flood Work Sought

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Paul Golis, original developer of Rohnert Park, yesterday asked the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to change plans for flood control work in the city.

Golis told the board that proposed plans for a flood control channel between Highway 101 and Commerce Boulevard should be delayed. He said a higher priority should be placed on drainage work in the golf course area and at the Wilford Avenue overpass of Highway 101.

Gordon Miller, director of the Sonoma County Water Agency, said the proposed project had been approved by the Rohnert Park City Council as well as the Water District Advisory board. He said the other two projects mentioned by Golis as more important were scheduled for the 1971-72 fiscal year.

The board said it would take Golis's request under consideration.

In other action, supervisors called for a tougher gaming ordinance that would strengthen county control over legalized gambling.

The board said the new ordinance should reduce the number of gaming permits one person may hold as well as to increase the $150 initial permit fee and the $50 annual renewal fee.

The board said that $33,331 in revenue has been taken in since gaming was authorized in 1965. The board said there are presently 104 licensed card rooms and 229 licensed card dealers in the county.

Special Hub School Wins Nod, 3-2

The proposed "school-within-a-school" project at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo narrowly won approval last night from a budget conscious Tamalpais High School District board.

According to Edward Neumeier, administrative assistant, the proposal squeaked through with a 3 to 2 vote — trustees Frank L. Miller and David D. Ring against.

Neumeier said the two trustees voiced objection to approving the $20,000 program before hearing fiscal 1971-72 budget proposals.

The new program, which was supported by Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins, will provide a separate building for 125 students at the San Anselmo campus so students can pursue special interests.

The new program, which will include all four class grades, will be handled by six teachers using the team-teaching concept to interrelate subjects of interest to students.

Immediately after the close vote approving the project, the board unanimously approved another $20,000 project — a social studies resource center at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley.

Neumeier said the resource center will have a full-time instructor who will aid students in independent social studies research.

Both Redwood and Sir Francis Drake high schools already have such centers, he said.

The Tamalpais High School District also:

GRADUATION — Set dates for graduation ceremonies at two of the district's three schools. Sir Francis Drake will hold its ceremonies June 11 at 8:30 p.m. at the school's gym and Tamalpais will hold its June 9 at 7 p.m. at the school's Mead Theater. Redwood, which hopes to use the Mount Tamalpais Mountain Theater, did not have a date set.

SETTLEMENT — Agreed to settle for a $10,250 penalty fee payment from Speedway Corp. for late installation of portable buildings at Sir Francis Drake and San Andreas high schools in 1969.

LAND — Authorized the superintendent to investigate acquisition of property currently housing the district's continuation school. The property is near Redwood High School in Larkspur.

Additional Outlay For Maintenance Of Grounds

The Kentfield School District board last night allocated an additional $125 a month to maintenence of the grounds at the district's four schools.

Barbara S. Ruzicka, secretary to Supt. Anthony G. Bacich, said the monthly payment to Forster and Kroeger of Corte Madera was raised from about $800 to $950 because of extensive additions to the landscaping at Adeline E. Kent Elementary School.

The three-year contract has two-and-a-half years to run, she said.

The Kentfield School District board also:

BUDGET — Put off any significant action on the proposed 1971-72 budget until after the school board election April 20.

BALL FIELDS — Granted use of baseball fields at Kent and Wolfe Grade schools to the Little League and approved the erection of a temporary food stand at Wolfe Grade.

SHCOOL YEAR — Approved a school year of 178 school days beginning Sept. 13.

GIFT — Accepted the gift of a television set from Robert F. Ohrenschall of 178 Vista Grande, Greenbrae.

RETIREMENT — Accepted the resignation of Mary Ellen Robertson, a district teacher for 15 years who is retiring.

Riding Instruction Films Planned

Three riding instruction films, prepared by the American Horse Show Association, will be shown for Marin horsemen at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Circle V Stables on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax.

The films are entitled: "Basic Principles of Hunter Seat Equitation," "Showing and Judging Hunters," and "Basic Principles of Stock Seat Equitation."

HAZEL

"If you don't see it in stock, we'd be happy to order it for you."

Hearing Delayed On Transit Plan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A special hearing on the Golden Gate Bridge District's long-range transit plan, scheduled yesterday by the Senate Public Utilities and Corporations Committee, was postponed to next month because of delays in completing final writing of the plan.

The date of the hearing will be announced, a committee spokesman said. The plan calls for a $301 million bus rapid transit system using tunnels in San Francisco and a second deck on the bridge.

WHO'S BUILDING THIS ANYWAY?

Reds Push Viets, Ambush U.S. Unit

SAIGON (UPI) —The South Vietnamese incursion into Laos neared its end today in a blaze of rearguard action and military sources said the withdrawal may be completed by Wednesday. The Communists increased pressure inside South Vietnam, attacking Khe Sanh and ambushing a U.S. armored column three times.

The Communists hit the U.S. helicopter base of Khe Sanh with 200 rounds of mortars and then sent 40 sappers into the camp itself to blow up American helicopters. Two choppers were destroyed in a battle in which 20 of the commandos were killed and three Americans died and 13 were wounded.

A U.S. armored column pushing westward toward the Laotian border along Route 9 required two hours and a half today to travel a seven-mile stretch of the road past the skeletons of burned out and shot up armored vehicles littering the roadside. They were ambushed three times and the lead tank was destroyed by a mine, killing one American and wounding four.

American spokesmen said eight Americans were killed in the fighting at Khe Sanh and in other attacks in the Route 9 area.

As the Americans moved toward the border to salvage a self-propelled eight-inch howitzer and its ammunition they passed 500 South Vietnamese paratroopers and armored personnel carriers returning to Khe Sanh.

Military sources said the original force of 24,000 South Vietnamese in Laos had dipped to less than 7,000 and they were expected to be out by Wednesday night. They evacuated artillery base Bravo four miles west of the border and have only two more bases left in Laos, the farthest eight miles from the border.

The withdrawing troops were reported under steady harassment by Communist gunners along Route 9 despite deadly strikes by American Phantom jets and Cobra helicopter gunships. The Communists Monday were reported to have brought a force of tanks as close as seven miles to the border — within range of U. S. artillery — but there was no word on their actions today.

The U. S. Command disclosed that Communist missile fire knocked an American jet fighter-bomber from the skies over North Vietnam for the first time in more than 37 months, but said the two crewmen were rescued after a tense night in enemy territory.

The crewmen were identified as Maj. Robert D. Priest, 38, Victorville, Calif., and Maj. Robert Cubberly, 33, Bowling Green, Ohio. Their $2.4 million F4 Phantom jet was the first American plane shot down by surface-to-air (SAM) missiles over the north since Feb. 14, 1968, the U.S. Command said.

The aircraft was participating in Monday's second day of "protective reaction" strikes over North Vietnam in retaliation for antiaircraft fire against U.S. planes hitting the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in Laos and unarmed reconnaissance jets flying over North Vietnam itself.

Priest and Cubberly were lifted out of jungles near coastal Dong Hoi, about 50 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) border, by Air Force HH53 Super Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopters early today.

Military sources said the rescue was accomplished with no groundfire, an indication the Communists were not aware the two airmen were on the ground.

The U.S. Command also disclosed the loss of an Air Force F100 Subersabre jet to antiaircraft fire over the southern panhandle of Laos Monday. Military sources said the aircraft "blew up in the air" but the pilot was officially listed as missing in action.

The aircraft apparently was hit by groundfire protecting a column of 21 North Vietnamese tanks moving east on Highway 9, field reports said.

U.S. spokesmen also reported that two Army UH1 helicopters were shot down Monday afternoon deep in the Mekong Delta 150 miles southwest of Saigon, wounding four of the crewmen. A delayed report said a Huey chopper was downed in Laos on Sunday and that three men aboard were wounded.

At least 88 U.S. helicopters have been destroyed in support of the 44-day-old South Vietnamese operation in Laos, records showed, at a cost to the United States of 61 men killed, 78 wounded and 24 missing.

Military spokesmen said the attack on Khe Sanh today was the eighth consecutive day of attacks against the desolate outpost, which was abandoned after a 77-day seige in early 1968.

In Phnom Penh, Cambodian High Command said Communists kidnapped 65 villagers and executed five of them in a small village in the southwest.

High Command spokesman Lt. Col. Am Rong said the incident occurred "recently" in the Viet Cong controlled village of Angkor Chey about 49 miles south southwest of Phnom Penh.

He said five of the 65, which included women, children and old men, were killed "after being charged with not collaborating with the North Vietnamese and breaking North Vietnamese rules which say not to go into areas controlled by our forces."

Am Rong said "this happens not only in this area but also in other provinces."

New York Seeks Ban On Phosphates

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —All detergents containing phosphates would be banned from New York state under a measure sent to the Legislature Monday by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The measure would restrict detergents to an 8 per cent phosphate level after Jan. 1, 1972, then ban the additive after June 1, 1973.

Varda Wills Estate To Three

In a will filed yesterday for probate in Marin Superior Court, Varda directed that his paintings, collages and other works of art be divided among his daughter, Vagadu Aurelius, 24, of Sacramento; former wife, Virginia Barclay of Alameda, and his friend, Jacqueline McFarland of Sausalito.

In the will, dated July 22, 1965, the grand old man of art left any sailboats he owned to Mrs. Barclay, and directed his interest in the ferryboat Vallejo, as well as the rest of his estate, be divided between Mrs. Aurelius and Miss McFarland.

In a petition for probate filed by Mrs. Aurelius, Varda's estate was estimated to consist of personal property valued at about $10,000.

The will said the artist had another child, Domenica, with whom he had not communicated for many years and to whom he left nothing.

Mrs. Aurelius's petition said Domenica, 50, lives in England.

Pool Hikes In Rohnert Park Eyed

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission agreed last night that pool rates for nonresidents should be increased.

Commission chairman Ronald E. Rasmussen said the plan would increase family membership rates from $35 to $40 per year for nonresidents of the city.

He said Recreation Director James Pekkain and City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan had recommended the increase also be applied to city residents, but the commission disagreed. The commission did, however, agree that pool rental rates be increased from $10 to $15.

The commission also asked Pekkain to look into the possibility of sponsoring judo classes for children aged 6 through 18. The Marin School of Self Defense has offered to instruct the class, Rasmussen said.

2 Arson Attempts At Petaluma Site

Two fires were deliberately set yesterday in a home under construction in Petaluma, police reported.

Pauline Key, 3440 Skillman Lane, said she went to her new home under construction at 24 La Cresta Drive at 4:30 p.m. and found a cardboard box on fire in the utility room. After extinguishing that, Mrs. Key said she found a propane torch burning in a shower. Minor damage was reported to the shower wall. Police said that paint thinner had also been found around the house.

Calley Team Upset By Jury Activities

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)— Lt. William L. Calley's defense attorneys complained bitterly today that his murder court-martial jury was "wining and dining" and worrying about paychecks and laundry when it should be buckled down in deliberation "with a life at stake."

The military judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, replied that the six officers on the jury were supposed to relax when they returned after deliberation hours to the officers quarters in which they are sequestered.

"It seems to me that they should deliberate when they are fresh enough so they can assimilate," Kennedy told George W. Latimer, Calley's chief counsel.

Latimer's objections came when he introduced in evidence a clipping from today's Atlanta Constitution headlined "Verdict A Week Off?" The story, from Ft. Benning, said it had been learned the jury, which rounded out a week of deliberation today, had requested a one-week supply of clean clothing and had asked that someone look after paychecks, which are due March 31.

The article pointed out that it was the longest court-martial deliberation in American history.

A great deal of the jury's time in recent days has been taken up in re-reading of testimony that was presented by the prosecution in early December. Today, they heard the completion of testimony by James J. Dursi, last of four major government witnesses whose testimony it had asked for.

The newspaper article said that the jury had watched the Glen Campbell and Ed Sullivan shows on television Sunday night. And it added that before retiring, two jurors had a beer, two sipped bourbons, one had Scotch and the foreman had a soft drink.

Latimer had protested successfully Saturday against plans for the jury to go to church Sunday morning. Instead, the judge sent an Army chaplain for a brief service in their quarters.

Latimer remarked he also had read the jury took time out to get haircuts.

"Something is leaking out of the jury room," Latimer said. "They are watching television and wining and dining. I think that's a disgrace when they're supposed to be weighing the life of an individual."

Calley, 27, is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese villagers at My Lai three years and seven days ago. In six days, the jury has deliberated 34 hours and 26 minutes.

"I believe they should be put on a proper scheduled and your honor should take it on yourself to do so," Latimer said. "No information should be passed out—particularly to newspapers."

Capt. John P. Partin, a prosecutor, said he agreed information to newsmen should be limited but added: "We didn't work from 10 to 10 each day during the trial. We had some breaks. We certainly could watch television at night. I can see nothing wrong with that."

Latimer, 70, replied that he had worked 18 hours a day for almost seven days a week during the trial.

"This is not a siesta," Latimer said. "In my experience I've never known a jury that was not required to work more than seven or eight hours. They're supposed to deliberate and they're out wining and dining themselves."

Marcuse In Denial Of Job Report

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Marxist philosopher Herbert Marcuse has denied he would hire former student Angela Davis if she were freed from jail on bail.

Marcuse said Monday in a letter to the University of California at San Diego chancellor that he would continue to guide her work toward a doctorate in philosophy. He could not hire her or anyone else as a university employe because he is retired, but he could hire her with private funds.

"The truth," he said, "is that I signed, at the request of Miss Davis' attorneys, an affidavit to the effect that I would continue to supervise Miss Davis' work on her thesis if she should be released on bail."

Miss Davis was a graduate student under Marcuse at UCSD. Both have admitted Marxist activities. She is charged with conspiracy, murder and kidnap in connection with the Aug. 7 Marin County courthouse shooting in which a judge and three other persons were killed during an escape attempt.

Her attorneys said Sunday that Marcuse had offered to hire her if she were released on bail.

Boyle Park Pool Site Out; School Is Liked

There's not enough room at Boyle Park for a swimming pool but the pool can be built at the Mill Valley Middle School at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue, the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission declared last night.

Not only would Middle School students benefit from the pool, commissioners said, but they would be able to use the showers the school district can't afford to install.

Parks and Recreation Director Don L. Dimitratos said commissioners decided that limited space at Boyle Park on East Blithedale Avenue prevents location of the pool there. The only other possible sites, they said, are the Middle School and the small craft harbor.

Dimitrator said commissioners felt the school district could benefit from a pool at the Middle School since the district has no money at present to build showers for the gymnasium. A joint use of these facilities could benefit both swimmers and students.

The commission recommendation now goes to the city council, where councilmen will decide whether to approach the school district board formally on the pool school site.

Strawberry Home Hit By A Large Fire

Fire broke out in a Strawberry residence last night, forcing two occupants to flee and causing extensive damage to the living room and furnishings and smoke damage to the rest of the house.

Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. of the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire Department said the blaze started at 11:57 p.m. at the home of H. H. Harrison, 132 Richardson Drive.

Harrison and his wife awoke to find the house full of smoke and escaped to a neighbor's house, where they called firemen.

Heynen said three pieces of fire equipment and 19 men brought the blaze under control in 15 minutes but spent almost two hours mopping up.

He was unable to estimate the dollar amount of damage, but said the living room was destroyed and "the inside of the rest of the house was black from the smoke and heat."

The cause of the fire was unknown.

Dixie Salaries On Agenda

Dixie School District trustees will consider teacher salary proposals at their 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow in the administration office at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

The salary request of the Dixie Teachers Association presented to the trustees March 10 asked for pay raises averaging 10 to 11 per cent for the 1971-72 school year. The cost was estimated at $284,860.

The board's Citizen's Finance Advisory Group, which reviewed the salary proposal last week, is expected to make recommendations about the request.

Controversy Again Drops 81-Lot Plan

The Novato Planning Commission last night rejected Sono-Marin Builders' latest map for an 81-lot subdivision in Marin Highlands, previous plans having drawn neighborhood protest.

The vote was 5-2 with Commissioners Paul Oatis and Ben H. Edwards dissenting.

The original plan for cluster housing at Oaks Unit 2, south of Vineyard Road and west of Sutro Avenue, was killed when neighboring residents protested tree cutting and leveling of hills.

The new map was drawn by the firm after meeting with the Marin Highland Homeowners Association and the North Marin Chapter, Marin Conservation League.

The commission also scheduled a hearing at 8 p.m. April 26 to consider amendments to the Marin Highlands Master plan.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

WESTERN OAKS — Approved a tentative map of Western Oaks Village, Unit Two, submitted by Western Hosts Inc., for 90 townhouse units on eight acres, west of Highway 101, south of the end of Redwood Boulevard.

NEW FEES — Set April 26 at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on a proposed boost in filing fees for use permits, variances, plan review subdivisions, master plans, and appeals after a staff report that fees charged by the city were below the average of those charged by similiar cities in the Bay Area.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday for a special meeting to consider recommending a "bedroom tax" on residential development to provide funds for park acquisition and development.

Bus Upkeep Site On Span Agenda

Selection of a bus maintenance terminal site in Marin will be considered by the Golden Gate Bridge District's transportation committee at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in toll plaza offices.

The terminal will be the base for the district's $9.3 million system of up to 152 commuter buses. The district put out bid specifications last week on the fleet, and the system is supposed to be in operation by December.

Also on the agenda is Harbor Carriers' offer to rent the district a second ferry for the Sausalito service.

The building and operating committee will meet first at 9 a.m. to consider a $275,000 contract to complete engineering on the toll plaza modernization project and a $33,000 estimate to recondition and install a $5,000 float for docking at the San Francisco Ferry Building.

The finance-auditing committee will meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

The regular meeting of the full board of directors will follow at 10 a.m.

Blocking Of McColl To Panel Is Made

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A Republican legislator wants to block the Senate confirmation of former Stanford football All-American William McColl to the State Colleges Board of Trustees.

Sen. H. L. Richardson said Monday that Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointment would give McColl, a West Covina orthopedic surgeon, an opportunity to launch a political campaign "against a conservative congressman."

The Arcadia lawmaker said McColl told him he intended in 1972 to challenge GOP Rep. John Rousselot. Rousselot won his seat last year after defeating McColl in the Republican primary.

Mount Tam May Be Site Of Senior Ceremony

State park officials in Marin will recommend approval for use of The Mount Tamalpais Mountain Theater as graduation site for Redwood High School's senior class.

Robert Crawford, an official at the Marin Area headquarters in Lagunitas, said yesterday that school officials at a meeting last week answered some reservations he had about the proposal.

"I've still got a few people to convince," he said," but right now its a 'go' situation."

Students last week had suggested using the theater so more spectators could be accomodated than in the school's gymnasium.

Crawford said much planning remains as both he and school administrators are worried by the mountain's winding roads and control of access to the outdoor theater.

Hub Youth Hurt In Car Crash

An 18-year-old San Anselmo youth suffered minor injuries when his car struck another at Fourth Street and Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Hal P. McDaniel III, of 79 Ridge Road, was driving eastbound on Fourth Street when his car hit another car driven by Mary Ann Ramos, 28, of 441 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo.

The impact forced Mrs. Ramos' car into another driven by Lillian Chiappari, 76, of 44 Corte Encanto, Greenbrae. Neither woman was injured. Plice said McDaniel was to be treated by his own physician.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If You're Prudent, You Will Have Bad Break Trick

Don't take it as a personal insult if a long suit fails to break favorably. The odds are only 2-to-1 that five missing cards will be divided as evenly as possible (three with one opponent and the other two with the other opponent). These are good odds, but you should expect the bad break about once in three starts. If you are a prudent player, you will have something up your sleeve to offset the bad break.

DUMMY TRICK

Declarer took the first trick with dummy's king of spades, led a club to the king and then returned a club to dummy's ace. West discarded a diamond, and South began to wear a hurt look. Fate was about to slip him a mickey, South suspected.

Declarer cashed dummy's queen of clubs, and West discarded a heart, masking his uneasiness. This discard made it possible for South to take the ace of hearts and then lead a low heart to set up the rest of the suit.

SAD STORY

The rest was a sad story. South held up the ace of spades, but East cashed the jack of clubs and led another spade. South had to give up another heart, and East led a spade to defeat the contract.

While South moans about his hard luck, let's see how he should play the hand. South need not play for the clubs at his first opportunity. He should guard against a bad club break by taking the top diamonds and leading a diamond toward dummy.

DIAMOND TRICK

This will produce a diamond trick if the suit breaks 3-3 or if East has two unguarded diamond honors. In the actual hand, dummy's nine of diamonds would become declarer's ninth trick. If the diamonds don't break well, South can later try the clubs. Playing for two suits is better than playing for only one.

Population-Land Use On Smog Board List

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Controls on land use to limit air pollution by limiting population growth will be discussed by Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors at 10 a.m. tomorrow in district offices, 939 Ellis Street.

Also on the agenda of the "workshop" meeting are discussion of requiring permits from sources of air contamination and of a program of determining the pollution effects of proposed freeway routes.

Signs Of Athletic Revolution In High School Sports

By DAVID EINSTEIN

The signs of athletic revolution are clear. They are gathering, their direction and power are becoming plain. And last week, in a quiet but significant way, the new philosophy claimed a victory.

At Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, the administration reluctantly, but with little choice, closed down the swimming program because only six boys were out for the team.

But there is no victory in that, even for those who insist that sports are dehumanizing, capitalistic ploys that should be exchanged for socialisms. More appropriately, the event signaled a loss on the part of the school. For it through sports that schools have over the years purported to teach the values of manhood and, in effect, the Tam swimmers said, the hell with your values.

Bob Casci, an amateur athletic union swimming coach in Mill Valley for the past 11 years and the man who got caught in the bind at Tam, sees the problem this way: "There is a decreasing emphasis on athletics in Southern Marin. The whole concept of competition is bad news here. The kids are getting this in their classes at school. And the kids and the parents take a good deal of pride in the fact that Mill Valley is unique in this respect. 'We're leading the way for the future of athletics,' they say."

But the generation now at Tam seems instead to be leading the way out of athletics. The school paper, for instance, used to devote its entire back page to sports. Now only a quarter of that space is given, and grudgingly, while the rest goes to arts and crafts. And, for another example, pep rallies, once the high point of the week during football and basketball season, have disappeared. Tam hasn't had one in years.

When Casci, who coached last year at Marin Catholic High, moved to Tam this spring (according to school officials, no one on the Tam faculty competent or willing could be found to take the job), he was faced with what in sports is termed a "rebuilding year." Nearly all of the 1970 team that finished 12-2 won-lost in the Marin County Athletic League had been graduated, and it was obvious that a lot of work would be needed to make a winner out of the available material.

The kids, however, had become accustomed to swimming under very little pressure, (partly because they were so good, partly because of the moderate approach of coach Conrad Hoetger), and they didn't like what they saw.

"It was obvious it was going to be a rebuilding year," says Casci "and the kids' idea was, 'We were a winner last year and we're definitely going to be a loser this year. So who needs it?"

Why did they quit, instead of applying themselves to the task at hand? Casci's answer takes in not only athletics, but today's attitudes in general.

"In general, kids are not really forced by their parents to do anything. So when a situation arises where things have to be done a certain way in order to get the kind of improvement required, they fold."

Casci goes on to suggest that, "Since children are protected from competition, all kinds of problems arise when it comes time for them to compete for a job." In other words, they can't hack it in our free enterprise system, whose foundation is competition.

There is another way of looking at it, however, based on the presumption that, rather than having no competition, kids get too much of it forced on them, beginning with Little League and Pop Warner football and running right through high school. The rebellion, then, seems not against competition, but against too much artificial competition not of their own making.

That explanation would bear out what Casci himself admits — that the kids who might have gone out for swimming have turned to individual expression in athletics. The athletes play by themselves, or in small groups, and in some cases even form their own teams. There was a softball team composed of Tam students last year known simply as "The Joe Magnolia Liberation Front," which played weekend games against out-of-work bass players, and anyone else they could find.

"If you're playing a sport to win, it's going to require structure and the ability to take coaching. If that's absent, then in my opinion you're doomed to failure," says Casci. "If you can derive pleasure from trying in an organized way to improve yourself, you can expect to win."

Casci, as most coaches do, places the emphasis on winning. The generation which abandoned the swimming program at Tam doesn't, and that is the basic, irreconcilable difference. The question is, which is better — playing to win, or playing for fun? The kids at Tam gave their answer, and coaches around the county should take note. Because a coach can demand obedience, and impose rules of conduct and appearance, and dish out discipline. But if he doesn't have a team, he's nowhere.

Shock And Anger At Redwood High

I know a gang of high school swimmers who'd like to dunk me. Or perhaps feed me to the sharks.

Boy, are they mad! And I get seasick just going to sleep on my water bed. Why, I even wear water wings on my jammies. Also, I have water horses monogrammed on my nighties to fight off the nightmares. You ought to see me do the dog paddle! Now I'm working on the individual medley. A Capella. "I'm forever blowing bubbles, doo-be-doo-be-doo-be-doooooo. . ."

Anyway, my irate friends are members ot the Redwood High varsity swimming team who have taken their underwater pens to fire off a blistering letter to me with a copy forwarded to the Editor

Their "shock and anger" is the result of a recent column in which I expressed surprise that Terra Linda should beat them in swimming. After all, I reasoned, the district from which Redwood draws its students is the most affluent in the Bounty County and has more private pools per capita than other districts like Terra Linda.

As I tonge-in-cheekily implied that Redwood has enjoyed a head start over its rivals, since the kids have their own pools, tennis courts, gymnasiums and golf courses, I hit a sore spot. Boy, did I ever!

And, since every water dog must have its day, I hereby respectfully reprint the Redwood team's letter to me:

"Dear Mr. Gilmartin:

"We were deeply shocked and angered to read your column, 'Terra Linda Prep Swim Surprises,' of March 12, 1971.

"You have reported us as nothing more than high-strung snobs, who can't take it when the going gets tough.

"Undoubtedly, in your extensive research for your column, you failed to notice the record of Redwood's swim team of last year (the members of which were the same as this year's team); during the league's second round-robin; we came back to pull tremendous upsets against all three of the teams who had beaten us on the first time around. (see enclosures)

"Furthermore, we fail to follow your logic regarding your implication that the number of swimming pools at hand at age five should determine the success of a high school swimming team thirteen years later. Indeed, many young 'phenoms' have become disenchanted with the sport before even reaching high school age, due to overexposure or extreme parental pressures.

"Also, the commendable grade-point average of our varsity team (approximately 3.5) is not due to our 'personal tutors,' if indeed, we had any. In reality, some members of our team are tutors themselves. Most of the others have other kinds of jobs around the county.

"We feel that, due to the I-J's wide circulation, you have done us a great disservice before your readers. We are, of course, referring to the general public, not to the swimmers and coaches of high school swimming. They know.

"In closing, we cordially invite you to come to one of our practices; not only will you notice that we swim in conventional, monogram-less swim suits, you may discover that the reason for our success over the past few years is more attributable to 'guts in the stomach,' than 'silver spoons in the mouth.' "

But that was a love letter compared to the one that appeared in "What Our Readers Say" last night, composed by Jon Broderick, page one editor of the Redwood Bark whose bark is worse than his bite.

It isn't worth reprinting here, except that Master Broderick led off the poison pen letter wit: "The garbage that Jim Gilmartin consistently writes appearing in his sports column, never ceases to amaze me."

All I have to say is that I am glad that Master Broderick "consistently" reads my "garbage." It may improve his grades.

And now, if they'll only add "Humor" to the Redwood High curriculum, we'll all get along much better, thank you.

Or, as swim publicist Kay (Mrs. Carney) Campion of San Rafael said: "Your column on Redwood Hi swimmers versus middle-class Terra Linda was wicked — but a gas!"

Two ACC Favorites In NIT

NEW YORK (UPI) —Duke and North Carolina, tested on the Atlantic Coast Conference battlefield, scored the AAC's biggest advance in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament Monday and today emerged as the top choices to win the 1971 title.

Only one of the teams, however, will reach Saturday's final round because the scheduling bracket pits the two schools against each other in one of Thursday night's semifinals. The other semi matches the survivors of Wednesday night's Hawaii-St. Bonaventure and Michigan-Georgia Tech games.

Ray Mears, the Tennessee coach who watched North Carolina beat Providence 86-79 and then saw his Volunteers lose to Duke 78-64, in Monday night's quarterfinals, doesn't see how the survivor of the N.C.-Duke game can lose in the title round.

"They're the class of the tourney," Mears said. "We lost to Duke and all I can say is they have a fine player in Randy Denton, who shoots and rebounds well."

Hawaii, which came to its first NIT with hula girls and pineapples, defeated Oklahoma, 88-87, in double overtime in an opening round game to start Monday's tripleheader.

North Carolina and Duke met three times this season, with the Tar Hells winning twice.

"The total difference in those three games is two points," said Duke coach Bucky Waters, "and that's for 120 minutes of play."

Waters had a close game with Tennessee as the Vols held Duke in check until the last 1:54 when the Blue Devils ran off an 8-2 spurt. Duke was held to only two points during a seven-minute stretch late in the second half when Tennessee closed from a 63-54 deficit to 64-60 as the Devils went into a stalling game.

Denton scored 32 points and collected 17 rebounds and completely dominated the smaller Vols. The 6-10 Duke center scored only eight points against Dayton in the opening round, but attributed that low total to "an inability to stay loose."

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Perry Is Winning Opening Day Job

By United Press International

Juan Marichal may be the San Francisco Giants' key pitcher this year but Gaylord Perry is the one likely to get the honor of pitching on opening day.

Perry, who had a 23-13 record and pitched 329 innings last season, virtually clinched the April 6 assignment against the San Diego Padres when he allowed two runs in seven innings Monday in a 5-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Perry, whose brother, Jim also is a likely opening day pitcher for the Minnesota Twins, will go into the 1971 season as the Giants' No. 1 pitcher. Marichal, a six-time 20-game winner who was sidelined during much of the 1970 season with a freak ailment and had a 12-10 record, is regarded as the "pitcher who must come through," however, if the Giants are to be a contender in the National League West.

Willie Mays, going into the new season with 628 homers, showed the fans in Phoenix, Ariz., some of his old skills when he hit a 450-foot homer off Mark Ballinger.

On other fronts: Rico Petrocelli drove in five runs with a homer, double and single as the Boston Red Sox beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 10-5. Billy Conigliaro added two doubles and a single to the Red Sox' 14-hit attack. Steve Garvey and Duke Sims homered for the Dodgers ... Bob Robertson and Al Oliver hit homers to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-4 triumph over the Kansas City Royals. The Pirates' spring record is 10-3.

The Montreal Expos scored three unearned runs off Denny McLain in six innings and beat the Washington Senators, 5-3, for their eighth victory in nine games ... Al Santorini, who was 1-8 last season but has a fine arm, pitched two-hit ball for seven innings as the Padres downed the California Angels, 10-0. Jim Maloney, acquired by the Angels during the winter and a key pitcher in their AL West pennant plans, was tagged for 10 runs and walked six batters in 4 1-3 innings.

Power Of NFL Throne?

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)— His adversary dubbed him "King Alvin I," but Alvin Ray (Pete) Rozelle denies he has the power of a throne.

"The Super Bowl will go where King Alvin says it will go," said Miami lawyer Ellis Rubin, champion of the antitelevision blackout legions.

"Not so," said Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League. "It's up to the owners."

That was the meat of the most lively controversy as the NFL owners opened their winter meeting here Monday to consider the site of Super Bowl VI and some rule changes.

Today the football owners were to listen to the sales pitches of delegations from seven cities, including Miami, to land football's biggest extravaganza.

Then along came Rubin.

Rubin is the 45-year-old controversial attorney who gave the NFL fits last year crusading to have the blackout of local television lifted for fans in the Miami area, site of the 1971 Super Bowl.

He served notice Monday he will continue his campaign, wherever football's big game is played.

But the moguls of football weren't paying much attention to Rubin today. They were busy listening to the enticements of community leaders from Los Angeles, New Orleans, Jacksonville (Fla.), Miami, Dallas and two factions from Houston.

Rozelle said he expected the decision on the site late today.

Prognosticators said Dallas, with its new 65,000-seat Texas Stadium, had the edge. Texas Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, a tall, blond spokesman for the lone star state, was in town to lobby for the cause.

"I think we've got it," he said.

Earlier Monday, William H. "Billy" Sullivan, owner of the old Boston Patriots, announced that the name of the team had been changed to the New England Patriots.

Sullivan said that despite problems of the franchise, 38,000 season tickets had been sold already this year as compared with 10,000 at the same point last year.

The club's directors had voted last month to name the team the Bay State Patriots, but decided against that because of adverse public reation, Sullivan said.

Rozelle said he told the club owners in the Monday morning session that they are talking too much publicly.

The commissioner said he warned the owners that a league rule specifically prohibits a football club employe from publicly criticizing another club or another club employe.

Rozelle would not comment on reports he has fined Baltimore Colts owners Carol Rosenbloom for criticizing Don Shula, who left the Colts to become head coach of the Miami Dolphins. Rozelle said only that "appropriate disciplinary action has been taken."

The commissioner also said he thinks the Super Bowl should be alternated between cities in the American and National Conferences, but not necessarily every year.

"I just think it's a good idea to give each conference a shot at it," he said.

As for Rubin, the commissioner said he did not intend to respond publicly to the attorney's remarks.

Redwood, Drake Baseballers Win

A couple of sophomores slammed extra base hits yesterday to lead the Redwood High School Giants to a 9-6 preseason baseball victory over Lincoln High in San Francisco, and Drake needed only one hit to beat another San Francisco team, Poly, 4-1 in San Anselmo.

Mike Connor, a sophomore who starred for Redwood's Marin County Athletic League champion basketball team, belted a bases-loaded double in the sixth inning when the Giants of Larkspur surged ahead of the team that is undefeated in the city's AAA league. Connor, an outfielder, had three runs batted in on the double, and another with his other hit of the afternoon, a single.

Drake's only hit, a home run off the bat of John Loane, provided an insurance run in the third inning after the Pirates came up with three runs without a hit in the second. John Billings went the distance on the mound, limiting the Parrots to four hits. Drake pitchers have allowed just one run in each of the last three games.

Volkswagen Buggies Dominate Mint 400

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— Fritz Croyer of Santa Susana, Calif., and Bill Harkey of San Fernando, Calif., combined their talents to capture the four-wheel drive event of the $100,000 Mint 400 Del Webb Desert Rally Monday night. Driving Harkey's Hi-Jumper Volkswagen dune buggy, the pair finished the race in the Southern Nevada desert shortly before midnight in 13 hours, 30 minutes and 42 seconds.

Rick James of Northridge, Calif., and Paul Hunt of Reseda, Calif., were runners-up in 13 hours, 43 minutes and nine seconds.

Former Indianapolis winners Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., and Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., broke an axle on thier Frod Bronco about 100 miles into the race.

In third place were Lee Epstein, San Dimas, Calif., and Mike Cannon, Garden Grove, Calif., 13:53:36, followed by Bob Ferro, Sherman Oaks, Calif., and Brian Skipper, Beverly Hills, Calif., 13:54:10,

Croyer, 27, and Harkey, 52, took home $6,000 for first place plus accessory money.

Harkey manufactures the Hi-Jumper line of Volkswagen dune buggies. The other top five finishers also had Volkswagen dune buggies.

FISH AND GAME

Unbelievable Weekend For Salmon Trollers

By AL GIDDINGS

It was a big weekend for the fishermen! Salmon catches were unvelievable! A school of these fish ten miles long and nearly as wide gave the salmon anglers all the sport they could handle between Duxberry Reef and the Coast Guard Light Ship.

To give you an idea of a real weekend of fishing pressure, study these figures: On Saturday, it was estimated (and counted) that 300 boats were out after salmon. With a possible average of eight people to the boat this gives a figure of 2,400 anglers. Almost every angler took a limit of three salmon for a total of 7,200 fish. Wardens checked 30 party boats at Sausalito all with limits, and 60 skiffs all with limits. Each party boat had about 15 people aboard! It was the same for the San Francisco, Berkeley and Richmond boats. It was fantastic!

To keep up with such a pace, the Department of Fish and Game certainly could use the $1 increase in the proposed ocean license fee. One person called this past week to ask if the Department of Fish and Game stocked the ocean! I don't know exactly what the total 1970 ocean salmon plants are, but one Fish and Game press release this week listed 5 million kings to be planted from the newly constructed Mad River hatchery. Total salmon plants for the ocean listed in the annual report for 1969 (1970's report is not released as yet) showed the 13½ million salmon and steelhead were planted.

Marine Wardens cited 12 people for no licenses and 4 for having undersized salmon at Sausalito.

UP IN the Tomales and Bodega Bay area, wardens checked no salmon, but off Tomales Point, a big run of lingcod seemed to be the thing of the day. The surf was rough, and with the tides only -.1, the abalone fishermen just took a few.

I CHECKED San Pablo Saturday afternoon, checking 28 boats with about 94 anglers. The catch? Twelve bass and four sturgeon! Not too good! About half the bass and two sturgeon were taken just off the Marin Islands toward the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge on the outgoing tide.

CHINA CAMP and Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia boats fishing toward the S. P. Buoy were in the other lukewarm spots.

Five anglers were cited using two rods, and three for angling without a license. In the past few weeks, citations given out for various violations were handled by fines. qome of the two-rod violators paid $25 each, a few paid $15. One no license case paid $20 and two bay litterers paid $10 each. The eight people in San Pablo cited plus the 16 at Sausalito may take a month to process.

STRIPED BASS and perch fishing is good at Tomales near Inverness. Night trolling for stripers, especially by George Smith of Inverness who rows, really pays off.

HERE WE go again! In Marin County, Bon Tempe, Lagunitas and Phoenix reservoirs will be stocked this week with catchable trout. Rodeo Lagoon in Southern Marin will also get a plant. About 9,000 trout will be divided up into the four bodies of water. The new regulations now list the limits on these waters as five per person per day.

OTHER PLANTS for nearby counties are also listed:

San Luis Obispo County — Atascadero Lake, Laguna Lake, Lopez Reservoir.

Sonoma County — Lake Ralphine, Santa Rosa.

The Department reminds anglers this schedule may be changed without notice if water conditions become unsuitable for trout.

Achievement Award Given To Chi Cheng

NEW YORK (UPI) —Chi Cheng, the Nationalist Chinese sprinter who has won 133 of her last 134 races and broke or equaled world records nine times last year, received the annual Tanqueray Sports Achievement Award for 1970 on Monday.

Miss Cheng, a 26-year old, straight A student at California Poly who plans to coach track in Taiwan, was named for outstanding achievement by a female athlete during 1970. She was undefeated in 63 races in 1970 and won 70 of 71 races in 1969.

Hockey

Yachting

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI)—Mark Johnson's 73-foot ketch Windward Passage did what it set out to do in the Miami-Montego Bay Yacht Race—It beat its rival, Ondine.

Ondine was scratch boat for the sixth running of the biennial yachting event, giving up a time allowance of more than 52 minutes to Windward Passage.

Skiing

DENVER (UPI) — Lance Poulsen and Otto Tschudi grabbed the first two places in Canadian-American Ski Trophy Series standings this week after the giant slalom and slalom at Rossland, B. C. over this weekend.

Poulsen, of Olympic Valley, Calif., took the lead with 105 points on a seventh place in slalom at Rossland. He was only two points ahead of Tschudi, a University of Denver skier from Norway, who won both events in Canada.

The two moved ahead of last week's tied leaders, Terry Palmer of Kearsarge, N, H., and Rod Taylor of West Hartford, Conn.

Basketball

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A crowded court calendar has forced a recess until Friday of the federal court trial involving superstar Spencer Haywood and the Denver Rockets.

U.S. District Court Judge Warren J. Ferguson ordered the recess Monday, explaining to the jury of seven women and five men he was forced to delay the trial because of the calendar congestion.

Haywood contends his contract with Denver is void because the American Basketball Association club did not live up to terms calling for him to receive $1.9 million. The Rockets filed a $1 million countersuit, charging Haywood's management firm induced him to abrogate the contract and jump to Seattle of the National Basketball Association.

A Useless Trip For Al Attles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Coach Al Attles of the San Francisco Warriors admits his trip to San Diego to scout the mighty Milwaukee Bucks didn't teach him much.

The Bucks and the San Francisco Warriors open NBA playoff action Saturday night at the Oakland Arena and Attles said he wanted to see if Milwaukee had any new play patterns.

Milwaukee, one of the all-time great NBA powerhouses which had won 20 in a row in its title drive, lost to San Diego as coach Larry Costello took a look at his benchwarmers.

Said Attles: "What I saw was a lot of players I hadn't seen much of before and hope I don't see again because they are the ones who come in when the game is out of sight."

The Bucks will arrive here either late Thursday or mid-Friday and look for a place to practice. The Oakland Coliseum won't be available because of the Seals-St. Louis Hockey game that night. But the Warriors and Bucks will clash there Saturday night.

The second and third games of the best-of-seven series will be played at the University of Wisconsin field house in Madison March 29 and 31, the fourth game at Oakland April 1, and succeeding games, if necessary, on April 4, 6 and 8, the sites alternating.

Good Start Bad Finish For A's

The A's grabbed a 4-0 lead in the first with Angel Mangual's triple the big blow, but then fell 5-4 to Chicago Monday at Mesa. The A's try their luck against Milwaukee today.

Fingers departed after six innings till holding a 4-3 lead, but Marcel Lachemann and rookie Jim Panther couldn't hold the lead. Hal Breeden's double finally won it for Chicago.

Panther took the loss and submarining Ron Tompkins got the win. Dick Green was the only man to get two hits for the A's, who got nine all told.

Giant Rookie Speier Looms As A Starter

PHOENIX — This coming weekend in Palm Springs, Charlie Fox will give a preview of the Giants' 1971 starting lineup. The manager may not wait that long. He may send his front nine against the Padres Thursday and Friday at Yuma.

WOULDN'T IT be logical to unveil his starting lineup against the Padres since the Giants open the major league season against them in San Diego April 6?

"Yes, it would," said Fox. "But in any event we will have it set in Palm Springs for our final exhibition games with the Angels."

THERE IS only one decision Fox has to make — Chris Spier of Hal Lanier at shortstop. Thus far, Fox has refused to make any on-the-record commitment but every time Spier's name is mentioned the manager's face lights up in a happy smile.

"Just watch for the lineup in Yuma or Palm Springs," said Fox. "That will be it."

SPIER IS the confident rookie from Alameda who announced at the outset of spring training that he didn't come to the camp of the Giants to make the roster of their Phoenix AAA farm club.

"I'm here to make the big team," said the young man who won't be 21 until June 28.

IT SEEMED like a big ambition for a young fellow with only one year of pro ball behind him in AA competition last season at Amarillo. He knew that to qualify this year for a berth with the Giants he had to make it as a regular, not a utility man. To keep him on the bench at this infant stage of his career would be unthinkable — detrimental to his development.

So the lineup in Yuma or Palm Springs probably will look like this: Bobby Bonds, rf; Spier, ss; Willie Mays, cf; Willie McCovey, lb; Ken Henderson, lf; Dick Dietz, c; Alan Gallagher, 3b; Tito Fuentes, 2b.

IT DOESN'T matter who pitches at Yuma or Palm Springs. That will be determined by the rotation which has been set since the Cactus League exhibition season started March 5.

Gaylord Perry will open the season April 6 in San Diego not only because he earned the honor winning 23 games last season but because of his career record against the Padres, 9-1.

AT YUMA and Palm Springs, Fox may also be expected to make the outfield shifts he will be making during the season whenever Mays is getting the periodic rests a 40-year-old player needs.

George Foster, the 22-year-old rookie who performed magnificently with bat and glove this spring, will replace Henderson in left field when Henderson moves to center in the late innings as Mays bows out.

MAYS, INCIDENTALLY, already has corrected one impression that he won't be seen in night games this year in Candlestick. "I may be a step away from 40 (May 6) but I'm not retiring from night ball games," he said.

During the winter Fox said that he intended to rest Mays in all night games at Candlestick. When the manager learned how Willie reacted to that, he said: "Great, the fans want to see Willie every time they come to the ball park. Willie will know best when he needs a rest. He can call his own shots."

Emile Griffith Vs. Gutierrez In S.F. Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco's first fight in four months goes tonight in Civic Auditorium and it's a good one.

Two times world middleweight king and three times welterweight titlist Emile Griffith battles Rafael Gutierrez in a 10-rounder.

Promoter Jim Pusateri and matchmaker Benny Ford have promised $11,500 to Griffith and $3,500 for Gutierrez, former Mexican champ.

They figure Latin fans will come out for Gutierrez and they also have two local favorites on the preliminary card, Bayview middleweight Jimmy Lester and Redwood City featherweight Ray Lunny III.

Cal Track Coach Returns Praise

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—After California beat San Jose State in track, Stanford coach Payton Jordan commented that any team that could beat the Spartans could win the NCAA title.

Since Stanford upset the Spartans last Saturday, Cal coach Dave Maggard made the comment in return at Monday's meeting of the Northern California cinder scribes.

Jordan, who likes to speak pessimistically of his team's chances, was nonplussed by the statement.

Both Stanford and California head for the Santa Barbara Relays this weekend. Maggard announced that his spring stars Eddie Hart and Isaac Curtis would not enter open events at Santa Barbara in order to stay sharp for dual meets ahead.

Stanford's Jordan also indicated he would forget the search for individual points and possibly concentrate its best runners in the distance medley event.

Denise Ham Is Swim Winner

Denise Ham and her relay teamates from the Marin Aquatic Club came home from Long Beach yesterday after giving a good account of themselves in the Southern California Senior Invitational swimming meet over the weekend.

Miss Ham, a 16-year-old student at San Rafael High School, took first place over a tough field in the women's 200-meter breaststroke in the time of 2 minutes, 30 seconds, claimed the eight spot in the 200 individual medley, and figured in three relay events in which the MAC placed.

Cheryl Cattan, Sue Secondo and Jo Hislop joined with Miss Ham to earn fifth place in the 400 medley relay, and she teamed with Miss Hislop, Ann Engel and Kimi Fox for seventh and eighth place finishes in the 800 and 400 free relays respectively.

The indoor meet, held at the Belmont Olympic Plaza, drew contestants from throughout California, Arizona dnd Colorado. It served as a final preparation for the National Championships April 7 - 10 at Pullman, Wash.

Japanese Delights To Inspire Team

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) —Tokyo's Lotto Orions are only 3-8 on the spring exhibition trail on the U.S. mainland, so Japan Air Lines has decided to do something about it.

JAL planned to send an envoy to the Orions' training camp today to bring Japanese delights to inspire the players. The team will sit down to a meal of Pacific crab, Japanese delicacies and sake with which to wash it down.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depts are always additive to the chart in depts unless preceded by a (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. outside, scored 24 points for Tennessee.

North Carolina also employed slow-down tactics in its win over Providence and it paid off, too, for the Southern school. The Tar Heels led by 11 points with 7:18 remaining, but began losing their momentum when the Friars closed to within five points at the five-minute mark. Then Bill Chamberlain sparked the winners on a six-point burst that carried North Carolina to its 24th win in 30 games this season.

Chamberlain finished with 19 points, but it was teammate Dave Chadwick, a sub, who grabbed scoring honors when he tallied 22 points as a replacement for injured Dennis Wuycik. Lee Dedmon netted 18 points and George Karl scored 15. Ernie DiGregorio led Providence with 23 points.

The Duke and North Carolina squads dressed quickly to catch planes for their home base, where they will attend classes Tuesday and Wednesday before returning for Thursday's meeting.

Red Rocha, former National Basketball Association star and coach of Hawaii, was the calmest man at courtside as his team reached the quarterfinals. The Rainbows face St. Bonaventure Wednesday night, with Michigan taking on Georgia Tech in the other half of the doubleheader.

Tom Newell's two free throws with 12 seconds left in the second extra session preserved Hawaii's victory after John Penebacker, with 20 points, and Bob Nash, 19, did the damage with some accurate shooting. Bobby Jack valiently tried to pull the game Oklahoma's way with his 32-point effort.

Rewards, Risks In Comsat Situation

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Someone has advised that Comsat (Communications Satellite Corp.) is a sound stock for future growth. What do you think? — R.D.

A. Comsat shares do, indeed, have good long-term growth potential. However, because of the company's revolutionary business, volatile shares are not without risks. Comsat derives its revenues from leasing channels on a worldwide communications satellite system.

Company owns roughly 53 per cent of the global communications systems and manages it for other participants from about 75 countries. The overseas telecommunications market has expanded at over 20 per cent annually for about two decades, with continued strong growth anticipated. Another projected area of growth is a domestic satellite system. Comsat has proposed a $248 million satellite system designed to transmit television programs, telephone calls, computerized data and a range of other communications.

Approval of this by the FCC would be a significant plus for Comsat. Company reported an excellent year in 1970; operating revenues climbed 48 per cent to $69.6 million and net income more than doubled to $17.5 million, or $1.75 a share.

Q. Is American Hospital Supply still a good stock for future growth? Are the shares selling too high in relation to the company's earnings? — J.F. & L.B.

A. At present levels, American Hospital Supply is selling at approximately 37x 1971 earnings estimates which is midrange for the company's own historical price/earnings ratio and for the industry in general. American Hospital has compiled a fine record of sales and earnings growth over the past 10 years; and 1970 was no exception.

For the full year, sales advanced 14 per cent to $510 million and net income rose 3 per cent to $25.7 million. Per share profits were flat year-to-year, from 77 cents in 1969 to 76 cents a share, as a result of a greater number of shares outstanding.

While operational gains in 1971 may not be as substantial as those of previous years, shares of this leading hospital supply firm remain attractive for future growth prospects.

INSTANT IMAGE ACCESS — A technician recently demonstrated a new high-capacity electronic work file which combines video recording and computer disc techniques to find any document image from among tens of thousands in less than 70 milliseconds, has been announced by CMX Systems, a joint venture of CBS and Memorex Corporation. Believed to be a breakthrough for the information retrieval field, the new system has been designed to serve the growing number of master storage files containing millions of microfilm or video tape documents.

COMPUTER BREAKTHROUGH

Instant Access For TV

SUNNYVALE — CMX Systems, a joint venture of CBS and Memorex, has announced what it believes to be a breakthrough in information retrieval systems — a high capacity electronic work file which uses television to locate and display document images from among tens of thousands in 70 milliseconds or less.

This new instant image access technology has been conceived as a high speed priority file to allow multiple access to the ever growing number of automated microfilm and video tape document facsimile storage systems and to serve other needs in advanced information systems.

The new system will allow dozens of co-workers in various locations to "browse" through the same documents simultaneously.

TAPE EDITOR

The first application of the new technology is the CMX 600 Editor for video tape and film editing. Now in operation at the CMX facilities here for demonstration purposes, the first unit is scheduled for delivery in mid-April to CBS Television's Studio Center in Los Angeles.

The minicomputer-controlled CMX 600 unit is expected to reduce by more than half the time required to edit and assemble filmed television programs. CMX said the new system also fulfills magnetic tape's long-promised enhanced artistic flexibility and extraordinary economics as a production medium.

Instant image access systems utilize special video signal processing techniques to store complete images, for the first time, on computer disc drives — a marriage of the respective specialties of CBS and Memorex. All the functions of locating and retrieving any image from among thousands or millions are handled automatically.

SIMULTANEOUS ACCESS

"Video and film storage of data has been recognized as the most economical in terms of recording media-per-bit of information," commented CMX Systems General Manager William H. Butler. "However, until now simultaneous access by a number of remote query stations has been a severe technical and economic limitation."

"With instant image access," Butler continued, "video and film information systems have the advantage of establishing a continually current priority file or high-speed image storage buffer."

Butler said that CMX system's computer-compatibility makes it ideal for such applications as interoffice hookups in large real estate firms where, as an auxiliary to customary digital storage, an instant image access system could provide additional visual data such as floor plans, elevations, etc., along with the means for rapid updating of available property throughout the entire firm's listings.

LIBRARY NEED

Insurance companies and libraries are among the many other potential users, Butler added.

Of modular design, a CMX system comprises a video signal processing unit and any number of specially-modified disc drives and a new type of high energy 20-surface disc packs. Each disc pack has a capacity of more than 4000 images, each equivalent to a standard 8½"x11" document. Any number of viewing stations equipped with high-resolution video monitors, document address keyboard and hard copy output device can be employed.

In this manner a work file can be created from the master storage system without preempting another worker's acquisition of the same documents. Further, the disc pack can be reused when preparing another work file for the following day's business activities.

By means of special scan conversion equipment, direct digital transmission also can be accepted by an instant image access system and transferred to the disc drives for storage and display as video images.

Decline In Prices On Exchange

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks declined on moderate turnover on the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.32 at 100.30. Declines outscored advances, 829 to 504, on 1,637 issues on the tape.

Closing prices included AT&T 48 7-8 unchanged; Bethlehem Steel 22 1-8 off 1-2, DuPont 142 off 2, Ford 61 1-8 up 3-8, General Electric 111 1-8 up 3-4, General Motors 83 5-8 off 3-8, IBM 355 3-4 off 2 3-4, Southern Pacific 38 7-8 off 1-4, and U.S. S teel 33 7-8 unchanged.

Some analysts attributed market weakness to profit taking, while others said the list was hesitating amid signs the economy was not improving as fast as expected.

International news also appeared to be exerting pressure on the list. The Pentagon acknowledged Tuesday that the Laotian operation was cut short because of stiff Communist resistance.

William Nelson, director of equity research for Moody's Investors Service, said that aside from the problems in Indochina, "everybody is waiting for first quarter corporate earnings to come out."

Nelson noted that while things are picking up in the economy, most of the latest economic statistics indicate the first quarter may not be as good as the market has been anticipating. Much of the market's rise over the few several months was largely the result of President Nixon's prediction for a good year in 1971 and an even better one in '72.

Among the day's most active issues were Kinney National Service, which traded a block of 223,900 shares at 35 1-4 up 1 1-2 in a cross transaction; Sperry Rand and United Aircraft. A spokesman for the aerospace firm said he knew of no corporate development to account for the action of the company's stock.

Glass Factory Plan

TOLEDO (UPI) —Libbey-Owens-Ford, Inc., announced it will build an insulating glass factory at Clinton, N.C., to be operated by a new subsidiary Thermopane LOF, Inc. A 20-acre tract has been obtained from industrial development association made up of citizens of Clinton.

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.

For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

Rookie Novato Officer Nails Attackers With His Shotgun

Pair Seen Beating Gas Station Man

By DAVID DIETZ

A rookie Novato policeman interrupted an apparent robbery attempt at an Ignacio service station early today, then halted the would-be bandits' getaway car with three well-placed shotgun blasts.

The suspects, two brothers from Oakland, fell from their bullet-riddled car after it followed a careening path from the Standard service station at 8510 Redwood Highway.

The shotgun blasts fired by 25-year-old Patrolman John L. Tyson, a policeman only a year, had smashed the passenger window of the compact and riddled the passenger door with 23 holes.

The attendant and the suspects were taken to Novato General Hospital.

Hospital attendants later reported that Stutfield was in good condition. Sam Earl Bouttie was treated for minor bruises and taken to Marin County Jail. Anthony Bouttie was transferred to Marin General Hospital for removal of a shotgun pellet above his right eye, and was to be taken to jail later today.

Both brothers were booked by sheriff's deputies on suspicion of armed robbery and assault

By MARY LEYDECKER

Faced with modern day pressures, Dominican College of San Rafael, which has provided a liberal arts education to women for 80 years, is going co-ed.

Sister Samuel Conlan, president of the small college which sits on 100 idyllic acres in the heart of San Rafael, made the announcement today at a gathering of faculty and students.

The board of trustees had approved the change at a meeting last week.

The announcement was not a surprise to most of her listeners, since the question of whether young men would be admitted as undergraduates has been "topic A" on the peaceful campus for months.

The decision to take a new direction at Dominican — which will bring male undergraduates to the school in the fall — was taken only after "a great deal of discussion and thought" and was made for several reasons, according to Sister Samuel.

First, frankly, was financial.

Because of rising costs, it is not economical to continue running the college for the number of students now there, 717, of which 392 are undergraduates, sister Samuel said.

"I view 1,200 as the optimum number of students for the campus," Sister Samuel said. She feels such an enrollment can be accommodated without causing any crowding and with few additions to present facilities.

Small classes, a hallmark of Dominican, will still be possible, and Sister Samuel feels that some of the classes even have been too small.

By opening the campus to young men, Sister Samuel and the other faculty at Dominican

Albrecht Wins Time For Probe

Marin supervisors today put off discussion of a recommendation that Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer for almost 17 years, be fired while she has a chance to investigate charges against two of her subordinates.

She indicated that she would have a report within two weeks and the supervisors decided to put the matter back on their agenda one week after the report is filed.

Most of the supervisors deplored the fact that County Administrator Alan Bruce had recommended publicly that Dr. Albrecht be fired for ineptness.

"I know I will be criticized for going about this publicly," Bruce said today, "but my only answer is that I felt it is a public matter."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Pro-SST Billing

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Nixon administration, claiming the Dick Cavett show helped defeat the supersonic transport bill in the House when SST opponents appeared as guests, asked for and received Monday night a chance to present its viewpoint.

A spokesman for the Cavett show said executive producor John Gilroy received a telephone call from an aide to White House communications director Herbert G. Klein Friday complaining about the guests and suggesting an administration spokesman appear on the show.

The call came the day after the House voted against further government funds for the SST. A crucial vote on the plane is expected in the Senate Wednesday.

"They suggested—and when the White House suggests it's more than just a suggestion—that we book (SST project manager William) Magruder on the show."

Dogged Defense

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson is the victim of politics and publicity and "is entitled to his life" because money is being made out of the Tate-LaBianca murder trial, his lawyer insisted Monday at the end of his final argument.

Irving Kanarek told the penalty phase jury that Manson was being made the scapegoat for murders in which he played no part, and he asked the panel to spare Manson from death because the truth might finally come out.

The burly defense attorney stuck doggedly to the insistence that Manson was innocent despite the fact the very same jury has found him guilty of seven first degree murders and a charge of conspiracy to murder.

Vienna Arms Talks

VIENNA (UPI)—The Vienna round of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) went into its second week today and officials said both sides were still "reviewing their positions."

The Soviet and American teams met for 85 minutes —55 in formal session and 30 in informal conversation —at the Soviet embassy and set their next session for Friday at the U.S. Embassy.

The officials said neither has laid any new proposals or ideas on the table in the three sessions since the Vienna round —the fourth so far --opened March 15.

Blacks-Nixon Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In a long-delayed meeting scheduled for Thursday at the White House, 12 black congressmen will bring the problems facing 25 million black Americans directly to President Nixon.

The date for the meeting between Nixon and the House Black Caucus —an informal organization of all 12 Black House Members —was announced Monday by White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler. The caucus had sought such a session with Nixon for nearly one year in an announced effort to make the administration more aware of black concerns.

New Premier

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Brian Faulkner, a moderate, defeated hardline William Craig today in a Unionist Party vote and became prime minister of Northern Ireland. He told newsmen his main aim would be to restore law and order in the province torn by extremist violence.

Faulkner, 50, succeeds James Chichester-Clark, who resigned Saturday under pressure by Protestant conservatives demanding a tougher policy against the province's Roman Catholic militants and the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA). He received his formal seal of office shortly after the election.

Suez Canal Quiet

By United Press International

Egyptian government sources said today military and political leaders were in the midst of conferences to prepare for possible resumption of hostilities with Israel. Military sources in Israel said the Egyptian meetings were part of Cairo's war of nerves.

"All is quiet along the (Suez) Canal itself," a military source in Tel Aviv said. "But the Egyptians are keeping up their war of nerves. These are obviously aimed at putting some muscle behind the pressure from the Soviet Union and the Egyptians to force an Israeli withdrawal."

Mars 'Life' Seen

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Organic compounds probably are being formed on the surface of Mars and there is a good chance a primitive form of life will be found on the planet, three scientists reported Monday.

"This is the most favorable indication for a possible Martian biological evolution that we have had in the last five years," said Dr. Norman H. Horowitz, biologist at the California Institute of Technology.

Horowitz and his collaborators, Drs. Jerry S. Hubbard and James P. Hardy, created the compounds in a laboratory under simulated Martian conditions. The compounds, formaldehyde, acetaldehyde and glycolic, are similar to those from which life springs on earth.

Argentine Army Ousts President

BUENOS AIRES (UPI —The Argentine armed forces overthrew President Roberto M. Levingston in a bloodless coup and set up a three-man military junta today to rule until further notice.

A communique from army headquarters shortly after midnight said "the commanders-in-chief of the armed forces have decided to fire Gen. Levingston in his functions as president of the republic. We have decided to assume political power in the nation until we fulfill the process of the Argentine revolution."

Levingston, 51, quietly quit the presidential office into which he was projected nine months ago by the same three-man junta. He walked out of the frosted pink government house at 3:25 a.m. and shook hands with about a dozen reporters.

"Good luck," he said, then got into an automobile and drove to his official home three miles away. He has several days to pack up and move out.

Levingston's ouster came on a power play that failed.

On Monday he met with the junta that put him in power in June, 1970, after they overthrew President Juan Carlos Ongainia. Afterwards, he announced by a statement read over the radio that he had fired Lt. Gen. Alejandro Lanusse, the popular commander-in-chief of the army and chairman of the junta because he had failed to take necessary action against strikers that caused millions of dollars of damage in Cordoba during the past 10 days.

ROBERTO LEVINGSTON

But the other two members of the Junta, air force Gen. Carlos Alberto Rey and navy Adm. Pedro Gnavi, refused to back the move and the army also backed Lanusse.

The result was that instead of ousting Lanusse, Levingston turned out the loser.

Sir Hughe Follows His Celebrated Valet's Death

LONDON (UPI) —Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, the British diplomat whose trust in his valet made "Cicero" one of Nazi Germany's most prolific spies, is dead.

Sir Hughe died Sunday at his home in Barham, near Canterbury, five days short of his 85th birthday and five months after the death of Cicero.

In a distinguished, 39-year diplomatic career, he probably will be remembered chiefly for seven months of the five years he served as Britain's ambassador to Turkey. From October, 1943, until April, 1944, Sir Hughe's valet, Albanian Namwas Elyasa Bazna, regularly microfilmed top secret documents from the British embassy safe and sold them to the German embassy.

Bazna's boss, German Ambassador Franz von Papen, code-named the spy Cicero, after the celebrated Roman orator, for the "eloquence" of the documents Bazna produced.

According to the book "Operation Cicero," by an attache that had served under Von Papen, the documents included secret decisions of the Allied summit conferences in Casablanca, Moscow, Cairo and Tehran, and perhaps even for the Normandy invasion.

Actually, the Third Reich probably benefitted very little from Cicero's masterly work, partly because Cicero seemed too good to be true, partly because of a feud between its foreign ministers Joachim von Ribbentrop and Gestapo chief Ernst Kaltenbrunner.

According to the book, Cicero lost out, as well: all but $48,000 of the $720,000 the Nazis paid Bazna was counterfeit.

Bazna, who had taken refuge in South America after the war, turned up in West Germany a few years ago. He said he was penniless and demanded Bonn make good for the phoney money, but the Germans turned a deaf ear.

Dismissal Pending

Supt. Anthony G. Bacich of the Kentfield School District said yesterday his report March 9 that a teacher had been dismissed by the district board was in error. He said dismissal action is still pending a board decision and that the closed session March 8 was merely to hear a report that he would recommend the firing.

Southern Span Bill To Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill to require legislative permission to build the southern crossing bridge over San Francisco Bay was laid on the desk of Gov. Ronald Reagan today.

The Assembly Monday gave final legislative approval to the measure by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, when it concurred 57-2 to a minor Senate amendment and sent the bill to the governor.

Last week the governor said he has "an open mind" on the issue, although spokesmen for the administration opposed the measure during its legislative hearings.

The state Toll Bridge Authority, whose members are appointed by the governor, last month cleared the last administrative obstacle preventing construction of the controversial $300 million span.

Conservationists oppose the bridge on grounds it will encourage continued reliance on the automobile for transportation at the expense of the nearly completed Bay Area Rapid Transit System. They also fear for the bay's ecology when another bridge is built.

Avalanche Cuts Off Alpine Town

ROME (UPI) — Avalanches which took at least half a dozen lives over the weekend left 500 tourists still stranded in an alpine resort today. Elsewhere, rain raised the level of the mighty Po river and Adriatic tides flooded St. Mark's Square in Venice.

Snowplows had just cleared the road to the ski resort of Foppolo, 4,921 feet in the Alps, when a new avalanche thundered down Monday, sealing it off again. It had been isolated by previous snowslides since Friday.

Nixon Is Guardedly Optimistic On Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, declaring that the full importance of the Laos invasion will not be known for some time, said the campaign shows the South Vietnamese can fight very well and have "passed a milestone" in the capability to take over the fighting.

Nixon, in an easy, relaxed hour-long interview with ABC-TV commentator Howard K. Smith, predicted the Laos operation would enable him to continue withdrawing U.S. forces at the current rate of 12,500 a month.

The Laos operation, Nixon said, "cannot be judged a great success" but it "cannot be judged a failure." He said the campaign could be assessed only on a long range basis, and that would not be known for some time.

He said it now may be possible for him to announce accelerated withdrawals and his next announcement may display "the end of the tunnel," a phrase often used during the Johnson administration.

"For six weeks the South Vietnamese have disrupted the enemy supply lines," he said. "For six weeks they've tied down some of the enemy's best divisions, and for six weeks, we have seen, too, that the South Vietnamese have been able to handle themselves quite well under very, very difficult circumstances."

Smith asked Nixon if the Communists will be able to repair their trials and pipelines before the rainy season begins in about a month.

"They can never gain back the time," Nixon said.

The interview in the White House library was devoted mainly to Nixon's guardedly optimistic assessment of the Laos operation. But the President did speak about 1972.

Nixon, who was widely written off after his 1962 defeat for the California governorship and his lost bid for the presidency two years earlier, said he made no decisions about 1972.

And he volunteered —without prompting by Smith —that he had not decided who "may be the man who runs for vice president." Some liberal Republicans are demanding that Nixon dump Vice President Spiro T. Agnew from the ticket.

But as to whether he would voluntarily become a one-term president, Nixon told Smith:

"The idea of what you call 'voluntary retirement,' I would suggest, is quite premature where I am concerned and I would say that anybody who reads my life would perhaps take that kind of story with a grain of salt."

Nixon steadfastly ruled out any deadline for complete withdrawal —which Democrats in Congress are demanding. He contended it would "torpedo" that little hope remains for a negotiated settlement and enable the Communists to adjust their military tactics accordingly.

The South Vietnamese, he said, had shown in Laos their "capability of hacking it," and "if the United States now were to throw in the towel and come home and the Communists took over South Vietnam, then all over Southeast Asia, all over the Pacific, in the Mideast, in Europe, in the world would suffer a blow ... would suffer a blow from which it might not recover."

Robert Van Pelt found,

"$1.36 is enough to start a 5% Passbook Account at Bell Savings."

Little Robert Van Pelt is a bit younger than our average depositor — but he's as important to us as our very largest account. So when "Gus" and his mother came into our Bell Savings office, Mrs. Lila Haberman, our Savings Counselor, told "Gus" that with a regular 5% Passbook Account at Bell Savings he would earn interest every day, on every penny he invested, and since no minimum deposit is required, his money would be handy when he needed it.

Well, Robert Van Pelt—"Gus" to his friends—age five is now a proud Bell Saver and we're just as proud to have him here at Bell Savings. Wouldn't you like to have your savings at the place where we say, and mean it, "At Bell Savings You Get 100% of Our Interest."

Take a Boeing home to Seattle.

As a matter of fact, you can take any one of three Boeings home to Seattle. The first United Flight leaves Oakland at 7:15 in the morning. The next at 1:30 p.m. And the evening flight takes off at 7:00. That's three times easy to Seattle, particularly if you live in San Rafael and the North Bay. Because Oakland International is your closest major airport. Just a bridge and a freeway from home. No cities to navigate. No Battle of the Bayshore. And plenty of parking just across the street from the terminal. Oh, and those last two Boeings streak home non-stop. Ready? Call your travel agent. Or call the Fly Oakland Girl, ENterprise 1-2422 for reservations and information.

Plans For Religious Center Are Approved

A religious group called Subud (pronounced soo-bood) will be allowed to operate a religious center at Star Hall just outside San Anselmo, at 100 Sacramento Avenue.

Ralph D. Cairns, deputy county zoning administrator, yesterday approved a use permit for the group on condition that the building will not be rented out to other organizations, and that 54 offstreet parking spaces will be marked off.

About 20 residents of San Anselmo attended the hearing in fear that followers of Subud might be a bongo-drumming, drug-oriented youth group.

Kieran C. Manjarrez of Mill Valley, house chairman for Subud, sought to allay the fears. "Drugs are contrary to the practice of Subud," he said.

He said religious services involve no bells, drums, or methodical chants. The singing of hymns would be about the most noise that would emanate from services, said Manjarrez.

He explained that Subud, which has about 65 local followers, is a contraction of Susila Buddi Dharma, which means "right living according to God's will."

For the past two years, Manjarrez said, his group has been meeting at the Community Congregational Church in Tiburon. Frank Evans, minister of the church, wrote a letter commending the group and reporting its quiet devotion to religious pursuits.

In other action, Cairns granted Paul Tanner the right to divide his land at 516 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley, into two building sites. The two parcels would be slightly smaller than the required 10,000 square feet.

3 Coffees For Reed Candidate Marin Mc Leod

A series of three coffees has been scheduled for Mrs. McLeod's candidacy. Dates, times and places are: Thursday at 8 p.m., the Charles E. Wilson home, 215 Round Hill Road, Tiburon; Friday at 10 a.m., the Horton Hinshaw home, 15 Tara Hill Road, Tiburon, and April 1 at 8 p.m., the Thomas Price home, 7 West Shore Road, Belvedere.

Persons interested in attending the coffees are asked to call Mrs. Wilson for more information.

Preserving North Ridge Lands To Be Discussed

Whether three cities and the county can work together to preserve from 500 to 1,600 acres of undeveloped land along the North Ridge in Central Marin will be discussed tomorrow by officials of the four governing bodies.

Meeting at 8 p.m. at the Corte Madera Town Hall, councilmen from Larkspur, Mill Valley and Corte Madera will meet with county supervisors to decide that question.

City staffs have been meeting for two months with the county park and recreation department, Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst said, and have developed various alternate means of acquiring the private land which will be outlined at tomorrow's meeting.

Bathurst said the area proposed for preservation has not been defined precisely, thus no purchase figures are known.

Another unknown, he continued, is the availability of federal "open space" grants which might apply to the project.

If tomorrow's meeting proves successful, another would be set in about 60 days, Bathurst said, and discussion of the acquisition also would begin at the planning commission level of the involved agencies.

Merritt College Re-Opens Calmly

OAKLAND (UPI) — Merritt College reopened peacefully for the beginning of final exams Monday after being closed for a week by student disturbances.

The 9,000-student junior college in downtown Oakland was shut down March 15 after 150 students took over four offices in the administration building. They fled two days later when police moved onto the campus.

The students were protesting plans to shut down the campus on Oakland's flatlands and move Merritt to a new $15 million facility in the hills on April 5.

Restaurant Loses $433 To Thief

Someone broke into the Tijuana Taco restaurant, 930 Seventh Street, Novato, early Sunday and took $433 in cash, Novato police reported yesterday.

Officers said the burglary occurred between 2:30 and 4 a.m. after someone broke the drive-in service window with a rock. The cash was taken from a cabinet in the office.

Bid Calling Delay Won On Tiburon Bike Path

Acting Tiburon Mayor Albert H. Sennett last night won a three-week postponement on calling of bids to turn the recently acquired Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way into a useable bicycle and pedestrian pathway.

The move will delay construction of the pathway two months — and possibly a year, according to Councilman Branwell D. Fanning who opposed the delay.

Sennett declared the three-week delay, after the council, with Mayor Denis T. Rice absent, split 2-2 on a motion by Fanning to call for bids immediately. M. Carlisle Becker joined Fanning in opposing the delay and Anne L. Ellinwood sided with Sennett.

Sennett proposed the delay in order to allow further investigation of funding possibilities, including a chance that 50 per cent of the approximate $64,000 cost of the project could be acquired from the federal government.

Other possibilities include participation by the City of Belvedere and Reed School District and private contributions, Sennett said.

Sennett said he hoped to obtain a letter of intent from federal Housing and Urban Development officials at a meeting Friday which would commit federal funds to the path.

But Fanning said that even if HUD promised funds, legislation under which they would be available is not effective until July, and with the end of the school year, more bicycle traffic and winter coming, "you're talking about a one year delay."

The Tiburon City Council Also:

LANE — Passed a resolution closing lower Racoon Lane to vehicles leaving an auto access strip for one property owner, and directed the city staff to prepare a resolution for its next meeting to improve upper Racoon Lane at abutting property owners' expense.

PLANNER — Commended Planning Director Wayne E. Moody, who has resigned, and named him an honorary citizen of Tiburon.

ZONING — Rezoned two parcels of property above Reed School from RO-2 (single family dwelling per one-half acre) to RO-2-C, which allows cluster development of the same overall density. The rezoning carried a condition that the property owner agree to designate a portion of the property for public park and recreational use.

BUILDING — Approved a precise plan for an office building at 72-80 Main Street. The plan was revised after council objections to its height at the last meeting.

REVIEW — Directed its planning and parks and recreation commissions to study establishing areas of design review for single family residences and duplexes.

DESIGN — Authorized hiring Brown/Heldt Associates of San Francisco as design consultants for the Paradise Drive Walkway for a $2,000 fee.

COORDINATOR — Went on record in favor of the county establishing the position of criminal justice coordinator.

DISASTER — Approved a county disaster procedure as outlined in a letter from Louis H. Baar, chairman of the board of supervisors, but suggested more precise plans be developed.

TIDELANDS — Referred to its land development committee a request for city reaction to a proposal to sell a 14-acre underwater parcel adjacent to Salt Works Canal. Owners of the parcel said that a Jewish congregation known as Shalom Ba-Olam wished to purchase the parcel for $7,500 an acre for use as a "recreational retreat." The council dismissed the plan as ridiculous, as the parcel could not be filled, developed or used, and Deputy City Atty. Richard Breimer reported that the congregation is not a religious group, but a privately owned corporation.

HISTORIAN — At the suggestion of councilman Ellinwood, created a position of city historian, postponed filling it, and referred to the Landmarks Society, for its suggestions, a proposal for establishments of some form of city landmarks committee.

ROOKIE

with a deadly weapon and held in custody in lieu of posting $6,250 bail each.

The shooting occurred shortly after 1:30 a.m. Tyson told sheriff's investigators (the station is in the unincorporated area) that he had just finished helping a group of young motorists in distress outside Nave Lanes nearby when the Boutties' vehicle passed at high speed, headed toward the station.

From his hospital bed, Stutfield said the brothers drove into the station and ordered the car's gas tank filled. Stutfield said Earl Bouttie walked over to the station office and while the attendant was busy under the car's hood, Anthony came around the side of the car and struck him on the left side of the head, knocking him unconscious.

"The next thing I heard was the shotgun blasts," Stutfield told officers.

Tyson said he followed the Boutties' car a few moments after it passed him and pulled into the station to find the brothers pummelling Stutfield.

"They were beating on the attendant severely," Tyson said.

The officer swung into action, grabbing the shotgun from the patrol car front seat and calling for the men to halt.

"They decided they were going to run and they started to split," the officer said. Tyson again called for the suspects to halt, then fired once.

The car bounced onto a divider in the road, but was backed off and driven toward Highway 101. "I fired once more but they still didn't stop," Tyson said, "so I fired once more and that stopped them."

The auto, its right front tire shot flat, rolled to a halt, straddling the street about 100 feet from the station. A kitchen knife later was found on the rear seat, although apparently it was not used in the attack.

One of the young motorists assisted by Tyson before the shooting, Michael Casteen of 23 Monte Vista Avenue, Novato, watched the gunfire then ran to assist the fallen Stutfield.

Of the officer's actions, he said, "I never saw a policeman work so fast."

Officers said the brothers either ignored or didn't see a sign posted near the service station's pumps that cautioned motorists the all-night station handled no cash for change after 10 p.m. The policy was instituted to thwart robberies.

Civic Center Art Display

Sixty works of art by members of the Marin Society of Artists are on display on the first and third floors of the administration wing at the Marin Civic Center.

Lotte McWatters, exhibit chairman for the Marin Museum Association, said the exhibit will continue through April 16.

Pair Nabbed By Drug Agents On LSD Suspicion

Two men were arrested about 10 p.m. yesterday by Marin County drug agents outside a San Rafael motel on suspicion of selling LSD.

Sheldon Rambert, 21, of no known address, and Jack Rubin, 46, of 318 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, were held at Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Agents said the arrests outside the Villa Rafael Motel in the 1700 block of Lincoln Avenue, were the result of a months-long investigation by undercover agents.

About 26,000 tabs of suspected LSD were confiscated, agents said.

The two used a motel room as a meeting place, according to drug agents.

To Eye Traffic

The Sausalito City Council will study the problem of traffic congestion in the city and review traffic and parking studies at a special meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

House Approves Voting Age Of 18

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House stamped final congressional approval today on a constitutional amendment to let 18-year-olds vote in all elections, possibly as early as 1972.

If approved by the legislatures of three-fourths (38) of the states, it will become the 26th amendment to the nation's basic set of laws, overriding state laws that still set 21 as the minimum voting age for state and local elections.

Voting by 18-year-olds already is assured in next year's presidential and congressional elections under a law passed by Congress in 1970. The Supreme Court ruled last December, that Congress exceeded its authority in seeking in the same law to lower the minimum age to 18 for governor, mayor and other state and local elections.

The new Congress, in the first major legislation to pass this session, moved quickly to remedy the situation, which could result in an estimated $20 million cost for the states to keep separate books on registration and voting by teenagers.

Chief backers of the amendment expressed hope of getting ratification in time for 18-year-olds to vote in all—or most—elections next year.

The last three constitutional amendments have been ratified in an average of 15 months.

Only Georgia, Alaska and Kentucky now give the state and local vote to 18 year olds, and it seemed unlikely to Congress that many others would change their laws (and in some cases, constitutions) before next year. The prospect was for dual registration and voting with attending confusion and extra cost.

A constitutional amendment does not need presidential approval, so that House passage by at least a two-thirds majority ends federal action on the proposal. It is transmitted to the states —47 of which have legislatures in session this year —by the General Services Administration. The amendment must be approved by three-fourths of the states —38 —to become operative.

In Sacramento, legislation giving 18-year-old Californians the vote advanced in the Assembly today but a youth-oriented bill seeking a court test of the Indochina War was killed.

The 18-year-old voter proposal went to the floor after the constitutional amendments committee turned back a Republican-sponsored effort to amend it with what the author called potentially fatal changes.

1876 Notes Of Explorer Discovered

TRUCKEE, Calif. (UPI)—An inquisitive snowmobiler reported today he found a small Army Corps of Engineers paper dated 1876 in a metal canister under a rock atop 9,500-foot Rifle Peak.

Bill Byrne, 36, a property manager, said he found the canister Sunday while snowmobiling with two friends. The slip of paper is two by five inches in size.

It reads: "explorations and surveys west of 100th meridian. Station No. 12, Party No. 2, California Division, executive officer Lt. M. Macomb, topographical assistant Frank Carpenter, meteorological assistant Alfred Dubois. En route from ——around Lake Tahoe, Nov. 7, 1876. Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army."

Byrne said there was a note on the back of the paper written by L. Kipps, Reno, Nev., who said he found the canister on Aug. 22, 1937, and retraced the writing in ink because it was faded.

Byrne said he would send the paper to the University of Nevada for analysis.

Drivers Sentenced

Four persons were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Peter Allan Smith last Thursday for drunken driving.

Earl Love Sherrod, 24, of Skaggs Island Navy Base, Sonoma County, arrested March 14 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for one year and fined $225.

Gerald Norman Kramer, 31, of 10 St. Judge Road, Mill Valley, arrested March 14 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for one year and fined $225.

George Edward Sands, 45, of 11 Ruben Court, Novato, arrested March 14 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for one year and fined $175.

Richard Lester Lawery, 36, of Clipper Yacht Harbor, Sausalito, arrested Feb. 27 Sausalito, was placed on probation for two years, fined $250 and ordered to jail for 10 days.

Pedestrian's Condition Good

A 71-year-old San Rafael woman was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital after being hit by a pick-up truck Saturday, hospital officials reported.

Yvonne Hollingworth of 5 Golden Hinde Avenue said she was walking to her daughter's truck parked in the Long's Drug Store parking area in Northgate when she was struck by a pick-up truck as it backed out of a parking space, according to San Rafael police.

Police said Mrs. Hollingworth told them she was assisted by the truck driver and helped into her daughter's truck. She failed, however, to get the drivers name or address, officers said.

Labor Backs Alioto In Look Case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Despite some minor objections by secretary George Johns, the San Francisco Labor Council has approved a resolution backing Mayor Joseph Alioto and condemning "political persecution" against him.

The resolution was offered Monday night by San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21 and condemned the release of "unverified confidential information" concerning the mayor by public officials.

Alioto, currently suing Look Magazine for $12.5 million over a story linking him to the Mafia, has said five federal law enforcement agencies leaked unverified confidential information about him to the magazine.

John recommended the resolution be referred to the council's executive committee to "explore."

"I think Joe Alioto was involved in the dumping we took with regard to the city employes," Johns said. "At this moment I'm mad at Joe Alioto."

Johns had previously criticized Alioto for characterizing a 4 per cent pay raise given 15,000 miscellaneous city employes as "generous."

The Typographical Union has been on strike against the San Rafael Independent-Journal for more than a year. When a group of labor leaders recently were sentenced to jail for contempt of court involving the strike, Alioto personally chaueffered one of them to San Rafael and appeared at a rally where they started serving their terms.

Leon Olson, Local 21 president, who was one of the labor leaders found in contempt, told Johns Monday night the city salary dispute was not involved in the resolution and Johns was missing the point.

He said Alioto was being subjected to "political persecution (and) doesn't have it coming to him."

Take-Out Food Tax Due Study

The San Anselmo City Council, always on the watch for means to fatten city coffers, will study tonight at 8 o'clock at city hall a Sausalito ordinance that provides for taxing of take-out foods.

The ordinance, which has been in force in Sausalito for about a year, reportedly has raised about $20,000 for that city.

The council also will consider revising an agreement with the City of Ross for maintenance of common intersections, curbs and sidewalks.

Danger To Ships Gets ABAG Eye

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Appointment of a "special task force" to recommend how to reduce navigation hazards has been announced by the Association of Bay Area Governments and the Marin Exchange of the San Francisco Bay Region.

The group of public and maritime officials, named the Regional Organization for Shipping and the Environment (ROSE), will have 60 days to complete its work. The group's formation was triggered by the Jan. 18 oil spill in the bay caused by the collision of two tankers.

The group's study will include harbor operations, routes, speeds and related navigational factors, pending state and federal proposals affecting maritime traffic, and electronic aids to navigation.

Carberry Rejects Jail Criticism

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco County Sheriff Matthew Carberry responded to criticism of one of his jails by the State Board of Corrections Friday by calling the facility "one of the safest jails in America."

The board's report had charged lax security and other "serious deficiencies" at County Jail No. 2 in San Bruno.

Bruce explained that the board had asked him three weeks ago to find out "if there is a VD epidemic" in Marin and that his investigation had led him to believe that there are "what could be mildly described as personnel problems" in the county health department.

Not only did he not find a venereal disease epidemic in the county, Bruce said, but he charged that statistics provided by the county's VD clinic staff were unreliable and that "questionable practices" were being used there.

He also accused Natalie K. Posner, a part-time health educator, of taking pay from Marin and Contra Costa counties for the same time periods.

Bruce blasted, although not by name, Philippa Denning-Kemp, investigator at the VD clinic, for "dominating the clinic and described her in his report as a "confidence woman" who had been disciplined in the past for falsifying expense accounts.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney told supervisors today that they could hear charges against Dr.Albrecht publicly but Mrs. Posner and Miss Denning-Kemp as civil servants have a right to a hearing before the county personnel board.

To complicate the matter further, he said, Dr. Albrecht is the only person who can fire the two employees."

Although Dr. Albrecht's attorney, former Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., said that Bruce's making the charges publicly, represented "administrative tyranny at its worst," he asked that her hearing be public.

He said, "there is no other recourse," since the charges had been published in the media.

A. Leonard Bjorklund, attorney for Mrs. Posner, said that "in view of the fact that a county official wants the district attorney to investigate" Mrs. Posner's alleged fraud, he wanted a closed session. Miss Denning-Kemp asked the whole matter be put over until her attorney returned from Los Angeles.

Pot Suspect Is Booked

San Rafael police said they stopped William Michael Purtell of 111 Buena Vista Avenue after he failed to stop at a red light and found that he lacked driver and vehicle identification and had a bag of suspected marijuana in his pocket.

Purtell was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Cotati Doctor Files For Petaluma Race

Dr. Fred A. Groverman, a Cotati veterinarian, filed nomination papers yesterday for election to the Petaluma Hospital District board on June 8.

Dr. Groverman, 400 Ormsby Lane, operates the Cotati Veterinary Hospital. He became the first to file for election to the board that operates Hillcrest Hospital. The terms of Albert P. Behrens Sr. and Jack Garrison will be up for election. Filing closes on April 1.

Haggard Takes Top Country Music Awards

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Merle Haggard was named top male vocalist and entertainer of the year and the song "For the Good Times" took three major honors Monday night at the sixty annual awards of the Academy of Country and Western Music.

Haggard, who won five awards last year including top entertainer, had received seven nominations to lead the field in the 23 categories of competition voted on by the academy's 1,500 members.

Top female vocalist of the year was Lynn Anderson and the top vocal group was the Kimberlys.

Touring band of the year was Haggard's Strangers and top television personality was Johnny Cash.

OBITUARIES

Richard Oller Jr. Dies At 50

Richard Harley Oller Jr. of Belvedere died at his home yesterday after a long illness. He was 50.

A native of Philadelphia, Oller served during World War II as an officer in the Air Force in the Pacific. He first came to Marin 22 years ago, but returned to the New York area for a period of 10 years during which time he was associated with several market research firms.

Four years ago, he and his family returned to Marin, residing at 7 Oak Avenue in Belvedere.

He is survived by his wife, Jean J. Oller of Belvedere, two daughters, Carolyn and Elizabeth Oller of Belvedere; his mother, Mrs. Richard H. Oller of Philadelphia, and two sisters, Mrs. Spencer Wright of Philadelphia and Mrs. Robert Durden of Durham, N.C.

Private family services will be held tomorrow in Marin.

Memorial contributions to the American Heart Association are preferred.

MRS. SOLDATE

Harriet P. Soldate, 87, a lifelong Petaluma resident, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Soldate was the widow of William Soldate and was a member of the Petaluma Grange, Golden Age Club and St. Mary's Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church.

She is survived by two sons, Lauren Soldate of Salinas and Earl Soldate of Petaluma; two daughters, Willeen Tucker and Elva Williams of Petaluma; three sisters, Dora Hayes of Sacramento, Verna Strittmatter of Sausalito and Edna Hill of San Rafael; a brother, Allen Nauert of Inverness; 12 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma, followed by private inurnment at Cypress Hill Memorial Park. Contributions may be made to St. John's Episcopal Church, Petaluma.

MRS. FRANCIS

Elizabeth Loretta Francis, 68, of 269 Calle De La Selva, Loma Verde, was discovered dead at her home yesterday morning, apparently of natural causes, according to Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig.

Coleen Cochran, a roomer, had seen Mrs. Francis alive at about 10 p.m. Sunday, and next saw her lying on her bedroom floor at about 9:30 a.m. yesterday, Craig reported.

Mrs. Francis had been dead "shortly after midnight," he said.

As Mrs. Francis suffered a hemorrhage, it appeared to be a natural death, Craig said, but since several Nembutal capsules were near the body, there will be a check into the possibility of accidental death resulting from a combination of alcohol and pills, Craig said. An autopsy is pending.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

EMILY MIDDLETON

Emily Anne Middleton of Tiburon died yesterday after a fall in a local convalescent hospital, apparently of natural causes, according to the Marin County Coroner's office. She was 93.

A native of Canada, Mrs. Middleton had lived in California approximately 70 years and resided at 99 Barbaree Way, Tiburon. She was a homemaker.

MRS. WILEY

Margaret D. Wiley of 33 Manzanita Road, Fairfax, died today at a San Francisco hospital. She was the wife of Army Lt. Col. Paul C. Wiley.

A native of Portland, Maine, Mrs. Wiley is also survived by a daughter, Catharine F. Eikenberry; a brother, Charles Seyford; a sister, Florence Knowles, and four grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. A Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Raphael's Church.

RITA FRASIER

Mrs. Rita V. Frasier, a longtime resident of Petaluma who died Saturday, was incorrectly identified in yesterday's Independent-Journal as Ruth Frasier.

Her sister, Merle O. Adams of Petaluma, also was misidentified as a brother.

SARAH CURRAN

Mass for Mrs. Sarah Curran, sister of Margaret Wall of San rafael, will be sung at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Leo's Church, Oakland.

Mrs. Curran, of Oakland, died Sunday after a long illness at Providence Hospital, Oakland. A native of Kentucky, she was the widow of the late Francis A. Curran, a former letter carrier in San Francisco.

She was a past president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the National Association of Letter Carriers of San Francisco.

In addition to her sister, Mrs. Curran is survived by a daughter, Sister Charleen Curran, CSJ, of Pasadena; a son, Francis J. Curran Jr. of Buena Park; and four grandchildren.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at the John Cox Piedmont Memorial Chapel, Oakland. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

FANCIES.

BY RINA.

When the dim twilight shadows
Fling round us a veil,
And the song of the night-birds
Swell out on the gale;

When the stars,—far more bright
Than the gems in a crown—
And the goddess of Night
Send their radiance down;

When all Nature's beauties,
Are softened by gloom,
And the roses are known
Only by their perfume;

Then, strange dreamy fancies
Flit by on the breeze,
And the wind as it sighs
Thro' the tall forest trees,

Whispers tales of a home
In a far sunny land,
Where Sorrow and Love,
Never walk hand in hand.

Ah! such dreams how they haunt us,
How they fling round the heart,
Their strange, weird spells,
With a sorcerer's art.

For the "Journal."

A Chapter of Occult History.

A very curious, if not extraordinary case, has recently come to light, and is now engaging the attention of the courts in Great Britain. We condense the facts, and present the principal points to our readers. The title of the suit is "Byers vs. The Attorney General." To the American reader it can be important only as a gem in English History, probably suppressed intentionally by the historians of that country, and because it lifts a corner of the veil that conceals the pool of royal profligacy which characterized the period in which the events occurred. The facts are as follows:

Lavina Janette Horton Ryves, 'such is the fair plaintiff's name,' filed her petition in the Court of Ordinary, claiming to be Princess of Cumberland, and Duchess of Lancaster, as the granddaughter and lineal representative in the female line of his royal highness, Henry Frederick Duke of Cumberland, who died intestate in the year 1790.—It appears that on the 4th day of March 1767, his Royal Highness Henry Frederick Duke of Cumberland, the brother of George the Third, was married at the house of Lord Archer in London, to Olive, the daughter of the Rev. Dr. James Wilmot, who was at the time highly honored in court. This lady, Olive, was the daughter of a private marriage contracted by Dr. Wilmot with a Polish princess, daughter of Stanislaus, King of Poland. Miss Wilmot having found favor in the eyes of the Duke of Cumberland, he offered his hand and was accepted. The ceremony was performed by the lady's father, Dr. Wilmot, and was attended by King George the Third, the celebrated Earl of Chatham (William Pitt,) the Earl of Warwick, and Lord Archer, in whose house the marriage took place. The certificate of this marriage as produced in court, duly attested, reads as follows:

"I hereby certify that I married Henry Frederick Duke of Cumberland, to Olive Wilmot, March 4, 1767, such marriage having been duly solemnized according to the rites and ceremonies of the Church of England. (Signed) J. WILMOT.
(Signed) "GEORGE R.
"CHATHAM.
"I witnessed such marriage.
(Signed)
"WARWICK."

On the 2nd day of October 1771, four years after his marriage with Olive Wilmot, the Duke of Cumberland, his first wife being still alive, contracted a marriage with Lady Anne Horton, daughter of the Earl of Carthampton. This last marriage was never recognized by the King, nor was the ever received at court.

On the 3d day of April 1772, Olive, the lawful wife of the Duke of Cumberland, was delivered at Warwick of a female child, who was also named Olive. The certificate of the birth of this child as appeared in proof is as follows:

"Olive, the daughter of Henry "Frederick, Duke of Cumberland, and "Olive, his lawful wife, born April 5, "1772, at Warwick.
"J. WILMOT,
"ROBERT WILMOT.
(Signed) "J. DUNNING,
"CHATHAM."

This child was baptized privately as the offspring of the Duke of Cumberland, and was declared by the Earl of Warwick; but was afterwards re-baptized by directions of the King, so that she might pass as the child of Robert Wilmot. Mr. Dunning, afterwards created Lord Ashburton, wrote in relation to the matter thus:

"I declare the Duke of Cumberland's "marriage with Olive Wilmot to be "legal, by command of the King."—

His majesty also made a provision of £500 a year for the infant daughter of the marriage, "until a more suitable "provision could be made for her."—The King afterwards issued the following:

"GEORGE R.—We declare the birth "of Olive, the infant of the Duke of "Cumberland, by Olive his Duchess, "to be legitimate, who is condemned to "privacy by the act of bigamy committed by her royal father.
(Signed) "CHATHAM.
"DUNNING,
"WARWICK,
"J. WILMOT."

The marriage of the Duke was kept secret, and the child, Olive, passed as the child of Mr. Robert Wilmot, and resided with her grand-father, Dr. Wilmot, at "Barton on the Heath," until her marriage with one John Thomas Serres in 1792. She remained ignorant of her royal birth until 1815, when the secret was revealed to her by the Earl of Warwick.

The proofs further show that George the Third in his will bequeaths,—"to Olive, our brother of Cumberland's daughter, the sum of £15,000, commanding our heir and successor to "pay the same privately, to our said "niece, for her use, as a recompense "for the misfortunes she may have "known through her father."

Lord Warwick made the Duke of Kent acquainted with the facts, who afterwards recognized Mrs. Serres as his cousin. His Royal Higness when on his death bed, wrote thus:

"Should I not recover, I recommend my dear cousin Olive to my "wife, who will, for my sake, love and "serve her until she recovers her loyal "rights. I solemnly recommend my "daughter to revere the Princess Olive "of Cumberland for my sake.
"EDWARD."

And again—

"If this paper meets my dear Alexandrina's eye, my dear cousin Olive "will present it, whom my daughter "will, for my sake, I hope, love and "serve, should I depart this life.
"EDWARD."

The petitioner, Lavina, J. H. Reves claims as the eldest surviving daughter of this Mr. Serres, and Olive, called Wilmot, but as it really appears, the Duchess of Cumberland and Lancaster, and seeks to recover the revenues, on account of her mother and herself to the amount of £100,644, and also £105,320, as a bequest from the royal family of England.

Serres, the father of the petitioner was marine draughtsman to George the Third, to the Admiralty, and to the then Duke of Clarence—he was also employed under Nelson at Copenhagen and Trafalgar.

It appears further in the case that her father and mother seperated in 1803—that she lived with her mother until her marriage. Certificates of the marriage of her mother with Serres, and of herself with Ryves were also exhibited. The parents of the claimant seperated, and her own husband abandoned her more than twenty years ago, leaving six children, whom she has creditably supported ever since.

There are many other minor details corroborative of the main facts which are interesting, but which we must omit for want of space. Suffice it to say, that the court before which the case is pending, has clearly intimated the right of the petitioner to the claims which she has advanced; and little remains but to pronounce judgment in her favor. Is not this the romance of History?

☞ The Austin Intelligencer, has been permitted to publish the following extract from a letter written by General Houston to an old friend, which defines his position thus;

"You say it is reported that I am for secession. Ask those who say so to point to a word of mine authorizing the statement. I have declared myself in favor of peace, of harmony, of compromise, in order to obtain a fair expression of the will of the people. Dangerous as may be the precedent inaugurated by the Convention, before the majesty of the law, which recognizes its power to submit the question of disunion to the people, I yield in the same spirit that actuated Andrew Jackson in paying the fine arbitrarily imposed on him at New Orleans. I am determined that those who would overthrow law shall learn no lesson from me. I still believe that secession will bring ruin and civil war. Yet if the people will, I can bear it with them. I would fain not be declared an alien from my native home in old Virginia, to the scenes of my early toils and triumphs in noble Tennessee. I would not, of my own choice, give up the banner beneath which I have fought; the Constitution which I have revered, or the Union which I have loved and cherished as the glorious priceless heritage bequeathed me by my fathers.

Sixty-seven years of freedom, the recollections of past triumphs and sufferings, the memories of heroes whom I have seen and known, and whose venerated shades would haunt my footsteps were I to falter now, may perhaps have made me too devoted to the Constitution and the Union, but be it so. Did I believe that liberty and the rights of the South demanded the sacrifice, I would not hesitate. I believe that less concession than was necessary to frame the Constitution will now preserve it.

Thus believing, I cannot vote for secession. I have hesitated to say any thing on this topic, because I desire the people to act for themselves. My views are on record. Yet it is perhaps but right that my friends should know that the charge that I am for secession is false, If I err in hodling on still to the skirts of my venerated old mother, Virginia, and the foster-mother which matured me from boyhood, glorious Tennessee, my countrymen will forgive me, as they have forgiven me for many other things I have done. I am willing even to be called a submissionist for their sake."

Marin's First Newspaper Started 110 Years Ago

One hundred and ten years ago toady, Marin's first newspaper was pressed out by a handful of settlers in the dining room of the San Rafael Hotel.

"To the people of the county of Marin this paper is most respectfully dedicated . . .," it began.

No one is really sure how many issues of the Marin County Journal were produced that day or how long it took, but the fleging weekly prospered and eventually became what is today the Independent-Journal.

The newspaper and the county both have come a long way since Printer Jerome Barney founded the Journal in the dingy hotel room, March 23, 1861.

Today, the I-J runs off some 44,000 issues daily on its 250-ton Hoe Colormatic press which has a top speed of 70,000 issues an hour.

Editors and reporters furnish Marin and Southen Sonoma subscribers with complete county coverage, and United Press International provides worldwide news minutes after its happening.

Barney's Journal survived 87 years of fierce newspaper rivalry in the county outliving three rival weeklies which sprang up in Marin in the last 20 years of the 19th Century — The Tocsin, San Rafael Sun and Evening Journal. All three slipped quietly out of existence.

But another weekly — the San Rafael Independent — started at the turn of the century and survived to become the Journal's biggest rival.

By 1927 the Independent was publishing daily while the Journal continued as a weekly until 1948 when for a brief stint it appeared as a morning daily.

Financial difficulties, beset the Journal in the post - World War II years, caused primarily by the skyrocketing price of paper and lead.

California Newspapers Inc., owners of the San Rafael Independent since 1937, purchased the financilly troubled Journal, on Nov. 30, 1948.

Under the leadership of publisher the late Roy Brown and co-owners the late Justus Craemer, California Newspaper's board chairman, the I-J grew to match county's post war expansion.

At the time of the merger, Marin's population stood at 85,000.. Combined circulation of both papers was 13,000.

Marin's and the I-J's growth were triggered by three factors — first came the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge in 1937, followed by an influx during World War II of residents brought to the county by Marinship and Hamilton Air Force Base.

Finally, the general population increase in California in the last 20 years has been shared by Marin.

A new multi-million dollar plant has been built around the converted ice house at Julia and B streets that was the office and shop of the San Rafael Independent.

Both Brown and Craemer died in the spring of 1966, shortly after completion of the new plant. Their sons, Wishard A. Brown and Jack C. Craemer, now fill their positions as a publisher and co-publisher.

Deliveries Of Farmer John Pork Stopped

In response to charges that Farmer John brand pork products may be unhealthy, Clover Diary Products, which serves Marin, has stopped delivering Farmer John Bacon.

Clover's Marin manager, Winslow W. Ledson, said the bacon deliveries were stopped last week after a workmen's compensation medical examiner charged that 23 persons who worked in the Clougherty Packing Co. in Vernon, Los Angeles County, were afflicted with brucellosis, a fever that results from contact with infected animals.

The disease could also be transmitted to housewives and other consumers, Dr. Ruben Merliss of Los Angeles said.

Three Youths Hurt In Mishap

Three San Rafael youths were taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital Saturday after their car hit a parked auto on Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

According to police, Rebecca S. Kesler, 17, who was driving the 1965 white and blue Chevrolet Malibu, struck a car parked at 845 Las Gallinas Avenue at 2:39 p.m., pushing the vehicle 41 feet along a sidewalk.

Rebecca and her two sisters, Jennifer and Leslie, who were passengers in the car, were treated for cuts and bruises at Kaiser and released.

Wachsman Horse Permit Before Planners Again

The San Rafael Planning Commission faces a controversial decision at its 7:30 meeting tonight: whether to unlock the stable doors of Edward K. Wachsman.

Wachsman, former Marin County planning commissioner, has filed an appeal with the planners, hoping to get a permit to keep an Arabian horse and a Shetland pony at his home at 50 Palm Avenue, San Rafael.

It's been six months — the time limit required by city regulations before an appeal can be filed — since the city council reversed a planning commission decision to grant Wachsman the permit.

The matter came before the council when some of Wachsman's neighbors appealed the planners decision to grant the permit.

The horse and pony have been in the news since 1968 in a series of battles between Wachsman and his neighbors and Wachsman and the city.

The commission, which meets at city hall, will also take up various subdivision, use permits and architectural approvals.

Innocent Plea To Drug Charges

A trail was set for the week of June 1.

A bench warrant is still out for a codefendant, Steven Charles Barrett, 37, of no known address, who failed to appear for a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court in February.

Novato's School Budget May Mean Pay Freeze

The Novato Unified School District board last night adopted a preliminary budget for next year of $9,914,017 that could mean a freeze in salary for many employees.

The tentative fiscal 1971-72 budget is $29,595 less than the $9,943,702 spending program submitted to the board on Feb. 16 and $113,593 less than the current one of $10,027,700.

In adopting the budget, pending action on a final spending program later this spring, the board froze all classified employee wages at the current level and all certificated employees to current salary steps. Teachers still could advance by class, that is, if they obtained credits, but not by steps, said Supt. James G. Bunker.

The district has a six-class and 12-step pay scale for certificated employees.

The vote on the budget was 5-0, with trustee William Schneeflock absent.

By freezing salaries, Bunker estimated the district would save $141,488 — or $131,112 in teacher salaries and other small wage amounts.

Transportation also was cut by $4,116 and capital outlay by $5,000.

The slashed funds then were added, however, to reserves, increasing the sum from $10,076 in the original budget to $164,900 in the adopted tentative budget.

Board President Dan H. Barber still felt, however, the reserve level was long.

"We can accept this budget now and change it later in May and June when we have a better idea of our income and enrollment for next year," said trustee Marett B. Boissevain.

To save costs further, Liz Mertel, candidate for the board of the April 20 election, suggested the district check into charter bus systems in Santa Barbara and La Canada under which students are charged for school transportation.

The board asked Bunker to check all districts in the state in which charter buses are used.

"If John Q. Public has to shell out money for school busing, there will be a lot of children walking to school" said trustee Carolyn Crabtree.

Boissevain observed that it was costing the district $23 per student per year for transportation. And he called it "cheap transportation."

John Enders, president of the Novato Teachers Association, passed out a mimeographed statement of teachers views of the freeze at the close of the meeting. It said the freeze would "result in inequities," but also recognized that Novato and other California districts were having financial difficulties.

In other action last night, the board accepted the resignation of teacher Michael Quinn, now on leave from San Marin High School.

Man Pleads In LSD Drug Case

Robert Earl Marriott, 23, of San Geronimo, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of possessing marijuana for sale and possessing LSD and cocaine.

Trial was set for the week of May 24.

The marijuana and LSD charges stem from a drug raid on a San Geronimo residence Nov. 27, and the cocaine charge is in connection with his allegedly having the drug in his possession when he was booked on traffic warrants at Marin County Jail April 13.

Souza Backers

Robert Hinshaw of Tiburon and Robert S. Imel of Belvedere have been appointed co-chairmen of the campaign to re-elect Leo Souza to the Reed School District board.

WHY WE THINK FEDERAL EMPLOYEES WILL BE BETTER OFF WITHOUT PAYCHECKS.

If you work for the government, then you probably already know about the new pay system available to employees of most federal agencies.

Basically, it works like this:

Where's your pay?

Where it should be. In a bank.

Every payday, your net earnings can be automatically deposited by your employer to a Security Pacific Bank checking account, at any branch you choose.

Now you don't have to.

While other people spend half their lunch hour making a deposit, you can spend half your lunch hour eating your lunch.

And have half a lunch hour left over.

IF YOU'VE NEVER HAD A PAYCHECK LOST OR STOLEN, NOW YOU NEVER WILL.

You think it'll never happen to you.

Now you know it'll never happen to you.

By eliminating the paycheck, you eliminate any worry of loss or theft.

YOU WAKE UP ONE MORNING, AND YOU'VE GOT MONEY IN THE BANK.

You don't even have to think about it. Because on payday, your pay is in your checking account, ready for you to use.

Even if you're on vacation, away on business, or home ill, if you're supposed to get paid that day, you get paid that day.

Automatically.

To take advantage of this new system, fill out form #1189 (available from your department head) and bring it to any branch of Security Pacific Bank.

Or, you can fill in the information below and bring it to any branch of Security Pacific Bank where we'll type out form #1189 for you.

After that, it's like money in the bank.

I WOULD LIKE TO HAVE MY NET EARNINGS AUTOMATICALLY DEPOSITED TO A SECURITY PACIFIC BANK CHECKING ACCOUNT:

County Health Officer Deserves Fair Treatment

County Administrator Alan Bruce has proposed that Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht be fired as Marin County health officer for inept management and "apparent fraud."

The county administrator, who usually asks for a closed meeting with the board of supervisors to discuss the smallest personnel matter, called for Dr. Albrecht's removal in a public announcement.

Dr. Albrecht, a sincere, dedicated public servant whose employment as county health officer began well before there was any such thing in Marin as a county administrator, deserves better treatment than this.

She may be an inept administrator. There may be reasons why she should be replaced. But before the county administrator or anyone else starts howling for her head, a thorough investigation should be made. And it should be made by someone other than the county administrator.

THE CHARGES BRUCE leveled against Dr. Albrecht do not in themselves sound devastating — especially when they come from Alan Bruce.

The "apparent fraud" consists of these two allegations: That she employed Natalie K. Posner, part-time Marin County health educator, on full time while Mrs. Posner also was drawing part-time pay from Contra Costa County, and that the Cass Agency of El Cerrito, engaged to help publicize Marin's rubella innoculation drive, is operated by Mrs. Posner's daughter and son-in-law.

Records in the two counties show that Mrs. Posner drew pay from both which sometimes added up to more than 17 hours a day during the rubella campaign. It appears that someone got gypped here. But whether it was Marin or Contra Costa has not been established.

Dr. Albrecht says Mrs. Posner worked full time for her. If so, it would seem that Contra Costa should take action against Mrs. Posner — not Marin against Dr. Albrecht.

COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR Bruce sees the double payment as fraud. However, he did not see it as fraud when he tried to have Dr. Clyde Miller paid his full salary as county mental health director during the month that he was suspended from duties as punishment. He did not see it as fraud when he tried to have Dr. Miller paid for eight days by which he exceeded an already-extended vacation. He was blocked on those two attempts by Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

County Administrator Bruce describes employment of the Cass Agency, owned by Mrs. Posner's daughter and son-in-law, as nepotism. He finds this so inexcusable that he makes it a reason for firing the county health officer from the job she has held for 17 years.

HOWEVER, BRUCE MADE no suggestion that he be fired when his wife, Constance, was employed by the county as a psychiatric social worker (under Dr. Miller) at $683 per month for five months in 1965; nor when his son, David, worked as a county fireman during the summers of 1965 and 1966 at $14.48 per day. Nepotism, it seems, is not always a cause for firing.

The county administrator also charges that Dr. Albrecht has inflated reports of the amount of venereal disease in Marin. There are many who would take the opposite view: that her reports have failed to reflect the spread of such disease in the county, and that she waited too long to alert the board of supervisors to the situation.

Incidentally, the reason that Mrs. Posner is only a part-time employee of Marin County, while also drawing pay from Contra Costa, is that County Administrator Bruce vetoed Dr. Albrecht's request for a fulltime health educator — in spite of a 1969 grand jury report urging the necessity for such a position.

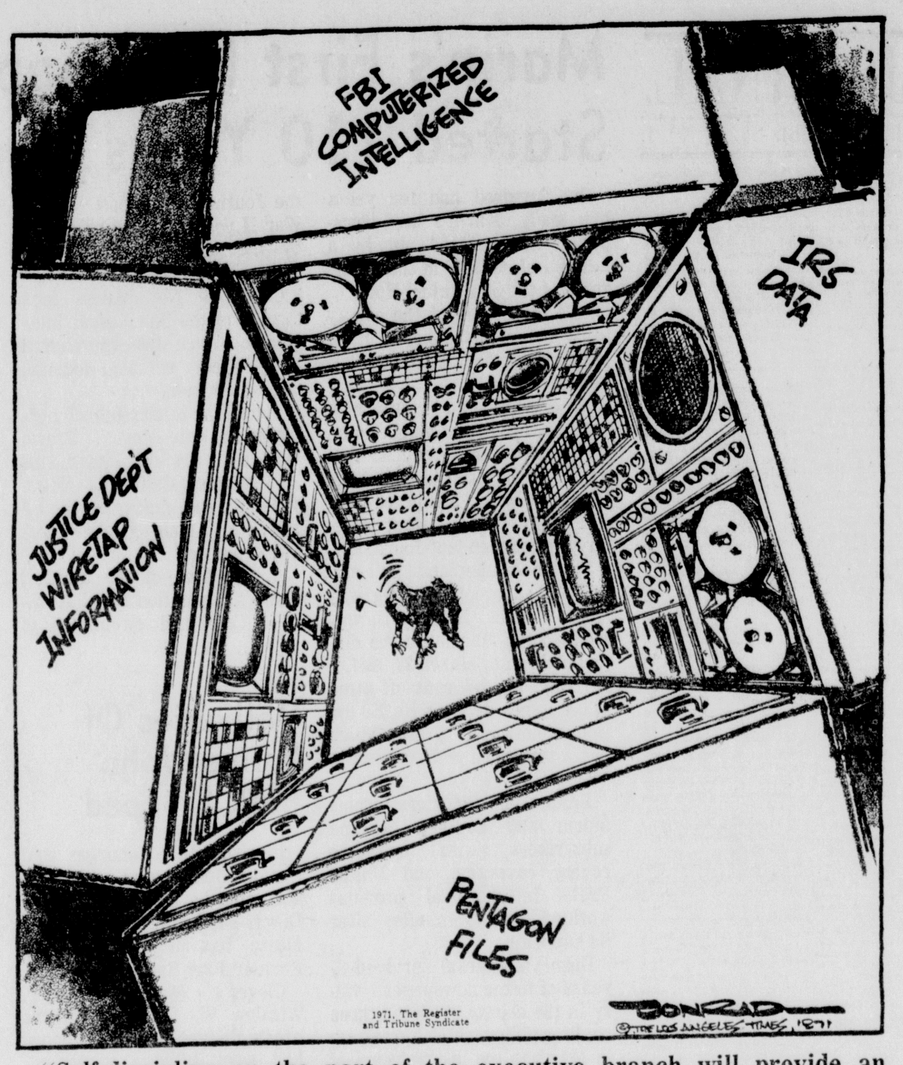
We agree. Firing of a department head who has demonstrated conscientiousness and devotion over a 17-year period, on the basis of flimsy charges would also be inimical to the public interest.

Let us have a thorough investigation of the county health department. But let it be done by a disinterested party, and let it be done with consideration for the department head involved — consideration notably lacking in Bruce's handling.



"Self-discipline on the part of the executive branch will provide an answer to virtually all of the legitimate complaints against excesses of information gathering . . . This is a recorded message . . . "

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Cats Are Cleaner Than Some People

Couldn't agree with you more, Supervisor Peter Arrigoni, as to bringing Hank (the cat) in out of the rain. Like you, I've never heard of anyone getting food poisoning from having a cat around. In fact I know some cats that are a lot cleaner looking than some people now a day. For instance: my two. They thoroughly wash before and after each meal, keep their hair smooth and respectably groomed and maintain impeccable toilet habits. From some of the sights I see around the county; give me Hank anytime.

Need For Cycling And Recycling

In this ecology-minded era, it is very encouraging to see the increased amount of cycling done in our county ("tri", "bi", etc., as well as "re").

Your wonderful articles on recycling are a great service to us all and prompt me to ask if you could provide a similar article on rules of the road for the other cycle enthusiasts as well as motorists. Every day there are cyclists on the right side of the street, on the left side of the street and at times even in the middle of the street. One has only to read your paper to note the accidents involving cyclists with cars, cyclists with other cyclists, cyclists with pedestrians, etc. So for all of us, please help?

Malpractice Suits Not Merely Greed

Mr. Jerry Nault's letter published March 13 under the caption "'Sue The Doctor' Practice Costly" naively places the spiraling costs of medical care on what he considers unreasonable people in the community of unsatiable greed aided and abetted by irresponsible shysters resulting in unwarranted judgments. It is clear that anyone who makes such generalizations is lacking in any facts of specific cases.

Had Mr. Nault made any research into malpractice suits he would feel otherwise . . .

The medical profession is not immune from the legal principle that one is responsible for his actions. It is not that people are getting more unwarranted judgments but rather that those victimized by professional incompetents are fortunately surviving, often through the efforts of reputable and responsible physicians, and asserting their rights to recover damages as partial indemnification for their losses.

Furry Creatures Find A Champion

In the past month or so, Supervisor (Peter R.) Arrigoni has been stumping the Bay Area for a cause known as "the furry creatures." First were the furry birds of Bolinas Lagoon after the unfortunate oil spill in February. Supervisor Arrigoni actually participated in that cleanup campaign (risking tetanus), and should be commended for his leadership.

More recently, he has taken his crusade into the territory of San Francisco, and has invited the squirrels and raccoons in the Golden Gate Park to Marin County, much to the delight of San Francisco supervisors. At his instigation (though risking the hazard of rabies) Marin County will arrange to transport here whatever is left, if any, of the poor furry creatures so that they will have a safer home. A warm and kind gesture, indeed.

And, just today, at the risk of violating the Public Health Code, which was written to protect people from animal-carried diseases, he has announced that he is taking full responsibility to allow Hank, the furry feline of Fairfax, to remain inside Harry's Market away from the rain. An admirable act.

If Supervisor Arrigoni is campaigning for his second term, I hope he won't forget us "furry" people!

Waldie Takes Slap At His Critics

Once again, I am moved to respond to a personal attack on me and other opponents of the Peripheral Canal and the California Water Project by the California Water Resources Association, an organization representing the water contractors of the state and located in Southern California.

A recent letter to editors of California newspapers suggests that my opposition to the Peripheral Canal and the State Water Project as now proposed is based on "faulty reasoning" and would, in fact, mean that I advocate taking water from "new babies."

I find that this caliber of criticism from the California Water Resources Association is typical of the hysteria gripping the water contractors and their good friends the Southern California land developers.

During the course of the past 11 years in which I have opposed the State Water Project, and the Peripheral Canal, I have met and debated the issues involved with many men whom I respect and admire. The level of discussion has for the most part been high and the resultant information, pro and con, has been helpful in giving the public a full disclosure and a better understanding of the Water Project, the Peripheral Canal and the environmental impact on the Bay-Delta System.

The California Water Resources Association has done nothing to dignify that debate. I would hope that responsible advocates of the water project would take steps to repudiate the level of personal vitriol issuing from the CWRA or else withdraw their monetary support from this group.

Candidate Airs His Platform

I send the following remarks to you with full knowledge that they will not appear in your newspaper.

As you are possibly aware, I am one of two candidates for election as mayor in San Rafael. While my opponent continues to demonstrate his total lack of concern for this city and its growing problems, I am forced to wage my campaign without substantial funds and without any real notice from your paper. I realize that editorially you may support Mr. (C. Paul) Bettini, but I seriously doubt that such support reflects the attitudes of a majority of your readers.

The issues I am rasing in this campaign are vital to our common future, whatever approaches to solutions we may individually favor. I am asking the voters whether they feel that our city can survive the continued "government by ingroup" we now have, considering that our population is growing fast and that we now have only part-time administration by our elected officials and a part-time approach to the problems of a rising crime rate, drug abuse, urbanization, and corruption in city government.

This is a most critical election. If San Rafael continues its course toward uncontrolled expansion we will soon be living in the kind of urban area most of us live here to avoid: crowded conditions, traffic jams, crime, pollution. The people are more sophisticated than Mr. Bettini apparently believes: they will not sit still for more of the same, when more of the same will clearly ruin the beauty and serenity we want in our community.

TEACHER TENURE LAW

By ARTHUR YOUNGBERG
California News Alliance

The idea is so simple: an orderly way to dismiss an incompetent employee. In business, government, wherever there are workers and bosses, most organizations have a practical system for discharging an employee who doesn't do the job.

Teachers are different, though. The normal management-employee relationship is distorted by fierce faculty determination for academic freedom; for a legal right not to be fired for arbitrary, capricious or political reasons.

The name of that legal right is "tenure." It has deep roots in the educational system. In California this year tenure is the center of a new public concern over the problems of education.

CHANGES IN TENURE law that will affect teacher dismissals are before the state Legislature now and more bills will be filed by the April 2 deadline.

Under California's education law a teacher has the right to demand a superior court trial when faced with dismissal for cause. School districts and the teacher then face a costly, time-consuming legal process.

A hearing officer would replace the superior court in most tenure law modifications before the legislature this year. Both school districts and teacher organizations support the third party hearing officer concept; but there is a strong conflict over who will make the final determination.

The state Board of Education has recommended giving the hearing officer final authority. Teacher groups concur. The California School Boards Association disagrees.

A tenure reform bill by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Encinitas, proposes a three-person competence panel in addition to the hearing office. School boards would make the final decision only if the panel and the hearing officer disagree.

Import Quota Bill Consigned To Ash Heap By Nixon Action

WASHINGTON — There will be no trade bill out of this Congress. That is the blunt warning delivered by blunt-spoken Rep. Wilbur D. Mills to all and sundry from the White House on down. As chairman of the ways and means committee which initiates trade and tariff legislation, Mills knows what he is talking about.

To say that everybody is unhappy over President Nixon's action in slapping down a voluntary Japanese quota on textiles imported to this country is the height of understatement. No. 1 on the list is Mills himself, who acted as unofficial intermediary for representatives of the Japanese textile industry.

The quota the Japanese agreed to was not so advantageous as the president had hoped to obtain. But since the White House got nowhere with efforts to bridge the gap between the American textile industry and the Japanese, Mills figured he was doing a good turn.

MILLS IS CONVINCED that every effort the White House made fell short. One reason was that the American Textile Manufacturers Institute had been given a veto. With the Nixon 1968 pledge of protection of textiles uppermost, they were not satisfied with any limit the Japanese would accept.

So now with the President's slap-down of the Mills agreement, they have nothing. Total imports of textiles from 1965 through 1970 increased, according to the figures put together by the ways and means staff, by 143 per cent. The increase in 1970 over '68 was 34 per cent, of which Japan accounted for 28.

Under agreement that had Mills' blessing, 1970 was to be the base with an increase limited to five per cent each year for three years. Considering the steep escalation over the past five years, this was considered a fair break.

LAST YEAR the White House persuaded the ways and means chairman to put through a trade bill. It provided quotas not only for textiles but also for shoes, along with a provision known as the "Byrnes basket" after Rep. John W. Byrnes, the ranking Republican on the committee. By a complicated formula the Byrnes basket provided for quotas applied when imports reached a certain level on a wide range of commodities. It could be invoked, according to a study made by the tariff commission, against television, radio and other electronic devices, sewing machines, various electrical gadgets, and perhaps autos.

The bill died in the Senate toward the end of the session. It had caused widespread concern in western Europe with the threat that a trade war would almost certainly follow the imposition of quotas.

"A LIBERAL trade policy . . . is indispensable to our domestic economic health and to a successful U.S. foreign policy," the President said in his state of the world report. ". . . Liberal trade policies are fundamental to our relations with the industrialized nations of Europe, Japan and Canada, our major trading partners . . . Our economic relations with these countries are inseparable from our political and military relations; they are a crucial element in our partnership."

What relevance those words have to the drive to impose a textile quota is hard to see. There has been a lot of speculation about why the President slammed the door with such obvious resentment, one explanation being a revival of the southern strategy. Since the deed is done, it doesn't matter. The president is mad, the Japanese are mad, Mills is mad, the textile manufacturers are mad — and if anyone has been left out it is surely an accident.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When the Argentine military ousted Juan D. Peron in 1955 it was to abolish dictatorship and restore democracy. Today, after a decade and a half of intermittent military rule interspersed with unstable civilian governments, mounting violence, including political kidnapings and murder, and the rise of a Marxist government in Chile, there is a growing wonder whether Peronism was so bad after all.

Even among the military there are those who would not oppose his return, a thing unthinkable less than a year ago.

PERON CODDLED those he called "the shirtless ones" and even though he and the top echelon among his supporters milked the Argentine treasury of an estimated $700 million, he left behind a reservoir of affection that today continues to control about one-third of the Argentine vote.

At the root of Argentina's problem is an economy which has not kept pace with the expectations of the ethnically European population. To keep up with the standard of living which Argentinians have learned to expect, many work two and three jobs.

But in the big provincial cities outside Buenos Aires, the capital, these jobs are not always obtainable.

IT WAS IN JUNE, 1966, that Lt. Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, dissatisfied with the efforts of an elected civilian government to restore economic stability, took over the government in a bloodless coup. In June, four years later, for similar reasons, and because Ongania had become known as anti-labor, he also was deposed and another army general put in his place.

This was Brig. Gen. Roberto Marcelo Levingston, the man Argentinians ironically call "the unknown soldier."

Ongania had halted inflation and, on the surface at least, given the country a healty economy. But it had been accomplished through rigid suppression of political and trade-union activities, including a freeze on wages and prices.

Under Levingston a new tactic was attempted.

A LITTLE INFLATION, it was decided, wouldn't hurt. Wages were increased and there was a vague promise of free elections in "four or five years."

In Cordoba this week it led to the second general strike of 1971, to looting and burning and to one rioter dead and dozens injured.

With exceptions already noted, most Argentine military men oppose Peron's return, and with good reason since they could become the objects of his revenge should he return to power. But more than they fear Peron, they fear imported communism.

Petalumans have become a vocal lot in recent years when it comes to telling the city council what it's been doing wrong and what can be done to improve the city. Now residents can put their thoughts into writing and collectively, perhaps, their views will carry more weight.

All residents should receive a questionnaire on the future of Petaluma thorugh the mail today or tomorrow. Some, no doubt, will consider it junk mail and heave it out immediately, but it's hoped others will take a few minutes to think seriously about what they want the future of their city to be and to fill out the form and return it.

The 12 questions have largely been answered at city council meetings in the past year. Most of the opinions have been voiced by East side residents who feel they've been shortchanged by the city with crowded schools, a lack of parks, traffic congestion, and generally thoughtless planning.

Either the city council hasn't been truly listening in the past or there's a great deal of doubt tht the opinions heard have been widely shared.

IT CAN BE SAFELY assumed that responses will be heaviest from the critical Eastside, but it will be interesting to see if Westsiders perhaps share the same views in regards to the preservation of open space around the city and control over the ultimate size.

Opinions on industrial growth may show the widest divergence between the two sections of town. While the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce has been working hard but unsuccessfully to lure industry, residents have been equally insistent that the council be choosy about what types of industries are permitted. The city staff and council look first at the sewerage requirements of the prospective industry, but residents seem to be looking at the overall environmental effect the industry will have.

The questionnaire may show that Petalumans are willing to pay higher taxes to keep undesirable industry out. Few industries are located in East Petaluma, but residents still complain. The least desirable appear to be the Royal Tallow and Soap Co., which sometimes emits foul odors, and the congested auto wrecking yards on Hopper Street.

THE RESULTS of the survey may only substantiate what the council has been hearing for these many months; but perhaps when the opinion results are presented in black and white, the views will carry greater weight.

Petalumans are tired of seeing expensive reports get shelved to gather dust and the evaluation of opinion forms may well become the council's bible for some time to come.

State Welfare Roll Jumps By 50,000

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Another 48,873 Californians joined the welfare and Medi-Cal rolls last month, swelling the statewide caseload to 2.45 million, the Department of Social Welfare said yesterday.

The department reported nearly 4,000 men were added to the massive Aid to Families with Dependent Children program (AFDC) in February.

In its monthly caseload report, the department said there were 2,451,387 Californians on welfare and eligible for Medi-Cal last month compared with 2,402,553 for the previous month.

Men who joined the AFDC rolls totaled 70,161 last month, compared with 66,189 in January.

The Department of Human Resources Development reported, meantime, that between 6,500 and 7,000 persons each week are using up their unemployment insurance benefits. A worker can receive unemployment insurance for a maximum 39 weeks.

In February, there were 2,177,775 persons receiving state cash grants compared with 2,130,807 in January. At the same time last year, the total was 1,708,190.

Medi-Cal, the state's health care program for the poor, recorded a slight increase in the number of beneficiaries. Medi-Cal has been operating under Reagan administration imposed cost-cutting regulations since December.

In February there were 168,201 Medi-Cal recipierts, an increase of 400 over January. One year ago, they numbered 217,326.

The department said there were 105,411 recipients who received county general relief last month compared with 103,145 in January. They totaled 70,545 in February 1970.

There were 1.61 million persons receiving AFDC cash grants last month; 323,069 receiving aid to the aged; 14,015 receiving aid to the blind; 187,809 receiving aid to the disabled.

County general relief recipients totaled 105,411.

Balk Over Consumer Warranties

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon's consumer adviser said today the administration agrees basically with a Senate bill designed to make product warranties more honest, but would prefer that the government not set warranty standards.

Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer, the White House consumer affairs adviser, said in testimony to a Senate Consumers subcommittee the Senate bill, in effect, would set standards that might not be adequate for all products.

The administration has proposed a bill that among other things would require a manufacturer to spell out in simple language what a warranty covered.

The Senate bill went a step further, however, to define warranties as "full" or "partial." A full warranty would meet minimum federal standards as yet not spelled out.

Mrs. Knauer said the administration would prefer to allow the consumer to make a choice between warranties for each individual product.

"We should aim primarily for a close matching of consumer need and buyer offer," she said. "A chrome-plated power can opener with a 'full' warranty for five years will not suit all tastes."

"If the FTC disclosure rules are successful in giving consumers a good, clear understanding of what they are getting in warranty protection, they can as a group be expected to choose from a variety of warranty protections."

The proposed warranty legislation also would limit the use of the terms "warranty" or "guarantee" when the manufacturer actually is saying only what the warranty will not cover; would require language to warn consumers when a manufacturer does not honor implied warranties; and the Federal Trade Commission would have the authority to require additional disclosures in warranties.

Survey Begun To Gauge Need For Tiburon Crossing

The City of Tiburon and the Reed School District have begun gathering data which they hope will demonstrate the need for pedestrian crossings of busy Tiburon Boulevard.

Jan Whitescarver, a member of the school district's facility and transportation committee, said questionnaires have been sent to parents of each district student.

The questionnaires ask how many children presently walk to school along the former Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, which the city plans to turn into a paved pathway; what the hours of greatest use are; and how many plan to use the path once it is paved.

Results of the questionnaire, Mrs. Whitescarver said, will be used to convince the state Division of Highways that safe pedestrian crossings of Tiburon Boulevard are needed.

Windows Broken At Performance Center

Vandals broke two plate glass windows between 6:30 p.m. Saturday and 11:46 a.m. Sunday, at Rupp's Performance Center, 121 Jacoby Street, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Owner Karl Sandholdt, who valued the windows at $475, offered $50 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the vandals. Information may be given either to Sandholdt or the San Rafael police, he said.

Design Review Board To Meet In Tiburon

The Tiburon Design Review Board will hold a special meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at city hall to consider design review of a house proposed for 25 Meadowhill Drive, Tiburon.

Design review of the structure is required because it exceeds two stories and 30 feet in height at several points.

Warrant Issued In Forgery Case

A bench warrant was issued yesterday in Marin Superior Court for Louis Anthony Guise, 42, of Arnold, Calaveras County, when he failed to appear for arraignment on a charge of passing a forged prescription at a Novato pharmacy Feb. 8.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner set bail on the warrant at $2,500.

Times Sure Are A-Changin' —Even Banks Have Gone Bananas

WASHINGTON — If everybody in the country is becoming schizophrenic, they're entitled to it. Even the banks have gone bananas.

Just a few months ago, because of the tight money situation, it was impossible to get a loan from a bank. In order to attract deposits, they were offering everything from hot water bottles to color television sets if people would just leave their savings in for 90 days.

You can imagine my surprise then, when I turned on the radio the other day and heard a commerical for my bank which said that anyone borrowing more than $500 would get a free fondue cooking set.

I couldn't believe it, so I rushed down to the bank to see my friend Stokesbury, who is a vice president.

"STOKESBURY," I SAID, "what is this about you offering a fondue cooking set if someone borrows $500 or more?"

"It's true," Stokesbury said. "If you don't want a fondue cooking set, we'll give you a wooden salad bowl with an oxboned butter knife."

"But I was here three months ago, pleading with you for a loan of $500 and you threw me out," I said.

"I hope you're not the kind of person who holds a grudge," Stokesbury said. "Here's $500, and to show you there are no hard feelings, I'll loan you another $10,000 at the prime interest rate."

"No dice," I said. "As a matter of fact, I'm thinking of making a deposit."

"OH, NO," cried Stokesbury, "don't make a deposit. Everybody is making deposits. We need people to BORROW money, not to save it."

"I don't understand what's happened in just three months to turn you around," I said.

Stokesbury held his head in his hands. "It's fear. People are afraid of being thrown out of work. If Kellerman on Chestnut Street loses his job, everybody else on Chestnut Street suddenly becomes frightened and says, 'Let's put the money in the bank. We could be next.' No one wants to get into debt any more. How can we have a thriving economy if people SAVE, SAVE, SAVE, SAVE?"

"I'M VERY SYMPATHETIC to your problem, Stokesbury," I said, "And I wish I could help you out by borrowing money, but my wife says we should put something aside for a rainy day."

"You could be dead by the time it rains," Stokesbury shouted at me. "Listen, suppose I make you a token loan of $200, payable at your convenience, and I throw in a washer and dryer. Would you go for it?"

"I don't know."

"What do you want, my blood?" Stokesbury cried. "I haven't made a loan in a week. Help me!" He was down on his knees. "Please, hlep me."

"ALL RIGHT," I said. I'll borrow the $200 but we want the washer, dryer and the fondue cooking set."

"It's yours," said Stokesbury, shoving the $200 in my pocket.

After he helped me load the washer, dryer and fondue set into the car, he grabbed my hand warmly and said, "I'll never forget this."

I turned away so I couldn't cry.

Laos News Lid Irks Journalists

CHICAGO (UPI)—A committee of Sigma Delta Chi, the national professional journalistic society, has criticized the U.S. government for "excessively prolonged" news restrictions on the Allied invasion of Laos.

The SDX Freedom of Information Committee made the criticism in a statement released Sunday.

The committee said, though news blackouts may have been necessary, it became "ridiculous" when the restrictions were extended after foreign news agencies, incuding those in North Vietnam and Communist China, had reported the operation.

Petaluma Mayor Is In Washington, D.C.

Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam left Saturday for a weeklong trip to Washington, D.C., to attend a conference and seek federal funds for local projects.

Mrs. Putnam is attending the fifth annual Congressional-City Conference at the Washington Hilton Hotel and also plans to meet with state representatives and governmental agencies about getting funds for dredging of the Petaluma River and construction of a new library.

Stop worrying about tax money. Use Moneycheck.

Today's taxes can give anyone a headache: there is Federal tax, property tax and State tax. But when you have to worry about where the money is going to come from, it can make things worse.
So put your head at ease. Apply for The Bank of California's Moneycheck.
Moneycheck lets you write a tax loan, or any other loan, without having to go through all the red tape usually associated with getting a loan.
Here's how it works: When your Moneycheck account is opened, we set aside a certain amount of money for you. This money (anywhere from $500 to $5,000) is yours to use; however you want, whenever you want, simply by writing a check.
If you write a check for more than your balance, we'll automatically deposit money (up to your available credit) to cover it.
When you use Moneycheck, you'll be billed on a convenient monthly basis along with your regular checking account statement.
Come in to any Bank of California branch and pick up a Moneycheck application. And you'll always have money in the bank.

hope they will kill two birds with one stone.

They cite a nationwide trend which is causing Dominican and other women's colleges to lose many highly qualified women students to coeducational institutions.

So by opening the school to boys, they hope to attract not only young men but also more of the best-qualified young women.

The final reason for the decision was that Dominican officials feel there is a need in Marin County for a four-year coeducational college. There is none now.

(The only other schools of higher learning are College of Marin, a two-year institution, and two theological seminaries.)

"Even a private college has a public trust," Sister Samuel said, and we want to serve Marin County."

The change is planned as a gradual step-by-step transformation. Young men will be admitted only as day students in the fall, but if this works out well, a male residence will be found and resident students admitted.

The number of men to be admitted in the fall has not been fixed, "and we don't intend to set one," Sister Samuel said. "We have no idea of how many applications we'll receive."

She smilingly said, "We don't intend to offer any enticements to the boys," explaining that the young men will have to meet the same academic standards as the women and compete on the same basis for scholarships.

She expects that male applicants will be looking for the same type of education that women who attend the college find — primarily liberal arts with a strong emphasis on humanities and arts.

The one stumbling block that has come up in all discussions of making the college coed is physical education.

"We do not expect to field a Rose Bowl team next year," Sister Samuel said. She added, however, that recreational programs for young men will be planned and that Forest Meadows provides an ideal spot for sports.

"We probably will encourage activities in nearby facilities — such as hiking at Point Reyes," she said.

Interestingly, it has been the women students at Dominican who have been most reluctant to admit men undergraduates.

SISTER SAMUEL CONLAN

It isn't that they don't like men and that they don't strongly bemoan the lack of social life at Dominican — the scarcity of dates has become more pronounced since neighboring St. Mary's College, University of San Francisco and Santa Clara have gone coed.

"You can imagine what kind of boys will come here," a senior said at lunch last week when asked why she objected.

Men on campus will not be a complete novelty — Dominican has many male professors and men have been admitted as graduate students for some time. There is one undergraduate male student — a young man in the music department which opened its doors to men last fall.

The graduate students and the professors are "mostly married," one young woman pointed out, so that eligible young men sitting next to the girls in classes will be a change.

Sister Samuel summed up the need for a change by describing the typical reaction of alumnae who are asked of the proposal.

"Oh, you wouldn't do that!" was the usual response of women graduates of the college, Sister Samuel said.

"My next question to them was something like, 'Susie, don't you have a daughter about ready for college? Where is she going?' "

MIDWAY'S BOOMS

Those Rumbles? Navy Was Just Showing Off

The Navy has shamefacedly owned up to being responsible for the mysterious loud rumbling booms which frightened West Marin residents Saturday afternoon.

The noise was caused by a demonstration of weapons aboard the Midway, an aircraft carrier, which was out on a "dependents' day cruise," according to Lt. James Jacobsen of the 12th Naval District public information office.

During the cruise the ship's guns were fired and practice bombs dropped in a display for the wives and children of crew members, Lieutenant Jacobsen explained.

"The Midway was 40 miles off the coast — we don't know why the noise was so loud," he added.

The booms sounded "like a piano being moved overhead without coasters," said a Marin birdwatcher who spotted the ship through his binoculars about an hour after the rumblings.

Clerin A. Zumwalt, naturalist at the Audubon Canyon Ranch in Bolinas, said he thought the Midway was "this side of the Farallones" when he saw it.

"She's out at sea now; so you can't holler at her," Lieutenant Jacobsen concluded about the noisy ship.

Strong Quake Hits Norwegian Island

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI)—A comparatively strong earthquake on the Norwegian island of Jan Mayen north of Iceland was recorded today by the Seismological Institute here.

Prof. Markus Baath of the Uppsala Institute said the recording could indicate an eruption of the Beerenberg volcano which has been expected by Norwegian geologists.

The quake occurred at 4:27 a.m. EST and was measured at 5.7 on the Richter scale.

Nine Given Pay Hikes By Board

The Lagunitas School District board last night granted a pay raise averaging 4 per cent to the district's nine non-teaching employees.

Supt. Joseph Amato said some employees were given larger raises than others in order to make the salary schedule more uniform. The raises which average 4 per cent are retroactive to July, he said.

Cost to the district will be about $1,800, Amato said.

The board also voted to pay time-and-a-half for overtime as required by the state education code, Amato said.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

SUBSTITUTES — Granted a raise from $26 to $28 per day to substitute teachers retroactive to March 1.

PLAY AREA — Added a 1,300-square-foot play area to the lease of the art center so that the lot may be sublet to a group of parents for a pre-school area.

INSERVICE TRAINING — Decided to set up April 14 and May 5 sessions at which teachers may discuss school issues in depth.

SCIENCE PROGRAM — Learned that the cost of adding science equipment approved last month will be almost $1,100 with the federal government paying half.

CONSULTANT — Decided to ask the state for the use of a science professor from the University of California for five days to instruct teachers in the use of new science equipment.

UNIFICATION — Voted to oppose a unification plan that would separate the three schools of the Tamalpais High School District.

TAM PLAN — Urged the Tamalpais High School District to delay action on its reorganization plan so that its effects and merits can be catalogued.

Farmers Protest Low Market Prices

BRUSSELS (UPI) —Tens of thousands of European farmers marched through downtown Brussels today to protest low Common Market farm prices. Some of them went on a rampage and hurled eggs and potatoes at shops, tore up street car lines and overturned and set fire to private cars.

By MABELLE SPECKMANN

Mrs. Mary Mancebo, who became 83 on March 7, remembers Sausalito as a near wilderness. This was in the area off Bridgeway behind where the old American Distillery used to stand before it was destroyed to make way for the planned Whiskey Springs Apartments.

MRS. MARY MANCEBO was right in fashion with her plumed hat not long after she came to Sausalito as a bride. She has lived in her present home for 54 years.

One of just three houses in a square mile radius when she moved into it as a bride almost 60 years ago, her little home now overlooks this rubble-strewn site and the industrialized shoreline of Richardson Bay.

Not only the presently common deer and raccoons, but many other wild animals used to roam the area, she remembers.

"Coyotes used to howl at night on those ridges," she said, pointing to the hills above the town," and they used to come down after the chickens.

"Our only transportation was the trains, ferry boats and our Ford car that was probably one of the early model Ts."

"We used to have so many happy times," she sighs. "The Native Daughters had such wonderful parades. We used to march in places as far away as Oakland.

"In those days people helped each other. I used to do a lot of cooking, sewing and washing for people when there was need. Today there are too many people, and the town is mostly for tourists. It's going to end up by driving out all the business people."

Mrs. Mancebo has lived alone in her little house — she keeps it spotlessly clean despite the infirmities of old age — since her husband died in 1951. George Mancebo had his own fruit business in the city, near the Ferry Building.

They had two children. A daughter died when she was five years old, and Fred Mancebo, who worked at the distillery plant until it was closed, lives next door with his wife and commutes 100 miles daily to his job with the American Distilling Co. in Union City, near Fremont.

Each of Fred's daughters, Mrs. Terry Horner of Novato and Mrs. Vincent Brown of Fremont, has three children who make Mrs. Mancebo a proud great grandmother.

Though she hasn't left her home much in the last 10 years, she still does some baking for the Star of the Sea Church affairs, but mostly she sews, embroiders and watches television.

"I love those cowboy movies," she laughs. And she still does a little work in what used to be a lush garden. She is especially proud of a 30-year-old rosebush that is strong and healthy and blooms regularly.

"It's a Roosevelt," she explained," but my favorite flowers are my violets."

JACQUELINE WEXLER, president of Hunter College in New York, has called for understanding of youths' attitude toward the older generation, stating that "when highly placed officials can refer to students as 'garbage' and 'bums,' it is machine-gun flak mowing down a generation."

(UPI Telephoto)

COLLEGE PRESIDENT REACTS

Appalled At Potshots Against Youth

President of New York's Hunter College, Jacqueline Wexler, has termed Mrs. Martha Mitchell's harsh criticism of the academic society "the kind of random firing of a sniper gone amok."

Mrs. Wexler, writing in the current issue of McCall's magazine, said she was "appalled at the number of so-called responsible public officials and otherwise sober citizens whose verbal barrage against young people as a whole, against students and intellectuals as a class, against the entire college community has reached frightening proportions.

"When a cabinet wife can be quoted as saying 'The academic society is responsible for all our troubles in the country . . . They don't know what's going on. They don't have a right to talk,' we are getting the kind of random firing of a sniper gone amok," Mrs. Wexler said.

Mrs. Wexler, a former nun and former president of Webster College in suburban St. Louis, was appointed president of Hunter in 1970. Her calm handling of a student insurrection at Hunter just a month later won praise from police and academic authorities alike.

In her article she called for an understanding of youths' attitude toward the older generation and added:

"When highly placed officials can refer to students as 'garbage' and 'bums,' it is machine-gun flak mowing down a generation.

"WHEN CANDIDATES for political office can be accused, mind you, accused of 'being soft' on students because their campaign oratory does not bristle with hostility toward the young, then we are witnessing a symbolic re-enactment of the murders at Kent State and Jackson State."

MARTHA MITCHELL'S criticism of the academic society has caused Hunter College president and former nun Jacqueline Wexler to term Mrs. Mitchell's remarks "the kind of random firing of a sniper gone amok." Mrs. Mitchell, above, is the wife of the U.S. Attorney General.

(UPI Telephoto)

"For the fear and hatred of children, the cry of 'put these kids in their place,' is making it almost impossible for college administrators to work," she said. "And, on another level, it will estrange us all from our sons and daughters."

Mrs. Wexler stressed that "what we want from our children, what we need from them, and what we may ask of them is not obedience but something I call reverence.

"I TELL young people that reverence is the capacity to accept their fathers' limitations, peculiarities, absurdities . . . each generation can revise and sift, reject most if they will, accept some if they can—but they need to be reverent rather than to renounce.

"There would be something wrong, something signifying stagnation and despair, if the young usually agreed with us, and something wrong, signifying irresponsibility and abdication, if we usually agreed with them," she wrote. "But if we can talk or even shout across the gap, the process of orderly change will be served. It's when we start shouting into the crowd that we have failed."

Rita Hayworth's Love Goddess Look Comes Back In Paris Show

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) —The Rita Hayworth look! Yes, Paris couturiers have trudged their way back to the 1940s for inspiration which means that hair and makeup styles of the same era also are revived.

The look perhaps is best exemplified by Miss Hayworth, Hollywood's "Love Goddess" who in her heyday had every woman sighing for long waving hair, bright red lips and a figure that helped captivate movie audiences and husbands including Orson Welles and the late Ali Khan.

SO MAYBE the designers have been watching the late, late television shows. For the "new" Paris hair and cosmetics shows also feature long red fingernails, that lip rouging a dark red spilling over the upper lip, heavily rouged cheeks and long and very curly hair with a just-out-of-bed look.

To show what's "new," the Union of French Hair Stylists staged a show recently to unveil its 1971 creations, dubbed the "1971 angel," an updated version of the 1939 "angel."

NOW THAT brings up Betty Grable, and if you haven't seen an old film starring Grable, the hair style consists of long frizzy or bubble curls in a halo around the head with a sleek, flat crown like a tiny skull cap.

Twelve models in variations of the "angel" paraded before the assembled news media. Grable's "angel" was totally blonde, but the revival is hair colored in two different tones. Some of the mannequins had dark blonde curls frizzed around their heads while the flat crown was a paler blonde.

In the couturier shows earlier this season, designer Yves St. Laurent went totally back to the 1940s, with clothes that had some of his critics really sharpening their vocabularies.

World War II styles, padded shoulders and all, were shown with mannequins wearing bright makeup and long curly hair, also in two tones. One girl

THE BRIDE WORE SKATES

And so did the bridegroom when Betty Coryell and John Anderson were married in an Everett, Wash., roller skating rink. The couple skated to the decorated center of the rink followed by a young friend of the bridegroom and the bride's daughter, Linda, also on skates. The Rev. Edwin J. Johnson walked, however. Both amateur skaters, the couple met at the roller rink last year and thought it would be a natural place to be married. (UPI Telephoto)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

She's Running Away Because No Matter What She's In Trouble

DEAR HELEN:
I am in the process of running away from home because no matter what I do I get in trouble.

I split four times before for other reasons. What can I do? — RUNAWAY

DEAR RUNAWAY:
If you comunicate as little to your parents as you did to me, it's no wonder they don't understand or sympathize.

How do you get in trouble? What are the other reasons? Elucidate before you split, and maybe this trip won't be necessary. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
I have this girl who is okay for laughs, but not exactly what I'd like to live with all my life. To illustrate: she thinks Laos is some kind of crawling bug. She's not much better on the housekeeping end either. Doing my laundry the other day she wanted to spin-dry a towel, so she turned to "R" for "wring." And insisted the machine was crazy when she got rinse water.

Now she's got this dumb idea we're engaged. I'm 22, and have a bachelor apartment. She is still in school, though it hasn't helped her mentality any. How do you get a beautiful but brainless female to see that marriage is not what I have in mind? Without getting rid of her entirely? — NOT THAT SERIOUS

DEAR NOT:
Your brainless bombshell may be smarter than you think. "Marriage was not what I had in mind" are famous last words for many an ex-bachelor who couldn't quite make the final break.

Remember, I warned you. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
I am popular in school. All my friends are always visiting each other, but I live in an awful old ugly house. The furniture is shabby too. I'm ashamed, so none of my friends are invited over.

I know you'll say if they're true friends it won't matter, but they have beautiful homes, and I don't want their pity.

Another thing is boy friends. They want to come and visit me but I always have an excuse. I'm too young to date (my folks say), but when I start, how can I keep guys from knowing about my house? Also my father drinks and I never know how he'll act.

How can I stay in my crowd and keep my home life secret? — N.A.

DEAR N.:
If you accept your house and family life as things over which you have no control, your friends will do likewise. But if you try to hide what most already know, they'll see you as a snob. . .Or else they'll gradually agree with your opinion about your "inferiority."

It's tough, not having the advantages other kids enjoy, but only "shameful" if you make it so. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain-trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

PRINCESS GRACE of Monaco, accompanied by her daughter Princess Caroline, caught an airplane from London to their home in Monaco after attending a home exhibition in the English capital. The Monacan monarch is wearing a midi length fur coat and boots, and her daughter's tailored pant suit is double breasted. (UPI Cablephoto)

Being a princess means you can jet off to London to attend a home exhibition and maybe get a few ideas for redecorating the castle then on home to Monaco, as Princess Grace and her daughter Princess Caroline did last week and make news doing it.

It also means, if you are the eldest daughter of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II, and an Olympic riding star says about you, "We are obviously more than casual acquaintances," it makes news around the world as Princess Anne is finding out.

The British riding star, who is 32, is, however, denying a Belgian magazine report that he and the princess are romantically involved, according to UPI. Meade and Anne, a keen horsewoman ride together at Ascot and meet often at horse show competitions around the country. Their last public, social meeting was at a private party in London a few months ago.

Anne is being sent on an extended world tour, and rumor is the trip is to forget Meade, but both he and Buckingham Palace spokesmen deny that the queen and her daughter have disagreed over the friendship and say that is not the trip's purpose.

You don't have to do much to make news if you are a princess. — J. L.

ROYAL RUMORS fly again in London. Although 32-year-old Richard Meade has denied a Belgian magazine report that he and Britain's Princess Anne are romantically involved, the British riding star says they are more than just casual friends. He and Buckingham Palace both deny Anne has "fallen out" with her mother, Queen Elizabeth II, over their friendship and that she is being sent on an extended world tour to forget him. Both are shown in 1970 photos from UPI files.

OLIVIER BORELE, spokesman for the hair stylists, conceded that the new coifs were designed to help business of the 60 member-hairdressers from 36 countries including the United States.

The long straight "hippie" hair currently popular is on the way out because too many girls needed nothing more than a shower and a brush to fix their own, he explained. With the "angel," a woman must go to the beauty salon for a permanent, two tone color and complicated cut of three different lengths.

Cosmeticians also have been watching the old movies. Several companies based in France have decreed that cheeks be rouged lightly, lips painted sharp red with a pointed "bow" for the upper lip. Eyebrows have been just about plucked out of existence, and eye makeup is quieter to provide balance for the red lips.

Paris insists on long pointed nails in wild red colors. The name for this trend—"vamp hands."

Confidence From Course For Deaf

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD

She had learned that even in a silent world, an awkward girl can be transformed into a graceful and polished young woman.

Thirty girls, all with hearing disabilities, spend two hours each week at a charm school. Most of the subjects such as posture, grooming, weight, makeup and wardrobe, are designed to smooth off the rough edges of any other teenage girl. The rest are geared to give these handicapped youngsters confidence in themselves and in their future.

THE CLASS draws girls from eight public schools in Honolulu, including a community college. It was organized by Gail Sykes, auditory specialist for the deaf and hard of hearing at McKinley High School.

Miss Sykes and two instructors at the Sears Roebuck Charm School, which provides the 10-weeks course free, work together in the sessions. Miss Sykes came up with the idea for the classes when a student asked her if there were any place she could learn about modeling.

All of the girls, who range in age from 13 to 20, read lip movements to some extent but Miss Sykes intervenes and explains in sign language when communication of a point is difficult.

Because the girls cannot hear themselves walk, many tend to drag their feet or shuffle. And because they have so little concept of sound, their speech falters and is not always easily understood, Miss Sykes said.

"WE TEACH them how to walk gracefully and project personality through speech," said Miss Sykes. "Some of the girls hardly ever said a word before the course but are talking frequently now.

"For most, it is not until they're teen-agers that the full meaning of deafness hits. They become painfully aware that their handicap keeps them from participating as fully as other youngsters."

One frequent question is whether the girls should tell their dates they are deaf, and if so when.

"We advise them to tell their dates soon, to prevent unncessary embarassment later," said Miss Sykes.

"One thing about deafness ... it's an invisible handicap. You can't see if someone is deaf unless you see the hearing aid."

THE INSTRUCTORS, both professional models, are Rhonda Adams and Candace Ishikawa, but neither had had any experience in teaching charm courses to the deaf.

"This class gets to you more than any other classes," said Miss Adams, "because you see that they care."

Teaching is not easy, however. The instructors said they have to enunciate carefully and Miss Sykes goes over the lessons beforehand with the instructors trying to substitute for difficult words ones the girls will be able to lip read.

Miss Sykes finds the course "tremendously worthwhile." Not only are the girls' steps progressively surer on the charm school runway, but the carryover shows in regular school.

"I notice them sitting and walking like models," said Miss Sykes. "Their confidence and self-esteem have soared."

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Mrs. Joseph Niell, Parent, Palo Alto, Ca.: Joe had two and a half sessions and the change is absolutely incredible. He has moved to a top reading group, he always gets 100 in his spelling tests, and can handle his social studies assignments which require reading with ease and confidence. But the best change of all is that he now enjoys reading. He even bought two books with his own money.

Mrs. William Weir, Parent, Novato, Ca.: Brad's attitude toward learning has greatly improved as a result of your program. He seems to respond favorably to the individual attention that is your specialty.

To improve your child's reading skills—enroll your child in the Sullivan Reading Center. It's not too late to improve your child's reading performance during this school year.

Your child will have individualized instruction and supervision.

Groups are limited to five students.

Your child will improve at his own rate of understanding.

The Sullivan Reading program has taught over 5,000,000 children to read in schools throughout the United States.

Plan Calls For King's Closing

Another plan for use of school facilities next year —the fourth to date — was tossed into the Sausalito School District's facilities pot last night by board chairman Nathaniel Johnson.

With some apparent reluctance, the board agreed the plan, which calls for kindergarten through fifth grades at Manzanita School in Marin City and grades six through eight at Bayside in Sausalito, should be studied by the administration.

The proposal is the only one made so far which would close Martin Luther King School, the district's largest facility. Other possibilities being studied include all grades in existing classrooms at King and all grades at King, with five portable classrooms added to accommodate the students. Another plan would leave kindergarten at Manzanita or Bayside next year and put the remaining grades at King, with all students at King by 1972.

In addition, Johnson called for a master plan for the district, with "a two or three-year goal that all the communities (served by the district) can identify with."

He stressed the need for a flexible educational program using instruction innovations such as team teaching, on location instruction, individualized programming and computer instruction. He also suggested an approach now being tried in several communities: hiring a firm which takes over operation of the district and makes a money-back guarantee to bring all youngsters up to national standards.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said the district should seriously question the continued use of King, from both educational and financial aspects. He said King's construction makes the school "rigid in terms of an educational program" the many small classrooms at King "hamper many modern approaches to education."

The superintendent went on to say that King, built in 1948, presents "serious maintenance problems which are growing more and more serious as we move along. For example, according to Lindberg, "some of the wood is beginning to rot."

Johnson said his plan could be financed from the sale of the King and Central School properties. He suggested that parents in the district could help — with some expert supervision — to move the portable classrooms which would have to be moved. "This joint effort could bring about an area of unity and cooperation," he added.

Wallace K. Shepherd, director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, said both groups would help implement the plan and that the Department of Housing and Urban Development might be persuaded to provide some funds for the project.

"I don't see Mr. Johnson's plan making it possible for us to cut the budget," trustee Delta Christ said, "and we need very much to cut the budget in the Sausalito School District.

Trustee Robert A. Thompson said it would cost the district $480,000 to replace King on today's market and estimated the entire plan "would involve over three-quarters of a million dollars." He added: "To whom you are going to sell the King site remains a mystery, since the land is zoned for a school."

The proposal, and particularly the idea of a master plan, was endorsed by Trustee Jerry L. Whitcomb. "I'd like to think the Sausalito School District has some kind of future," he said. Whitcomb also told the board members he thought the board would be "sadly disappointed if we think putting all the kids at Martin Luther King School is going to be educationally sound."

Jean Murphy To Give Recital At San Domenico

Soprano Jean Murphy will present a public recital tomorrow as the next program in the San Domenico Music department's alumnae concert series.

The recital will take place at 8 p.m. in the music pavilion on the San Domenico campus in Sleepy Hollow.

Miss Murphy will sing songs by Purcell, Haydn, Bellini, Brahms and Copland. She will be accompanied at the piano by Alden Gilchrist.

The young soprano holds Bachelor of Arts and Master of Music degrees from Dominican College and has studied at the Pius XII Institute in Florence, Italy.

A member of the Adolph Baller Chamber Ensemble and the Dominican College opera workshop, she has appeared in their performances and as soloist with the Winifred Baker chorale. She has also sung at the Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco and in concerts throughout the Bay Area.

Employees Vote To Join Union Branch

The Mill Valley City Council appeared taken aback last night to learn that city employees have voted to join a branch of the AFL-CIO, the first city employee group in Marin to do so.

Councilmen seemed surprised when Victor C. Thuesen, representing the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) informed them that city employees, excluding police and firemen, had voted overwhelmingly on Thursday to join the AFL-CIO unit.

Contract negotiations in the past have been with the Mill Valley Employees Association, which was not affiliated with any national organization.

Thuesen predicted that within five years all city employees in Marin will belong to the union. He said employees in several other Marin cities were close to joining the labor group, but declined to discuss specifics.

Thuesen's first two requests on behalf of the employees — for the union to be recognized by the council as the official bargaining agent and for a meeting with City Mgr. William H. Cunningham — were rebuffed by the council, at least temporarily.

Councilmen said formal recognition should await a conference with City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, who did not attend last night's adjourned session. They also asked Thuesen to submit his request for a meeting in writing, which he said he would do immediately.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke asked Thuesen if selection of the union has been done according to the Mill Valley Employees Association's bylaws. "I want to know why this was accomplished in secret, without telling anyone," he said.

It was done properly, Thuesen said. Ballots were mailed to all employees and police and firemen decided not to join the organization. Of the nonsafety employees, an "overwhelming majority" voted for the union, he said.

Thuesen later declined to disclose the vote, saying it was "an internal matter."

The new organization, representing 41 employees, will be known as the Mill Valley Employees Association, AFSCME.

After the meeting, the labor organizer and a group of city employees gathered outside the city council chambers and discussed possible goals in contract negotiations this year.

Thuesen said the workers are considering asking for a $100 per month across-the-board pay raise for all employees, inclusion of dependents under the health insurance plan, a dental plan, overtime pay or compensatory time for time worked beyond 40 hours per week, and for Mill Valley to join the State Retirement Plan.

Asked whether last year's stormy negotiations between employees and Cunningham prompted affiliation with the union, one woman employee said, "They (the negotiations) weren't nearly stormy enough. All the council did was say, 'we don't have any money. Here, take 35 cents and divide it up.' "

The council, meanwhile, adjourned to closed session to discuss employee negotiations with Cunningham. Mayor George E. Wickham said the closed meeting had been scheduled before the council learned of the employees's vote.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

ELECTION — Moved the date for a $1.8 million capital improvements bond issue from June 22 to June 29 to coincide with a $16.9 million College of Marin bond issue which college trustees may decide on April 1 to put on the ballot to finance north campus construction and other improvements.

SUBDIVISION — Accepted a list of improvements which securities of America will undertake as part of a 156-unit apartment project on Shelter Ridge.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Corte Madera Town Hall to meet with Corte Madera and Larkspur city councilmen on preserving open space on the North Ridge. The next regular meeting will be April 5 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

New Atomic Plants Get PUC Query

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Consumer advocate William M. Bennett Monday asked the State Public Utilities Commission to hold public hearings aimed at halting construction of nuclear power plants on the California coastline.

Bennett said the object of his complaint was to stop such construction until a thorough study has been made of earthquake danger to such atomic energy plants.

He said he also felt there was not enough evidence yet collected as to whether discharges from such plants were safe or unsafe. His complaint mentioned air, land and water contamination as well as thermal pollution "and its effect on the delicate ecological balance of our coastal regions."

In addition, Bennett said, the people of California should be consulted as to whether they want to give up more of their coastline "which is mostly gone now."

The complaint quoted ownership figures for the state coastline as private 660.3 miles; public, 353.5 miles; federal 58.9 miles, for a total of 1,072.7 miles.

The complaint was filed by Consumers Arise Now, an association of law students at Hastings College, and named Pacific Gas & Electric Co. as interested parties. It asked the PUC to set a hearing date within 30 days.

Ross Teachers Ask For Hike In Salary, Benefits

Teachers in the Ross School District last night asked the board for a 7.3 per cent pay scale increase plus improved medical and dental benefits for the 1971-72 school year.

Supt. Thomas A. Anderson said the Ross School District Teachers' Association requested that beginning teachers' salaries be raised from $6,800 to $7,300 a year and that the pay ceiling be pushed up from $13,736 to $14,746.

The district's 27 teachers also asked for a dental insurance plan that would cost the district about $1,295 a year and a paid medical insurance plan for retired teachers, Anderson said.

To instruct Anderson on negotiating these demands with the teachers the board set an adjourned meeting for March 31 at 7:45 p.m., the superintendent said. The board will also take up agenda items not reached last night, Anderson said.

The Ross School District board also:

TAM PLAN — Decided the district would be interested in being included in the planning if the controversial Tamalpais High School District reorganization plan is passed.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of a teacher, Janet Barr, who gave no reason for leaving, Andeson said.

INTELLIGENCE — Heard a report from Dr. Rick Sheviakov, the school psychologist, that pupils in grades five to eight scored 79 per cent above what was expected on an achievement test and that pupils in grades three and six had average IQs of 111 and 112.

Malnutrition

MANILA (UPI)—Nearly half of Manila's elementary school pupils are classed as "severely undernourished." A health department survey showed 43 per cent weighed less than two-thirds of the normal weight for their ages. Nearly all the others were undernourished to some degree.

Lyon Will Remain Until Term Expires

Trustee Robert R. Lyon will remain on the Sausalito School District Board until his present term expires June 30 and will not resign from the board this month to move to Hawaii.

Lyon was scheduled to leave Sausalito to open an office for his firm in Hawaii. But he said the company, which administers insurance programs for large corporations, decided opportunities were "too limited" to warrant the expansion. He is employed as Northern California manager for Employers Self-Insurance Service in San Francisco.

He was elected to the board in September to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of James E. Muldoon. His seat, and that of Delta Christ, will be up for election April 20, but the newly-elected trustees will not be seated until July 1.

Lyon told the board last night he decided not to run next month for a full term because of the prospect of the Hawaiian job.

The Sausalito School District Board Also:

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of three teachers: Barbara Hendrickson, kindergarten teacher; Florence G. Rains, who is retiring at the end of this year after 26 years in the district, and Earline Murray, who is moving to Palo Alto.

COUNTY SHARE — Passed a resolution asking the county of Marin for in lieu tax assistance to help the district educate the 170 students who attend district schools from public housing in Marin City since that housing provides no tax revenue.

MEETING — Because the superintendent and chairman will be gone April 12, scheduled the board's next regular meeting for Thursday, April 15. Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg will be in Menlo Park that day as part of a five-man accreditation committee evaluation instruction program at Menlo School, a private school that is part of Menlo College.

CLOSED SESSION — Met in closed session for about one-half hour to discuss charges against an employee, but took no action after the meeting.

APPRAISALS — Asked Lindberg to obtain appraisals of the district's four school sites and of excess equipment which the district may wish to sell.

BUDGET — Asked Lindberg to prepare a preliminary budget for 1971-72 which shows the relative costs of the four proposals for facilities use next year and call a budget session when the studies have been completed.

SALARIES — Turned down a request from the Sausalito District Teachers Association Credentialed Employees Council for a 3 per cent increase in the district's salary schedules for teachers. Council chairman James T. Toliver Jr. pointed out the board has tentatively approved an 11.3 per cent increase in principals' salary schedules and a 15 per cent increase for the superintendent's salary.

COMPLAINT — Heard Dee Schilling object to a proposal by trustee Robert A. Thompson that persons disrupting board meetings be arrested as midemeanants. Mrs. Schilling said the board's riding "roughshod over the dignity and desires of the majority of the district's parents and children" was more disruptive and obscene than action or profanity on the part of persons attending board meetings.

Water Panel Due Big Trees Lease

The Marin Municipal Water District board will reconsider its revocation of a lease to the Big Trees hunting camp at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the district office in Corte Madera.

The board cancelled a five-year lease for the camp in November, but decided to reconsider in February after two members of the camp charged the water district broke faith.

Also set for discussion is a proposal to change fishing fees to $1 per car instead of a flat $5 for a license.

Use of the former corporation yard at Second Street and Grand Avenue in San Rafael and the sale of bonds to pay for construction this year also are set for discussion.

Benefit Concert By Earl Hines

Earl 'Fatha' Hines, a jazz pianist for 40 years, will perform three concerts Thursday through Saturday aboard the historic sailing ship Balclutha berthed at Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco.

The concerts, which will benefit the San Francisco Maritime Museum Association, will begin at 9 p.m. and continue to 1 a.m.

Fight Against All War Toys

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman John L. Burton has resumed his war against toys relating to war.

The San Francisco Democrat Monday proposed a bill requiring that such toys as well as those depicting violence and death be labeled: "May be harmful to children."

Burton said that, since he first introduced the bill in 1967, some toy makers have "made a concerted effort" to curb war and violent toys.

"I am convinced that toys which make war, death and violence attractive to youngsters can only have an adverse effect on the sense of values they will develop," he said.

Freeway Policy

PATRIOTISM OR PRANK

Karyn Stone, a tenth grader at Terra Linda High School, studies chemistry on the American flag. The sudden appearance of the flag on 13 benches in the school amphitheater Monday left school officials wondering who did it and why. Whether the art work will remain along with the more conventional Old Glory on the flagpole had not been decided today.

Bedroom Fire Kills Man, 79

Neighbors called in alarms at 6:01 a.m. and fire department spokesmen said flames were pouring from the window of the front bedroom as they arrived.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said Weightman, who had lived in the home for one month, had apparently been smoking in bed. His body was found on the bedroom floor. Johansen said Weightman had been suffering from emphysema, but that the cause of death was not yet known.

Officials said fire damage was confined to the bedroom area, but that smoke damage was extensive throughout the house. The home is owned by Weightman's daughter, Dorothy, 281 King Road, Petaluma.

Tam Board Told Staff Changes Not Negotiable

The Tamalpais High School District board, meeting in closed session with its legal counsel, last night was told that some parts of the district's reorganization plan "may be" negotiable but not that part dealing with staff changes.

Edward Neumeier, administrative assistant, said today the board's closed session came in response to a letter from the teachers' organizations stating the plan legally was subject to negotiation.

Neumeier said Richard V. Godino, assistant county counsel, told the board "staff reorganization is not negotiable but it may be that some other aspects of the plan are."

The closed session followed a request from Philip H. Pease, president of the Tamalpais District Teachers' Association, that the board discuss the plan under the "meet and confer" provisions of the state's Winton Act which governs school negotiations.

Pease said today he told the board if it continued with its position that the plan was not negotiable the matter may wind up in court.

He said board president David D. Ring said the board's position was that it was not legally necessary for it to negotiate the plan with teachers.

Since the plan was unveiled to the public March 1, the board's negotiating team has met with teachers three times, Neumeier said. However, parties only have been discussing whether the plan is negotiable, he said.

Teachers maintain they have a right to participate in developing the reorganization plan. That right, they claim, is outlined in the education Democracy Document adopted as policy by the board in negotiations last year.

Those sections of the plan subject to negotiation deal mainly with the method to be used in developing new programs and how the plan should be carried out, Neumeier said.

He added that the reorganization proposal already includes teacher participation in such planning.

However, how the superintendent juggles his own staff, including the school principals, is not a matter to be considered by the teachers, he said.

30 Days' Jail For Bad Check

David Lyle Boese, 22, of Larkspur, was sentenced to 30 days in Marin County Jail yesterday for passing a bad check.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court also ordered Boese to pay $738 restitution and placed him on probation for three years.

Boese earlier had admitted that he wrote a bad check for $354 to the Ross Automotive Service on Sept. 12, 1969.

The other $384 restitution ordered by Judge Gardiner was for bad checks for which no charges were filed against Boese.

Restitution Of $20,000 Is Ordered

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—A Ross resident, who pleaded guilty to embezzling $20,000 from a San Francisco millionaire's accounts, has been given a suspended federal prison sentence and ordered to make restitution.

Thomas Michael Murphy, 61, of 1 Camino Bueno, was sentenced yesterday by Federal District Court Judge George B. Harris. In addition to the suspended three-year sentence and an order to begin making restitution within six months, Murphy was placed on five years' probation.

Murphy was indicted by a federal grand jury last Dec. 9 on two counts of embezzling nearly $27,000 from the savings accounts of Norva Boas of San Francisco during 1967 and 1969, while he was an assistant cashier in a San Fancisco branch of the Wells Fargo bank. Murphy was a veteran of 42 years with the bank.

Change In Rohnert Flood Work Sought

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Paul Golis, original developer of Rohnert Park, yesterday asked the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to change plans for flood control work in the city.

Golis told the board that proposed plans for a flood control channel between Highway 101 and Commerce Boulevard should be delayed. He said a higher priority should be placed on drainage work in the golf course area and at the Wilford Avenue overpass of Highway 101.

Gordon Miller, director of the Sonoma County Water Agency, said the proposed project had been approved by the Rohnert Park City Council as well as the Water District Advisory board. He said the other two projects mentioned by Golis as more important were scheduled for the 1971-72 fiscal year.

The board said it would take Golis's request under consideration.

In other action, supervisors called for a tougher gaming ordinance that would strengthen county control over legalized gambling.

The board said the new ordinance should reduce the number of gaming permits one person may hold as well as to increase the $150 initial permit fee and the $50 annual renewal fee.

The board said that $33,331 in revenue has been taken in since gaming was authorized in 1965. The board said there are presently 104 licensed card rooms and 229 licensed card dealers in the county.

Special Hub School Wins Nod, 3-2

The proposed "school-within-a-school" project at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo narrowly won approval last night from a budget conscious Tamalpais High School District board.

According to Edward Neumeier, administrative assistant, the proposal squeaked through with a 3 to 2 vote — trustees Frank L. Miller and David D. Ring against.

Neumeier said the two trustees voiced objection to approving the $20,000 program before hearing fiscal 1971-72 budget proposals.

The new program, which was supported by Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins, will provide a separate building for 125 students at the San Anselmo campus so students can pursue special interests.

The new program, which will include all four class grades, will be handled by six teachers using the team-teaching concept to interrelate subjects of interest to students.

Immediately after the close vote approving the project, the board unanimously approved another $20,000 project — a social studies resource center at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley.

Neumeier said the resource center will have a full-time instructor who will aid students in independent social studies research.

Both Redwood and Sir Francis Drake high schools already have such centers, he said.

The Tamalpais High School District also:

GRADUATION — Set dates for graduation ceremonies at two of the district's three schools. Sir Francis Drake will hold its ceremonies June 11 at 8:30 p.m. at the school's gym and Tamalpais will hold its June 9 at 7 p.m. at the school's Mead Theater. Redwood, which hopes to use the Mount Tamalpais Mountain Theater, did not have a date set.

SETTLEMENT — Agreed to settle for a $10,250 penalty fee payment from Speedway Corp. for late installation of portable buildings at Sir Francis Drake and San Andreas high schools in 1969.

LAND — Authorized the superintendent to investigate acquisition of property currently housing the district's continuation school. The property is near Redwood High School in Larkspur.

Additional Outlay For Maintenance Of Grounds

The Kentfield School District board last night allocated an additional $125 a month to maintenence of the grounds at the district's four schools.

Barbara S. Ruzicka, secretary to Supt. Anthony G. Bacich, said the monthly payment to Forster and Kroeger of Corte Madera was raised from about $800 to $950 because of extensive additions to the landscaping at Adeline E. Kent Elementary School.

The three-year contract has two-and-a-half years to run, she said.

The Kentfield School District board also:

BUDGET — Put off any significant action on the proposed 1971-72 budget until after the school board election April 20.

BALL FIELDS — Granted use of baseball fields at Kent and Wolfe Grade schools to the Little League and approved the erection of a temporary food stand at Wolfe Grade.

SHCOOL YEAR — Approved a school year of 178 school days beginning Sept. 13.

GIFT — Accepted the gift of a television set from Robert F. Ohrenschall of 178 Vista Grande, Greenbrae.

RETIREMENT — Accepted the resignation of Mary Ellen Robertson, a district teacher for 15 years who is retiring.

Riding Instruction Films Planned

Three riding instruction films, prepared by the American Horse Show Association, will be shown for Marin horsemen at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Circle V Stables on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Fairfax.

The films are entitled: "Basic Principles of Hunter Seat Equitation," "Showing and Judging Hunters," and "Basic Principles of Stock Seat Equitation."

Hearing Delayed On Transit Plan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A special hearing on the Golden Gate Bridge District's long-range transit plan, scheduled yesterday by the Senate Public Utilities and Corporations Committee, was postponed to next month because of delays in completing final writing of the plan.

The date of the hearing will be announced, a committee spokesman said. The plan calls for a $301 million bus rapid transit system using tunnels in San Francisco and a second deck on the bridge.

There's Only
ONE DIFFERENCE

Make for make, model for model, all new cars are exactly alike. The one big difference is in what you pay. Your Marin County New Car dealer can & will save you more, because lower overhead means a lower cost of doing business, thus a lower cost to you . . . And with your new car, you'll receive the best in local, convenient service as an extra bonus.

Take advantage of our competitive advantage. . .

WHO'S BUILDING THIS ANYWAY?

Reds Push Viets, Ambush U.S. Unit

SAIGON (UPI) —The South Vietnamese incursion into Laos neared its end today in a blaze of rearguard action and military sources said the withdrawal may be completed by Wednesday. The Communists increased pressure inside South Vietnam, attacking Khe Sanh and ambushing a U.S. armored column three times.

The Communists hit the U.S. helicopter base of Khe Sanh with 200 rounds of mortars and then sent 40 sappers into the camp itself to blow up American helicopters. Two choppers were destroyed in a battle in which 20 of the commandos were killed and three Americans died and 13 were wounded.

A U.S. armored column pushing westward toward the Laotian border along Route 9 required two hours and a half today to travel a seven-mile stretch of the road past the skeletons of burned out and shot up armored vehicles littering the roadside. They were ambushed three times and the lead tank was destroyed by a mine, killing one American and wounding four.

American spokesmen said eight Americans were killed in the fighting at Khe Sanh and in other attacks in the Route 9 area.

As the Americans moved toward the border to salvage a self-propelled eight-inch howitzer and its ammunition they passed 500 South Vietnamese paratroopers and armored personnel carriers returning to Khe Sanh.

Military sources said the original force of 24,000 South Vietnamese in Laos had dipped to less than 7,000 and they were expected to be out by Wednesday night. They evacuated artillery base Bravo four miles west of the border and have only two more bases left in Laos, the farthest eight miles from the border.

The withdrawing troops were reported under steady harassment by Communist gunners along Route 9 despite deadly strikes by American Phantom jets and Cobra helicopter gunships. The Communists Monday were reported to have brought a force of tanks as close as seven miles to the border — within range of U. S. artillery — but there was no word on their actions today.

The U. S. Command disclosed that Communist missile fire knocked an American jet fighter-bomber from the skies over North Vietnam for the first time in more than 37 months, but said the two crewmen were rescued after a tense night in enemy territory.

The crewmen were identified as Maj. Robert D. Priest, 38, Victorville, Calif., and Maj. Robert Cubberly, 33, Bowling Green, Ohio. Their $2.4 million F4 Phantom jet was the first American plane shot down by surface-to-air (SAM) missiles over the north since Feb. 14, 1968, the U.S. Command said.

The aircraft was participating in Monday's second day of "protective reaction" strikes over North Vietnam in retaliation for antiaircraft fire against U.S. planes hitting the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in Laos and unarmed reconnaissance jets flying over North Vietnam itself.

Priest and Cubberly were lifted out of jungles near coastal Dong Hoi, about 50 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) border, by Air Force HH53 Super Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopters early today.

Military sources said the rescue was accomplished with no groundfire, an indication the Communists were not aware the two airmen were on the ground.

The U.S. Command also disclosed the loss of an Air Force F100 Subersabre jet to antiaircraft fire over the southern panhandle of Laos Monday. Military sources said the aircraft "blew up in the air" but the pilot was officially listed as missing in action.

The aircraft apparently was hit by groundfire protecting a column of 21 North Vietnamese tanks moving east on Highway 9, field reports said.

U.S. spokesmen also reported that two Army UH1 helicopters were shot down Monday afternoon deep in the Mekong Delta 150 miles southwest of Saigon, wounding four of the crewmen. A delayed report said a Huey chopper was downed in Laos on Sunday and that three men aboard were wounded.

At least 88 U.S. helicopters have been destroyed in support of the 44-day-old South Vietnamese operation in Laos, records showed, at a cost to the United States of 61 men killed, 78 wounded and 24 missing.

Military spokesmen said the attack on Khe Sanh today was the eighth consecutive day of attacks against the desolate outpost, which was abandoned after a 77-day seige in early 1968.

In Phnom Penh, Cambodian High Command said Communists kidnapped 65 villagers and executed five of them in a small village in the southwest.

High Command spokesman Lt. Col. Am Rong said the incident occurred "recently" in the Viet Cong controlled village of Angkor Chey about 49 miles south southwest of Phnom Penh.

He said five of the 65, which included women, children and old men, were killed "after being charged with not collaborating with the North Vietnamese and breaking North Vietnamese rules which say not to go into areas controlled by our forces."

Am Rong said "this happens not only in this area but also in other provinces."

New York Seeks Ban On Phosphates

The measure would restrict detergents to an 8 per cent phosphate level after Jan. 1, 1972, then ban the additive after June 1, 1973.

Varda Wills Estate To Three

In a will filed yesterday for probate in Marin Superior Court, Varda directed that his paintings, collages and other works of art be divided among his daughter, Vagadu Aurelius, 24, of Sacramento; former wife, Virginia Barclay of Alameda, and his friend, Jacqueline McFarland of Sausalito.

In the will, dated July 22, 1965, the grand old man of art left any sailboats he owned to Mrs. Barclay, and directed his interest in the ferryboat Vallejo, as well as the rest of his estate, be divided between Mrs. Aurelius and Miss McFarland.

In a petition for probate filed by Mrs. Aurelius, Varda's estate was estimated to consist of personal property valued at about $10,000.

The will said the artist had another child, Domenica, with whom he had not communicated for many years and to whom he left nothing.

Mrs. Aurelius's petition said Domenica, 50, lives in England.

Pool Hikes In Rohnert Park Eyed

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission agreed last night that pool rates for nonresidents should be increased.

Commission chairman Ronald E. Rasmussen said the plan would increase family membership rates from $35 to $40 per year for nonresidents of the city.

He said Recreation Director James Pekkain and City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan had recommended the increase also be applied to city residents, but the commission disagreed. The commission did, however, agree that pool rental rates be increased from $10 to $15.

The commission also asked Pekkain to look into the possibility of sponsoring judo classes for children aged 6 through 18. The Marin School of Self Defense has offered to instruct the class, Rasmussen said.

2 Arson Attempts At Petaluma Site

Two fires were deliberately set yesterday in a home under construction in Petaluma, police reported.

Pauline Key, 3440 Skillman Lane, said she went to her new home under construction at 24 La Cresta Drive at 4:30 p.m. and found a cardboard box on fire in the utility room. After extinguishing that, Mrs. Key said she found a propane torch burning in a shower. Minor damage was reported to the shower wall. Police said that paint thinner had also been found around the house.

Calley Team Upset By Jury Activities

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)— Lt. William L. Calley's defense attorneys complained bitterly today that his murder court-martial jury was "wining and dining" and worrying about paychecks and laundry when it should be buckled down in deliberation "with a life at stake."

The military judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, replied that the six officers on the jury were supposed to relax when they returned after deliberation hours to the officers quarters in which they are sequestered.

"It seems to me that they should deliberate when they are fresh enough so they can assimilate," Kennedy told George W. Latimer, Calley's chief counsel.

Latimer's objections came when he introduced in evidence a clipping from today's Atlanta Constitution headlined "Verdict A Week Off?" The story, from Ft. Benning, said it had been learned the jury, which rounded out a week of deliberation today, had requested a one-week supply of clean clothing and had asked that someone look after paychecks, which are due March 31.

The article pointed out that it was the longest court-martial deliberation in American history.

A great deal of the jury's time in recent days has been taken up in re-reading of testimony that was presented by the prosecution in early December. Today, they heard the completion of testimony by James J. Dursi, last of four major government witnesses whose testimony it had asked for.

The newspaper article said that the jury had watched the Glen Campbell and Ed Sullivan shows on television Sunday night. And it added that before retiring, two jurors had a beer, two sipped bourbons, one had Scotch and the foreman had a soft drink.

Latimer had protested successfully Saturday against plans for the jury to go to church Sunday morning. Instead, the judge sent an Army chaplain for a brief service in their quarters.

Latimer remarked he also had read the jury took time out to get haircuts.

"Something is leaking out of the jury room," Latimer said. "They are watching television and wining and dining. I think that's a disgrace when they're supposed to be weighing the life of an individual."

Calley, 27, is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese villagers at My Lai three years and seven days ago. In six days, the jury has deliberated 34 hours and 26 minutes.

"I believe they should be put on a proper scheduled and your honor should take it on yourself to do so," Latimer said. "No information should be passed out—particularly to newspapers."

Capt. John P. Partin, a prosecutor, said he agreed information to newsmen should be limited but added: "We didn't work from 10 to 10 each day during the trial. We had some breaks. We certainly could watch television at night. I can see nothing wrong with that."

Latimer, 70, replied that he had worked 18 hours a day for almost seven days a week during the trial.

"This is not a siesta," Latimer said. "In my experience I've never known a jury that was not required to work more than seven or eight hours. They're supposed to deliberate and they're out wining and dining themselves."

Marcuse In Denial Of Job Report

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Marxist philosopher Herbert Marcuse has denied he would hire former student Angela Davis if she were freed from jail on bail.

Marcuse said Monday in a letter to the University of California at San Diego chancellor that he would continue to guide her work toward a doctorate in philosophy. He could not hire her or anyone else as a university employe because he is retired, but he could hire her with private funds.

"The truth," he said, "is that I signed, at the request of Miss Davis' attorneys, an affidavit to the effect that I would continue to supervise Miss Davis' work on her thesis if she should be released on bail."

Miss Davis was a graduate student under Marcuse at UCSD. Both have admitted Marxist activities. She is charged with conspiracy, murder and kidnap in connection with the Aug. 7 Marin County courthouse shooting in which a judge and three other persons were killed during an escape attempt.

Her attorneys said Sunday that Marcuse had offered to hire her if she were released on bail.

Boyle Park Pool Site Out; School Is Liked

There's not enough room at Boyle Park for a swimming pool but the pool can be built at the Mill Valley Middle School at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue, the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission declared last night.

Not only would Middle School students benefit from the pool, commissioners said, but they would be able to use the showers the school district can't afford to install.

Parks and Recreation Director Don L. Dimitratos said commissioners decided that limited space at Boyle Park on East Blithedale Avenue prevents location of the pool there. The only other possible sites, they said, are the Middle School and the small craft harbor.

Dimitrator said commissioners felt the school district could benefit from a pool at the Middle School since the district has no money at present to build showers for the gymnasium. A joint use of these facilities could benefit both swimmers and students.

The commission recommendation now goes to the city council, where councilmen will decide whether to approach the school district board formally on the pool school site.

Strawberry Home Hit By A Large Fire

Fire broke out in a Strawberry residence last night, forcing two occupants to flee and causing extensive damage to the living room and furnishings and smoke damage to the rest of the house.

Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. of the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire Department said the blaze started at 11:57 p.m. at the home of H. H. Harrison, 132 Richardson Drive.

Harrison and his wife awoke to find the house full of smoke and escaped to a neighbor's house, where they called firemen.

Heynen said three pieces of fire equipment and 19 men brought the blaze under control in 15 minutes but spent almost two hours mopping up.

He was unable to estimate the dollar amount of damage, but said the living room was destroyed and "the inside of the rest of the house was black from the smoke and heat."

The cause of the fire was unknown.

Dixie Salaries On Agenda

Dixie School District trustees will consider teacher salary proposals at their 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow in the administration office at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

The salary request of the Dixie Teachers Association presented to the trustees March 10 asked for pay raises averaging 10 to 11 per cent for the 1971-72 school year. The cost was estimated at $284,860.

The board's Citizen's Finance Advisory Group, which reviewed the salary proposal last week, is expected to make recommendations about the request.

Controversy Again Drops 81-Lot Plan

The Novato Planning Commission last night rejected Sono-Marin Builders' latest map for an 81-lot subdivision in Marin Highlands, previous plans having drawn neighborhood protest.

The vote was 5-2 with Commissioners Paul Oatis and Ben H. Edwards dissenting.

The original plan for cluster housing at Oaks Unit 2, south of Vineyard Road and west of Sutro Avenue, was killed when neighboring residents protested tree cutting and leveling of hills.

The new map was drawn by the firm after meeting with the Marin Highland Homeowners Association and the North Marin Chapter, Marin Conservation League.

The commission also scheduled a hearing at 8 p.m. April 26 to consider amendments to the Marin Highlands Master plan.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

WESTERN OAKS — Approved a tentative map of Western Oaks Village, Unit Two, submitted by Western Hosts Inc., for 90 townhouse units on eight acres, west of Highway 101, south of the end of Redwood Boulevard.

NEW FEES — Set April 26 at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on a proposed boost in filing fees for use permits, variances, plan review subdivisions, master plans, and appeals after a staff report that fees charged by the city were below the average of those charged by similiar cities in the Bay Area.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday for a special meeting to consider recommending a "bedroom tax" on residential development to provide funds for park acquisition and development.

Bus Upkeep Site On Span Agenda

Selection of a bus maintenance terminal site in Marin will be considered by the Golden Gate Bridge District's transportation committee at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in toll plaza offices.

The terminal will be the base for the district's $9.3 million system of up to 152 commuter buses. The district put out bid specifications last week on the fleet, and the system is supposed to be in operation by December.

Also on the agenda is Harbor Carriers' offer to rent the district a second ferry for the Sausalito service.

The building and operating committee will meet first at 9 a.m. to consider a $275,000 contract to complete engineering on the toll plaza modernization project and a $33,000 estimate to recondition and install a $5,000 float for docking at the San Francisco Ferry Building.

The finance-auditing committee will meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

The regular meeting of the full board of directors will follow at 10 a.m.

Blocking Of McColl To Panel Is Made

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A Republican legislator wants to block the Senate confirmation of former Stanford football All-American William McColl to the State Colleges Board of Trustees.

Sen. H. L. Richardson said Monday that Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointment would give McColl, a West Covina orthopedic surgeon, an opportunity to launch a political campaign "against a conservative congressman."

The Arcadia lawmaker said McColl told him he intended in 1972 to challenge GOP Rep. John Rousselot. Rousselot won his seat last year after defeating McColl in the Republican primary.

Mount Tam May Be Site Of Senior Ceremony

State park officials in Marin will recommend approval for use of The Mount Tamalpais Mountain Theater as graduation site for Redwood High School's senior class.

Robert Crawford, an official at the Marin Area headquarters in Lagunitas, said yesterday that school officials at a meeting last week answered some reservations he had about the proposal.

"I've still got a few people to convince," he said," but right now its a 'go' situation."

Students last week had suggested using the theater so more spectators could be accomodated than in the school's gymnasium.

Crawford said much planning remains as both he and school administrators are worried by the mountain's winding roads and control of access to the outdoor theater.

Hub Youth Hurt In Car Crash

An 18-year-old San Anselmo youth suffered minor injuries when his car struck another at Fourth Street and Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Hal P. McDaniel III, of 79 Ridge Road, was driving eastbound on Fourth Street when his car hit another car driven by Mary Ann Ramos, 28, of 441 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo.

The impact forced Mrs. Ramos' car into another driven by Lillian Chiappari, 76, of 44 Corte Encanto, Greenbrae. Neither woman was injured. Plice said McDaniel was to be treated by his own physician.

HOW TO PLAY

If You're Prudent, You Will Have Bad Break Trick

Don't take it as a personal insult if a long suit fails to break favorably. The odds are only 2-to-1 that five missing cards will be divided as evenly as possible (three with one opponent and the other two with the other opponent). These are good odds, but you should expect the bad break about once in three starts. If you are a prudent player, you will have something up your sleeve to offset the bad break.

DUMMY TRICK

Declarer took the first trick with dummy's king of spades, led a club to the king and then returned a club to dummy's ace. West discarded a diamond, and South began to wear a hurt look. Fate was about to slip him a mickey, South suspected.

Declarer cashed dummy's queen of clubs, and West discarded a heart, masking his uneasiness. This discard made it possible for South to take the ace of hearts and then lead a low heart to set up the rest of the suit.

SAD STORY

The rest was a sad story. South held up the ace of spades, but East cashed the jack of clubs and led another spade. South had to give up another heart, and East led a spade to defeat the contract.

While South moans about his hard luck, let's see how he should play the hand. South need not play for the clubs at his first opportunity. He should guard against a bad club break by taking the top diamonds and leading a diamond toward dummy.

DIAMOND TRICK

This will produce a diamond trick if the suit breaks 3-3 or if East has two unguarded diamond honors. In the actual hand, dummy's nine of diamonds would become declarer's ninth trick. If the diamonds don't break well, South can later try the clubs. Playing for two suits is better than playing for only one.

Signs Of Athletic Revolution In High School Sports

By DAVID EINSTEIN

The signs of athletic revolution are clear. They are gathering, their direction and power are becoming plain. And last week, in a quiet but significant way, the new philosophy claimed a victory.

At Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, the administration reluctantly, but with little choice, closed down the swimming program because only six boys were out for the team.

But there is no victory in that, even for those who insist that sports are dehumanizing, capitalistic ploys that should be exchanged for socialisms. More appropriately, the event signaled a loss on the part of the school. For it through sports that schools have over the years purported to teach the values of manhood and, in effect, the Tam swimmers said, the hell with your values.

Bob Casci, an amateur athletic union swimming coach in Mill Valley for the past 11 years and the man who got caught in the bind at Tam, sees the problem this way: "There is a decreasing emphasis on athletics in Southern Marin. The whole concept of competition is bad news here. The kids are getting this in their classes at school. And the kids and the parents take a good deal of pride in the fact that Mill Valley is unique in this respect. 'We're leading the way for the future of athletics,' they say."

But the generation now at Tam seems instead to be leading the way out of athletics. The school paper, for instance, used to devote its entire back page to sports. Now only a quarter of that space is given, and grudgingly, while the rest goes to arts and crafts. And, for another example, pep rallies, once the high point of the week during football and basketball season, have disappeared. Tam hasn't had one in years.

When Casci, who coached last year at Marin Catholic High, moved to Tam this spring (according to school officials, no one on the Tam faculty competent or willing could be found to take the job), he was faced with what in sports is termed a "rebuilding year." Nearly all of the 1970 team that finished 12-2 won-lost in the Marin County Athletic League had been graduated, and it was obvious that a lot of work would be needed to make a winner out of the available material.

The kids, however, had become accustomed to swimming under very little pressure, (partly because they were so good, partly because of the moderate approach of coach Conrad Hoetger), and they didn't like what they saw.

"It was obvious it was going to be a rebuilding year," says Casci "and the kids' idea was, 'We were a winner last year and we're definitely going to be a loser this year. So who needs it?"

Why did they quit, instead of applying themselves to the task at hand? Casci's answer takes in not only athletics, but today's attitudes in general.

"In general, kids are not really forced by their parents to do anything. So when a situation arises where things have to be done a certain way in order to get the kind of improvement required, they fold."

Casci goes on to suggest that, "Since children are protected from competition, all kinds of problems arise when it comes time for them to compete for a job." In other words, they can't hack it in our free enterprise system, whose foundation is competition.

There is another way of looking at it, however, based on the presumption that, rather than having no competition, kids get too much of it forced on them, beginning with Little League and Pop Warner football and running right through high school. The rebellion, then, seems not against competition, but against too much artificial competition not of their own making.

That explanation would bear out what Casci himself admits — that the kids who might have gone out for swimming have turned to individual expression in athletics. The athletes play by themselves, or in small groups, and in some cases even form their own teams. There was a softball team composed of Tam students last year known simply as "The Joe Magnolia Liberation Front," which played weekend games against out-of-work bass players, and anyone else they could find.

"If you're playing a sport to win, it's going to require structure and the ability to take coaching. If that's absent, then in my opinion you're doomed to failure," says Casci. "If you can derive pleasure from trying in an organized way to improve yourself, you can expect to win."

Casci, as most coaches do, places the emphasis on winning. The generation which abandoned the swimming program at Tam doesn't, and that is the basic, irreconcilable difference. The question is, which is better — playing to win, or playing for fun? The kids at Tam gave their answer, and coaches around the county should take note. Because a coach can demand obedience, and impose rules of conduct and appearance, and dish out discipline. But if he doesn't have a team, he's nowhere.

Shock And Anger At Redwood High

I know a gang of high school swimmers who'd like to dunk me. Or perhaps feed me to the sharks.

Boy, are they mad! And I get seasick just going to sleep on my water bed. Why, I even wear water wings on my jammies. Also, I have water horses monogrammed on my nighties to fight off the nightmares. You ought to see me do the dog paddle! Now I'm working on the individual medley. A Capella. "I'm forever blowing bubbles, doo-be-doo-be-doo-be-doooooo. . ."

Anyway, my irate friends are members ot the Redwood High varsity swimming team who have taken their underwater pens to fire off a blistering letter to me with a copy forwarded to the Editor

Their "shock and anger" is the result of a recent column in which I expressed surprise that Terra Linda should beat them in swimming. After all, I reasoned, the district from which Redwood draws its students is the most affluent in the Bounty County and has more private pools per capita than other districts like Terra Linda.

As I tonge-in-cheekily implied that Redwood has enjoyed a head start over its rivals, since the kids have their own pools, tennis courts, gymnasiums and golf courses, I hit a sore spot. Boy, did I ever!

And, since every water dog must have its day, I hereby respectfully reprint the Redwood team's letter to me:

"Dear Mr. Gilmartin:

"We were deeply shocked and angered to read your column, 'Terra Linda Prep Swim Surprises,' of March 12, 1971.

"You have reported us as nothing more than high-strung snobs, who can't take it when the going gets tough.

"Undoubtedly, in your extensive research for your column, you failed to notice the record of Redwood's swim team of last year (the members of which were the same as this year's team); during the league's second round-robin; we came back to pull tremendous upsets against all three of the teams who had beaten us on the first time around. (see enclosures)

"Furthermore, we fail to follow your logic regarding your implication that the number of swimming pools at hand at age five should determine the success of a high school swimming team thirteen years later. Indeed, many young 'phenoms' have become disenchanted with the sport before even reaching high school age, due to overexposure or extreme parental pressures.

"Also, the commendable grade-point average of our varsity team (approximately 3.5) is not due to our 'personal tutors,' if indeed, we had any. In reality, some members of our team are tutors themselves. Most of the others have other kinds of jobs around the county.

"We feel that, due to the I-J's wide circulation, you have done us a great disservice before your readers. We are, of course, referring to the general public, not to the swimmers and coaches of high school swimming. They know.

"In closing, we cordially invite you to come to one of our practices; not only will you notice that we swim in conventional, monogram-less swim suits, you may discover that the reason for our success over the past few years is more attributable to 'guts in the stomach,' than 'silver spoons in the mouth.' "

But that was a love letter compared to the one that appeared in "What Our Readers Say" last night, composed by Jon Broderick, page one editor of the Redwood Bark whose bark is worse than his bite.

It isn't worth reprinting here, except that Master Broderick led off the poison pen letter wit: "The garbage that Jim Gilmartin consistently writes appearing in his sports column, never ceases to amaze me."

All I have to say is that I am glad that Master Broderick "consistently" reads my "garbage." It may improve his grades.

And now, if they'll only add "Humor" to the Redwood High curriculum, we'll all get along much better, thank you.

Or, as swim publicist Kay (Mrs. Carney) Campion of San Rafael said: "Your column on Redwood Hi swimmers versus middle-class Terra Linda was wicked — but a gas!"

Two ACC Favorites In NIT

NEW YORK (UPI) —Duke and North Carolina, tested on the Atlantic Coast Conference battlefield, scored the AAC's biggest advance in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament Monday and today emerged as the top choices to win the 1971 title.

Only one of the teams, however, will reach Saturday's final round because the scheduling bracket pits the two schools against each other in one of Thursday night's semifinals. The other semi matches the survivors of Wednesday night's Hawaii-St. Bonaventure and Michigan-Georgia Tech games.

Ray Mears, the Tennessee coach who watched North Carolina beat Providence 86-79 and then saw his Volunteers lose to Duke 78-64, in Monday night's quarterfinals, doesn't see how the survivor of the N.C.-Duke game can lose in the title round.

"They're the class of the tourney," Mears said. "We lost to Duke and all I can say is they have a fine player in Randy Denton, who shoots and rebounds well."

Hawaii, which came to its first NIT with hula girls and pineapples, defeated Oklahoma, 88-87, in double overtime in an opening round game to start Monday's tripleheader.

North Carolina and Duke met three times this season, with the Tar Hells winning twice.

"The total difference in those three games is two points," said Duke coach Bucky Waters, "and that's for 120 minutes of play."

Waters had a close game with Tennessee as the Vols held Duke in check until the last 1:54 when the Blue Devils ran off an 8-2 spurt. Duke was held to only two points during a seven-minute stretch late in the second half when Tennessee closed from a 63-54 deficit to 64-60 as the Devils went into a stalling game.

Denton scored 32 points and collected 17 rebounds and completely dominated the smaller Vols. The 6-10 Duke center scored only eight points against Dayton in the opening round, but attributed that low total to "an inability to stay loose."

Perry Is Winning Opening Day Job

By United Press International

Juan Marichal may be the San Francisco Giants' key pitcher this year but Gaylord Perry is the one likely to get the honor of pitching on opening day.

Perry, who had a 23-13 record and pitched 329 innings last season, virtually clinched the April 6 assignment against the San Diego Padres when he allowed two runs in seven innings Monday in a 5-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Perry, whose brother, Jim also is a likely opening day pitcher for the Minnesota Twins, will go into the 1971 season as the Giants' No. 1 pitcher. Marichal, a six-time 20-game winner who was sidelined during much of the 1970 season with a freak ailment and had a 12-10 record, is regarded as the "pitcher who must come through," however, if the Giants are to be a contender in the National League West.

Willie Mays, going into the new season with 628 homers, showed the fans in Phoenix, Ariz., some of his old skills when he hit a 450-foot homer off Mark Ballinger.

On other fronts: Rico Petrocelli drove in five runs with a homer, double and single as the Boston Red Sox beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 10-5. Billy Conigliaro added two doubles and a single to the Red Sox' 14-hit attack. Steve Garvey and Duke Sims homered for the Dodgers ... Bob Robertson and Al Oliver hit homers to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-4 triumph over the Kansas City Royals. The Pirates' spring record is 10-3.

The Montreal Expos scored three unearned runs off Denny McLain in six innings and beat the Washington Senators, 5-3, for their eighth victory in nine games ... Al Santorini, who was 1-8 last season but has a fine arm, pitched two-hit ball for seven innings as the Padres downed the California Angels, 10-0. Jim Maloney, acquired by the Angels during the winter and a key pitcher in their AL West pennant plans, was tagged for 10 runs and walked six batters in 4 1-3 innings.

Power Of NFL Throne?

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)— His adversary dubbed him "King Alvin I," but Alvin Ray (Pete) Rozelle denies he has the power of a throne.

"The Super Bowl will go where King Alvin says it will go," said Miami lawyer Ellis Rubin, champion of the antitelevision blackout legions.

"Not so," said Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League. "It's up to the owners."

That was the meat of the most lively controversy as the NFL owners opened their winter meeting here Monday to consider the site of Super Bowl VI and some rule changes.

Today the football owners were to listen to the sales pitches of delegations from seven cities, including Miami, to land football's biggest extravaganza.

Then along came Rubin.

Rubin is the 45-year-old controversial attorney who gave the NFL fits last year crusading to have the blackout of local television lifted for fans in the Miami area, site of the 1971 Super Bowl.

He served notice Monday he will continue his campaign, wherever football's big game is played.

But the moguls of football weren't paying much attention to Rubin today. They were busy listening to the enticements of community leaders from Los Angeles, New Orleans, Jacksonville (Fla.), Miami, Dallas and two factions from Houston.

Rozelle said he expected the decision on the site late today.

Prognosticators said Dallas, with its new 65,000-seat Texas Stadium, had the edge. Texas Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, a tall, blond spokesman for the lone star state, was in town to lobby for the cause.

"I think we've got it," he said.

Earlier Monday, William H. "Billy" Sullivan, owner of the old Boston Patriots, announced that the name of the team had been changed to the New England Patriots.

Sullivan said that despite problems of the franchise, 38,000 season tickets had been sold already this year as compared with 10,000 at the same point last year.

The club's directors had voted last month to name the team the Bay State Patriots, but decided against that because of adverse public reation, Sullivan said.

Rozelle said he told the club owners in the Monday morning session that they are talking too much publicly.

The commissioner said he warned the owners that a league rule specifically prohibits a football club employe from publicly criticizing another club or another club employe.

Rozelle would not comment on reports he has fined Baltimore Colts owners Carol Rosenbloom for criticizing Don Shula, who left the Colts to become head coach of the Miami Dolphins. Rozelle said only that "appropriate disciplinary action has been taken."

The commissioner also said he thinks the Super Bowl should be alternated between cities in the American and National Conferences, but not necessarily every year.

"I just think it's a good idea to give each conference a shot at it," he said.

As for Rubin, the commissioner said he did not intend to respond publicly to the attorney's remarks.

Redwood, Drake Baseballers Win

A couple of sophomores slammed extra base hits yesterday to lead the Redwood High School Giants to a 9-6 preseason baseball victory over Lincoln High in San Francisco, and Drake needed only one hit to beat another San Francisco team, Poly, 4-1 in San Anselmo.

Mike Connor, a sophomore who starred for Redwood's Marin County Athletic League champion basketball team, belted a bases-loaded double in the sixth inning when the Giants of Larkspur surged ahead of the team that is undefeated in the city's AAA league. Connor, an outfielder, had three runs batted in on the double, and another with his other hit of the afternoon, a single.

Drake's only hit, a home run off the bat of John Loane, provided an insurance run in the third inning after the Pirates came up with three runs without a hit in the second. John Billings went the distance on the mound, limiting the Parrots to four hits. Drake pitchers have allowed just one run in each of the last three games.

Volkswagen Buggies Dominate Mint 400

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— Fritz Croyer of Santa Susana, Calif., and Bill Harkey of San Fernando, Calif., combined their talents to capture the four-wheel drive event of the $100,000 Mint 400 Del Webb Desert Rally Monday night. Driving Harkey's Hi-Jumper Volkswagen dune buggy, the pair finished the race in the Southern Nevada desert shortly before midnight in 13 hours, 30 minutes and 42 seconds.

Rick James of Northridge, Calif., and Paul Hunt of Reseda, Calif., were runners-up in 13 hours, 43 minutes and nine seconds.

Former Indianapolis winners Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., and Al Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., broke an axle on thier Frod Bronco about 100 miles into the race.

In third place were Lee Epstein, San Dimas, Calif., and Mike Cannon, Garden Grove, Calif., 13:53:36, followed by Bob Ferro, Sherman Oaks, Calif., and Brian Skipper, Beverly Hills, Calif., 13:54:10,

Croyer, 27, and Harkey, 52, took home $6,000 for first place plus accessory money.

Harkey manufactures the Hi-Jumper line of Volkswagen dune buggies. The other top five finishers also had Volkswagen dune buggies.

FISH AND GAME

Unbelievable Weekend For Salmon Trollers

By AL GIDDINGS

It was a big weekend for the fishermen! Salmon catches were unvelievable! A school of these fish ten miles long and nearly as wide gave the salmon anglers all the sport they could handle between Duxberry Reef and the Coast Guard Light Ship.

To give you an idea of a real weekend of fishing pressure, study these figures: On Saturday, it was estimated (and counted) that 300 boats were out after salmon. With a possible average of eight people to the boat this gives a figure of 2,400 anglers. Almost every angler took a limit of three salmon for a total of 7,200 fish. Wardens checked 30 party boats at Sausalito all with limits, and 60 skiffs all with limits. Each party boat had about 15 people aboard! It was the same for the San Francisco, Berkeley and Richmond boats. It was fantastic!

To keep up with such a pace, the Department of Fish and Game certainly could use the $1 increase in the proposed ocean license fee. One person called this past week to ask if the Department of Fish and Game stocked the ocean! I don't know exactly what the total 1970 ocean salmon plants are, but one Fish and Game press release this week listed 5 million kings to be planted from the newly constructed Mad River hatchery. Total salmon plants for the ocean listed in the annual report for 1969 (1970's report is not released as yet) showed the 13½ million salmon and steelhead were planted.

Marine Wardens cited 12 people for no licenses and 4 for having undersized salmon at Sausalito.

UP IN the Tomales and Bodega Bay area, wardens checked no salmon, but off Tomales Point, a big run of lingcod seemed to be the thing of the day. The surf was rough, and with the tides only -.1, the abalone fishermen just took a few.

I CHECKED San Pablo Saturday afternoon, checking 28 boats with about 94 anglers. The catch? Twelve bass and four sturgeon! Not too good! About half the bass and two sturgeon were taken just off the Marin Islands toward the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge on the outgoing tide.

CHINA CAMP and Buck's Landing at Santa Venetia boats fishing toward the S. P. Buoy were in the other lukewarm spots.

Five anglers were cited using two rods, and three for angling without a license. In the past few weeks, citations given out for various violations were handled by fines. qome of the two-rod violators paid $25 each, a few paid $15. One no license case paid $20 and two bay litterers paid $10 each. The eight people in San Pablo cited plus the 16 at Sausalito may take a month to process.

STRIPED BASS and perch fishing is good at Tomales near Inverness. Night trolling for stripers, especially by George Smith of Inverness who rows, really pays off.

HERE WE go again! In Marin County, Bon Tempe, Lagunitas and Phoenix reservoirs will be stocked this week with catchable trout. Rodeo Lagoon in Southern Marin will also get a plant. About 9,000 trout will be divided up into the four bodies of water. The new regulations now list the limits on these waters as five per person per day.

OTHER PLANTS for nearby counties are also listed:

Sonoma County — Lake Ralphine, Santa Rosa.

The Department reminds anglers this schedule may be changed without notice if water conditions become unsuitable for trout.

TWISTS AND TWIRLS BY MARIN GIRLS

Achievement Award Given To Chi Cheng

NEW YORK (UPI) —Chi Cheng, the Nationalist Chinese sprinter who has won 133 of her last 134 races and broke or equaled world records nine times last year, received the annual Tanqueray Sports Achievement Award for 1970 on Monday.

Miss Cheng, a 26-year old, straight A student at California Poly who plans to coach track in Taiwan, was named for outstanding achievement by a female athlete during 1970. She was undefeated in 63 races in 1970 and won 70 of 71 races in 1969.

Hockey

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—Russia's defending world champions taught the United States how to play hockey Monday night, trouncing the U.S. team 10-2 in the 1971 World Ice Hockey championships.

The young American team trailed 1-0 after one period, but then the Russians took over, scoring seven goals in the second period.

Tennis

WHEATON, Ill. (UPI)—The $50,000 Sportface International Tennis Championship was minus two of its top stars today after leading money winner Rod Laver withdrew because of a back injury and Bob Lutz was upset by unseeded Ray Ruffels of Australia.

In today's feature matches, Ken Rosewall takes on Bill Bowrey and John Newcombe is pitted against Nikki Pilic.

Yachting

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI)—Mark Johnson's 73-foot ketch Windward Passage did what it set out to do in the Miami-Montego Bay Yacht Race—It beat its rival, Ondine.

Ondine was scratch boat for the sixth running of the biennial yachting event, giving up a time allowance of more than 52 minutes to Windward Passage.

Skiing

DENVER (UPI) — Lance Poulsen and Otto Tschudi grabbed the first two places in Canadian-American Ski Trophy Series standings this week after the giant slalom and slalom at Rossland, B. C. over this weekend.

Poulsen, of Olympic Valley, Calif., took the lead with 105 points on a seventh place in slalom at Rossland. He was only two points ahead of Tschudi, a University of Denver skier from Norway, who won both events in Canada.

The two moved ahead of last week's tied leaders, Terry Palmer of Kearsarge, N, H., and Rod Taylor of West Hartford, Conn.

Basketball

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A crowded court calendar has forced a recess until Friday of the federal court trial involving superstar Spencer Haywood and the Denver Rockets.

U.S. District Court Judge Warren J. Ferguson ordered the recess Monday, explaining to the jury of seven women and five men he was forced to delay the trial because of the calendar congestion.

Haywood contends his contract with Denver is void because the American Basketball Association club did not live up to terms calling for him to receive $1.9 million. The Rockets filed a $1 million countersuit, charging Haywood's management firm induced him to abrogate the contract and jump to Seattle of the National Basketball Association.

A Useless Trip For Al Attles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Coach Al Attles of the San Francisco Warriors admits his trip to San Diego to scout the mighty Milwaukee Bucks didn't teach him much.

The Bucks and the San Francisco Warriors open NBA playoff action Saturday night at the Oakland Arena and Attles said he wanted to see if Milwaukee had any new play patterns.

Milwaukee, one of the all-time great NBA powerhouses which had won 20 in a row in its title drive, lost to San Diego as coach Larry Costello took a look at his benchwarmers.

Said Attles: "What I saw was a lot of players I hadn't seen much of before and hope I don't see again because they are the ones who come in when the game is out of sight."

The Bucks will arrive here either late Thursday or mid-Friday and look for a place to practice. The Oakland Coliseum won't be available because of the Seals-St. Louis Hockey game that night. But the Warriors and Bucks will clash there Saturday night.

The second and third games of the best-of-seven series will be played at the University of Wisconsin field house in Madison March 29 and 31, the fourth game at Oakland April 1, and succeeding games, if necessary, on April 4, 6 and 8, the sites alternating.

Good Start Bad Finish For A's

The A's grabbed a 4-0 lead in the first with Angel Mangual's triple the big blow, but then fell 5-4 to Chicago Monday at Mesa. The A's try their luck against Milwaukee today.

Fingers departed after six innings till holding a 4-3 lead, but Marcel Lachemann and rookie Jim Panther couldn't hold the lead. Hal Breeden's double finally won it for Chicago.

Panther took the loss and submarining Ron Tompkins got the win. Dick Green was the only man to get two hits for the A's, who got nine all told.

Napa Netters Whip San Rafael

San Rafael High School dropped a preseason non-league tennis match to Napa High yesterday afternoon, 6-1 at Napa. The only San Rafael point was won by freshman Don Goldbeck, who has won his last three matches.

Napa 6, San Rafael 1

Singles — Barry Young (N) d. Mark Altamarino, 6-1, 6-1; Steve Baughman (N) d. Dolf Jones, 6-0, 6-0; Randy Gularte (N) d. Dave Bacon, 6-1, 6-4; Don Waechtler (N) d. Pete Newald, 6-4, 6-3; Don Goldbeck (SR) d. Ed Dillon, 6-4, 6-4.

Doubles — Carl Kasca and Steve Porter (N) d. Jim Aroyan and Steve Sockolov, 8-6, 6-3; Henry Gundling and Bruce Heid (N) d. Seve Summers and Ralph Miller, 6-1, 6-1.

Tiburon To Host Tennis Tourney

For the fifth straight year, the Tiburon Peninsula Club has been awarded the prestigious Bay Counties Tennis Tournament, it was announced by club officials.

The tournament, oldest in Northern California, will be held May 8-9 and 15-16.

There will be competition in men's singles men's doubles, women's singles and mixed doubles. Robert Morehead and Paul Gebo are co-chairmen for the tournament.

World Skate Record

INZELL, Germany (UPI)—West Germany's Erhard Keller broke the world 500 meters speed skating record Sunday with a time of 38.42 seconds before going on to win the sprint combined competition of the "Golden Skates" meet on the Inzell artificial ice rink.

Wilt-Ali Bout Was Planned

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain said Monday night that he had a contract to fight Muhammad Ali if the former champion had beaten Joe Frazer.

"It's unfortunate—or maybe fortunate—for me that Ali didn't beat Frazier and the fight fell through," the 7-foot-1, 275-pound center of the Los Angeles Lakers said.

Chamberlain, 34, spoke via telephone from Los Angeles on the Jerry Gross Hot Line radio show. He said the bout was set for the Houston Astrodome June 21.

"I've been thinking about boxing for a long time. I definitely had aspirations for boxing."

JACK HANLEY

Giant Rookie Speier Looms As A Starter

PHOENIX — This coming weekend in Palm Springs, Charlie Fox will give a preview of the Giants' 1971 starting lineup. The manager may not wait that long. He may send his front nine against the Padres Thursday and Friday at Yuma.

WOULDN'T IT be logical to unveil his starting lineup against the Padres since the Giants open the major league season against them in San Diego April 6?

"Yes, it would," said Fox. "But in any event we will have it set in Palm Springs for our final exhibition games with the Angels."

THERE IS only one decision Fox has to make — Chris Spier of Hal Lanier at shortstop. Thus far, Fox has refused to make any on-the-record commitment but every time Spier's name is mentioned the manager's face lights up in a happy smile.

"Just watch for the lineup in Yuma or Palm Springs," said Fox. "That will be it."

SPIER IS the confident rookie from Alameda who announced at the outset of spring training that he didn't come to the camp of the Giants to make the roster of their Phoenix AAA farm club.

"I'm here to make the big team," said the young man who won't be 21 until June 28.

IT SEEMED like a big ambition for a young fellow with only one year of pro ball behind him in AA competition last season at Amarillo. He knew that to qualify this year for a berth with the Giants he had to make it as a regular, not a utility man. To keep him on the bench at this infant stage of his career would be unthinkable — detrimental to his development.

So the lineup in Yuma or Palm Springs probably will look like this: Bobby Bonds, rf; Spier, ss; Willie Mays, cf; Willie McCovey, lb; Ken Henderson, lf; Dick Dietz, c; Alan Gallagher, 3b; Tito Fuentes, 2b.

IT DOESN'T matter who pitches at Yuma or Palm Springs. That will be determined by the rotation which has been set since the Cactus League exhibition season started March 5.

Gaylord Perry will open the season April 6 in San Diego not only because he earned the honor winning 23 games last season but because of his career record against the Padres, 9-1.

AT YUMA and Palm Springs, Fox may also be expected to make the outfield shifts he will be making during the season whenever Mays is getting the periodic rests a 40-year-old player needs.

George Foster, the 22-year-old rookie who performed magnificently with bat and glove this spring, will replace Henderson in left field when Henderson moves to center in the late innings as Mays bows out.

MAYS, INCIDENTALLY, already has corrected one impression that he won't be seen in night games this year in Candlestick. "I may be a step away from 40 (May 6) but I'm not retiring from night ball games," he said.

During the winter Fox said that he intended to rest Mays in all night games at Candlestick. When the manager learned how Willie reacted to that, he said: "Great, the fans want to see Willie every time they come to the ball park. Willie will know best when he needs a rest. He can call his own shots."

Cal Track Coach Returns Praise

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—After California beat San Jose State in track, Stanford coach Payton Jordan commented that any team that could beat the Spartans could win the NCAA title.

Since Stanford upset the Spartans last Saturday, Cal coach Dave Maggard made the comment in return at Monday's meeting of the Northern California cinder scribes.

Jordan, who likes to speak pessimistically of his team's chances, was nonplussed by the statement.

Both Stanford and California head for the Santa Barbara Relays this weekend. Maggard announced that his spring stars Eddie Hart and Isaac Curtis would not enter open events at Santa Barbara in order to stay sharp for dual meets ahead.

Stanford's Jordan also indicated he would forget the search for individual points and possibly concentrate its best runners in the distance medley event.

Emile Griffith Vs. Gutierrez In S.F. Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco's first fight in four months goes tonight in Civic Auditorium and it's a good one.

Two times world middleweight king and three times welterweight titlist Emile Griffith battles Rafael Gutierrez in a 10-rounder.

Promoter Jim Pusateri and matchmaker Benny Ford have promised $11,500 to Griffith and $3,500 for Gutierrez, former Mexican champ.

They figure Latin fans will come out for Gutierrez and they also have two local favorites on the preliminary card, Bayview middleweight Jimmy Lester and Redwood City featherweight Ray Lunny III.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Denise Ham Is Swim Winner

Denise Ham and her relay teamates from the Marin Aquatic Club came home from Long Beach yesterday after giving a good account of themselves in the Southern California Senior Invitational swimming meet over the weekend.

Miss Ham, a 16-year-old student at San Rafael High School, took first place over a tough field in the women's 200-meter breaststroke in the time of 2 minutes, 30 seconds, claimed the eight spot in the 200 individual medley, and figured in three relay events in which the MAC placed.

Cheryl Cattan, Sue Secondo and Jo Hislop joined with Miss Ham to earn fifth place in the 400 medley relay, and she teamed with Miss Hislop, Ann Engel and Kimi Fox for seventh and eighth place finishes in the 800 and 400 free relays respectively.

The indoor meet, held at the Belmont Olympic Plaza, drew contestants from throughout California, Arizona dnd Colorado. It served as a final preparation for the National Championships April 7 - 10 at Pullman, Wash.

Japanese Delights To Inspire Team

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) —Tokyo's Lotto Orions are only 3-8 on the spring exhibition trail on the U.S. mainland, so Japan Air Lines has decided to do something about it.

JAL planned to send an envoy to the Orions' training camp today to bring Japanese delights to inspire the players. The team will sit down to a meal of Pacific crab, Japanese delicacies and sake with which to wash it down.

outside, scored 24 points for Tennessee.

North Carolina also employed slow-down tactics in its win over Providence and it paid off, too, for the Southern school. The Tar Heels led by 11 points with 7:18 remaining, but began losing their momentum when the Friars closed to within five points at the five-minute mark. Then Bill Chamberlain sparked the winners on a six-point burst that carried North Carolina to its 24th win in 30 games this season.

Chamberlain finished with 19 points, but it was teammate Dave Chadwick, a sub, who grabbed scoring honors when he tallied 22 points as a replacement for injured Dennis Wuycik. Lee Dedmon netted 18 points and George Karl scored 15. Ernie DiGregorio led Providence with 23 points.

The Duke and North Carolina squads dressed quickly to catch planes for their home base, where they will attend classes Tuesday and Wednesday before returning for Thursday's meeting.

Red Rocha, former National Basketball Association star and coach of Hawaii, was the calmest man at courtside as his team reached the quarterfinals. The Rainbows face St. Bonaventure Wednesday night, with Michigan taking on Georgia Tech in the other half of the doubleheader.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Rewards, Risks In Comsat Situation

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Someone has advised that Comsat (Communications Satellite Corp.) is a sound stock for future growth. What do you think? — R.D.

A. Comsat shares do, indeed, have good long-term growth potential. However, because of the company's revolutionary business, volatile shares are not without risks. Comsat derives its revenues from leasing channels on a worldwide communications satellite system.

Company owns roughly 53 per cent of the global communications systems and manages it for other participants from about 75 countries. The overseas telecommunications market has expanded at over 20 per cent annually for about two decades, with continued strong growth anticipated. Another projected area of growth is a domestic satellite system. Comsat has proposed a $248 million satellite system designed to transmit television programs, telephone calls, computerized data and a range of other communications.

Approval of this by the FCC would be a significant plus for Comsat. Company reported an excellent year in 1970; operating revenues climbed 48 per cent to $69.6 million and net income more than doubled to $17.5 million, or $1.75 a share.

Q. Is American Hospital Supply still a good stock for future growth? Are the shares selling too high in relation to the company's earnings? — J.F. & L.B.

A. At present levels, American Hospital Supply is selling at approximately 37x 1971 earnings estimates which is midrange for the company's own historical price/earnings ratio and for the industry in general. American Hospital has compiled a fine record of sales and earnings growth over the past 10 years; and 1970 was no exception.

For the full year, sales advanced 14 per cent to $510 million and net income rose 3 per cent to $25.7 million. Per share profits were flat year-to-year, from 77 cents in 1969 to 76 cents a share, as a result of a greater number of shares outstanding.

While operational gains in 1971 may not be as substantial as those of previous years, shares of this leading hospital supply firm remain attractive for future growth prospects.

INSTANT IMAGE ACCESS — A technician recently demonstrated a new high-capacity electronic work file which combines video recording and computer disc techniques to find any document image from among tens of thousands in less than 70 milliseconds, has been announced by CMX Systems, a joint venture of CBS and Memorex Corporation. Believed to be a breakthrough for the information retrieval field, the new system has been designed to serve the growing number of master storage files containing millions of microfilm or video tape documents.

COMPUTER BREAKTHROUGH

Instant Access For TV

SUNNYVALE — CMX Systems, a joint venture of CBS and Memorex, has announced what it believes to be a breakthrough in information retrieval systems — a high capacity electronic work file which uses television to locate and display document images from among tens of thousands in 70 milliseconds or less.

This new instant image access technology has been conceived as a high speed priority file to allow multiple access to the ever growing number of automated microfilm and video tape document facsimile storage systems and to serve other needs in advanced information systems.

The new system will allow dozens of co-workers in various locations to "browse" through the same documents simultaneously.

TAPE EDITOR

The first application of the new technology is the CMX 600 Editor for video tape and film editing. Now in operation at the CMX facilities here for demonstration purposes, the first unit is scheduled for delivery in mid-April to CBS Television's Studio Center in Los Angeles.

The minicomputer-controlled CMX 600 unit is expected to reduce by more than half the time required to edit and assemble filmed television programs. CMX said the new system also fulfills magnetic tape's long-promised enhanced artistic flexibility and extraordinary economics as a production medium.

Instant image access systems utilize special video signal processing techniques to store complete images, for the first time, on computer disc drives — a marriage of the respective specialties of CBS and Memorex. All the functions of locating and retrieving any image from among thousands or millions are handled automatically.

SIMULTANEOUS ACCESS

"Video and film storage of data has been recognized as the most economical in terms of recording media-per-bit of information," commented CMX Systems General Manager William H. Butler. "However, until now simultaneous access by a number of remote query stations has been a severe technical and economic limitation."

"With instant image access," Butler continued, "video and film information systems have the advantage of establishing a continually current priority file or high-speed image storage buffer."

Butler said that CMX system's computer-compatibility makes it ideal for such applications as interoffice hookups in large real estate firms where, as an auxiliary to customary digital storage, an instant image access system could provide additional visual data such as floor plans, elevations, etc., along with the means for rapid updating of available property throughout the entire firm's listings.

LIBRARY NEED

Insurance companies and libraries are among the many other potential users, Butler added.

Of modular design, a CMX system comprises a video signal processing unit and any number of specially-modified disc drives and a new type of high energy 20-surface disc packs. Each disc pack has a capacity of more than 4000 images, each equivalent to a standard 8½"x11" document. Any number of viewing stations equipped with high-resolution video monitors, document address keyboard and hard copy output device can be employed.

Operating with a microfilm system, for example, the CMX system would be addressed directly to acquire in advance either manually or under computer control, each day's projected work file. By transporting the pertinent images from the master file past a television camera, every document addressed is recorded instantly on the disc pack. Thereafter, each image in the new video work file can be displayed immediately and repeatedly, and all images — or documents — can be "browsed" through in a matter of seconds.

By means of special scan conversion equipment, direct digital transmission also can be accepted by an instant image access system and transferred to the disc drives for storage and display as video images.

Decline In Prices On Exchange

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks declined on moderate turnover on the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.32 at 100.30. Declines outscored advances, 829 to 504, on 1,637 issues on the tape.

Closing prices included AT&T 48 7-8 unchanged; Bethlehem Steel 22 1-8 off 1-2, DuPont 142 off 2, Ford 61 1-8 up 3-8, General Electric 111 1-8 up 3-4, General Motors 83 5-8 off 3-8, IBM 355 3-4 off 2 3-4, Southern Pacific 38 7-8 off 1-4, and U.S. S teel 33 7-8 unchanged.

Some analysts attributed market weakness to profit taking, while others said the list was hesitating amid signs the economy was not improving as fast as expected.

International news also appeared to be exerting pressure on the list. The Pentagon acknowledged Tuesday that the Laotian operation was cut short because of stiff Communist resistance.

William Nelson, director of equity research for Moody's Investors Service, said that aside from the problems in Indochina, "everybody is waiting for first quarter corporate earnings to come out."

Nelson noted that while things are picking up in the economy, most of the latest economic statistics indicate the first quarter may not be as good as the market has been anticipating. Much of the market's rise over the few several months was largely the result of President Nixon's prediction for a good year in 1971 and an even better one in '72.

Among the day's most active issues were Kinney National Service, which traded a block of 223,900 shares at 35 1-4 up 1 1-2 in a cross transaction; Sperry Rand and United Aircraft. A spokesman for the aerospace firm said he knew of no corporate development to account for the action of the company's stock.

Glass Factory Plan

TOLEDO (UPI) —Libbey-Owens-Ford, Inc., announced it will build an insulating glass factory at Clinton, N.C., to be operated by a new subsidiary Thermopane LOF, Inc. A 20-acre tract has been obtained from industrial development association made up of citizens of Clinton.

Pay Less Plans New Store In Corte Madera

OAKLAND (BW) — Pay Less Drug Stores has announced plans to increase the number of stores operated by the California chain by almost 20 per cent over the next 18 months.

Six stores will be opened by the 32-store super drug chain. By mid summer a 60,000 square foot store in Dublin will be in operation. A 1972 location has been selected in the Ernest W. Hahn development in the Marin County community of Corte Madera (northeast corner of Tamalpais Drive and Highway 101).

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.

For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.
